U.S. WOULD LIMIT USES OF URANIUM

LONDON (AP)—The United States proposed today that all production of fissionable materials after April 1, 1958, be confined to non-weapons purposes.

Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, suggested to the United Nations disarmament subcommittee that technicians begin Sept. 1 to study how such an agreement could be enforced.

Sources inside the subcommittee room said Stassen recommended that an agreed inspection system begin to function March 1, 1958, or as soon as possible thereafter upon the ratification of necessary agreements.

ASSASSINATED

Albert Edward Lucien Cannon, 39, Canadian member of the international truce supervisory team in Indo-China, was stabbed to death Thursday in Saigon. (AP wirephoto.)

Knifed to Death While He Slept In Indo-China

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

OTTAWA—Albert Edward Lucien Cannon, 39-year-old Canadian member of the International Truce Supervisory Commission in Indo-China, has been found dead of knife wounds in Saigon, South Viet Nam, the External Affairs Department reported today.

Although full circumstances surrounding Mr. Cannon's death were not released Reuters News Agency said in a dispatch from Paris that it learned Cannon was assassinated.

Saigon reports said he was found dead in his bed.

He had been struck several blows in the chest with a sharp weapon.

Reporting to the Commons, Health Minister Paul Martin said:

"Our information is that Mr. Cannon was stabbed by some unknown assailant during the night in his residence."

He said the Canadian government had been advised that the South Viet Nam police had started an investigation.

The Canadian government will be represented at the investigation by "one of the legal members" from the Canadian staff at Hanoi, Martin added.

Mr. Martin extended "the sincere sympathy of the government and I know of every member of this House" to Mr. Cannon's wife, his two children and his mother.

Villa Guarded Day and Night

The compound where Mr. Cannon died is comprised of seven villas surrounded by a wall and guarded night and day by Viet Nam police. It was built before the revolt by a wealthy Chinese for his daughters.

Special policemen were posted inside the compound after the body was discovered and denied newsmen entrance to Mr. Cannon's apartment.

Mr. Cannon's body was taken to the French hospital in Saigon where it was placed in the mortuary chapel.

Thomas Carter, Canadian commissioner with the Viet Nam control commission, is due to arrive in Saigon Saturday from Hanoi, North Viet Nam.

Mr. Cannon, a native of Quebec City and wartime squadron leader in the RCAF, was in charge of the Saigon office of the Viet Nam truce commission. Saigon is the capital of South Viet Nam.

Known by the nickname "Bruddy," Mr. Cannon was posted to Saigon from Ottawa last December. The truce commission comprises Canadian, Indian and Polish members.

Canada has helped supervise the armistice in the three associated states of Indo-China—Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia—since the summer of 1954 soon after the truce was achieved at Geneva between Communist and French forces.

Some 400 Canadians have served in Indo-China and there now are about 140 there. Most are soldiers forming mobile and field inspection teams.

Non-Communist South Viet Nam has never recognized terms of the armistice agreement on the grounds it did not sign it.

Hos tility to Armistice Pact

Canadian officials have reported that the truce commission in South Viet Nam has not received the full co-operation of the South Viet Nam government.

South Viet Nam's hostility to the armistice agreement, which divided the state into Communist north and non-Communist south, showed itself last year in at least three demonstrations against commission teams. The demonstrations took the form of mud-throwing and shouting but no commission member was severely injured.

Offices of the commission in Saigon also were damaged by a mob last year.

Mr. Cannon graduated from Laval University as a bachelor of arts in 1939 and shortly afterwards joined the RCAF as a pilot officer. He served in the United Kingdom and Newfoundland during the war and was discharged in 1945 with the rank of squadron leader.

After joining the external affairs department in 1946, his first posting was with the Canadian high commissioner's office at St. John's—before Newfoundland entered Confederation.

In 1948 he went to New York as vice-consul, returning to external affairs headquarters here in 1950. In 1953 he was appointed second secretary at the Buenos Aires Embassy and became first secretary.

Norman's Red Links Known ---Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today that Herbert Norman during his university days associated openly with persons thought to be Communists.

Mr. Pearson added in the Commons that Mr. Norman, late Canadian ambassador to Egypt, made no secret of these associations and they were known to the Canadian government when he was employed by the external affairs department.

Mr. Norman's record was carefully checked and rechecked. Mr. Pearson said he examined personally all the security information himself and reached the conclusion Mr. Norman was a loyal Canadian whom the government could trust.

RECHECKED

After the U.S. Senate internal security subcommittee made its allegations against Mr. Norman in 1951, the Canadian government had rechecked his record and decided to retain his services.

Every allegation made against Mr. Norman had been examined in detail and the government had no doubt of his integrity and loyalty.

Mr. Pearson said it has always been a principle of the government that it would not deal publicly with allegations such as had been made by the U.S. sub-committee. Such interference in private lives could do more harm than good.

But because of the wide variety of implications and deductions in this case—Mr. Norman committed suicide in Cairo last week—he would depart from this practice as a rare exception.

Mr. Pearson said there was never any doubt of the loyalty and integrity of Mr. Norman. His loyalty over the years had given the government no cause to regret the decision it made.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker asked whether the evidence put before the U.S. Senate sub-committee "was untrue, unjustified and had no basis in fact."

Mr. Pearson said he had made his statement on the case. He had told the House what he knew.

"I think I will stand on that statement," he said.

Trial Now June 3

VANCOUVER (CP)—Trial of Robert Sommers' slander case against David Sturdy was adjourned Thursday by Justice Harry Sullivan to June 3 from May 27.

A SPECIAL TIMES SERIES

Miners Batter Last Round Of Ripple Rock Knockout

RIGID RULES are followed for safe operation of cage that lowers Ripple Rock mine crew to main tunnel 480 feet below ground. All bell signals are repeated, and safety gear seen on top of cage where cable joins stands ready to stop cage if cable breaks. Superintendent Jack Buchanan, left, explained operation to Times Island Editor Don Ingham prior to descent. (Times Photos by Bill Halkett.)

(One of the most intriguing "construction" jobs ever attempted in British Columbia is blowing the top off Ripple Rock in the vital waterway of Seymour Narrows. It is of special interest to Victorians historically because at one time it was thought Ripple Rock could form a natural pier for a bridge from Victoria to the mainland. Thirty years ago a strong political fight initiated in Victoria prevented marine interests from going ahead with destruction of the rock. But now the big project is well under way and the "blow" designed to shift 65,000 tons of rock in one blast will take place either in the fall or early next spring.

In effect the job can be described as blowing up an underwater mountain. It is the first time anything like it has been attempted on this continent and the Times sent Reporter Don Ingham and Photographer Bill Halkett to report on how the work is progressing. In a three-part series, beginning below, they tell the story.)

By DON INGHAM, Times Island Editor

Hard-rock miners, charged with the heavy responsibility of getting rid of Ripple Rock once and for all, are on the last lap of their $2,500,000 effort.

They have driven tunnels under water to points directly below each of the two pinnacles of the sullen menace that squats under the surface of Seymour Narrows threatening every vessel using the narrow, dangerous, tide-torn waters.

Today they are "mucking out" a foundation under the north pinnacle which will carry the timbers and hoist gear required to drill upward 300 feet into the heart of the rock. Already one of the two raises to be drilled has been driven upward about 40 feet—as far as the miners could go without scaffolding.

(In miner's parlance, a "shaft" is created by starting at the top and working downward. A "raise" is made by starting at the bottom and working upward.)

Cram Tunnels With Explosives

When they reach a level in the rock that is 40 feet below low water mark, they will drill horizontal tunnels and branch tunnels, cram them with explosives, and pull the switch.

It is hoped the resulting blast will trim the tops off the two pinnacles and permit ships to use the full 2,500-foot width of the pass at its southern entrance, rather than just the eastern side.

Vancouver firms, Northern Construction Company and J. W. Stewart Ltd., the construction firm, and Boyles Bros. Drilling Co. Ltd., that does all exploratory diamond drilling on the project, have set up a camp on Quadra Island. It is nine miles north of Campbell River by boat, and photographer Bill Halkett and myself arrived there in time for a massive lunch in the camp cookhouse.

The shaft is on Maud Island, connected to Quadra Island by a causeway about 50 yards long, built of waste rock taken from the tunnel.

Lowered 490 Feet Down Shaft

Led by Jack Buchanan, superintendent on the job and veteran of 20 years of hard-rock work, we were lowered 490 feet down the shaft to the tunnel.

The tunnel, sloped slightly upward from the shaft bottom to permit drainage, measures 1,900 feet to a diversion, where one tunnel goes 250 feet to the bottom of the north raise, and the other 480 feet to the south raise.

Along the sides of the tunnel, six feet wide and seven feet high, are a large duct to carry ventilating air, a small pipe for high pressure air to operate the drills, electric conduits, and a water line.

The tunnel is well lit, and quiet except for the constant

CCFer TRIES TO DELAY COMMONS PROROGATION

Demands Probe of Howe's Position With Big Firms

OTTAWA (CP)—CCF whip Stanley Knowles said today dissolution of Parliament should be delayed pending a Commons inquiry into what he termed Trade Minister Howe's connections with three wealthy Canadian companies.

He also said in the Commons that Mr. Howe should either resign as an executor of the estate of the late Sir James Dunn, former head of Algoma Steel Corporation, or as a member of the cabinet.

The member for Winnipeg North Centre said Mr. Howe has connections with Algoma Steel, A. V. Roe (Canada) Ltd, and McIntyre Porcupine Gold Mines Ltd.

"The closing of Parliament should be delayed until a committee of the House of Commons can be set up to investigate all aspects of this matter," Mr. Knowles said.

Parliament was expected to prorogue later today with dissolution to follow immediately for a June 10 federal election.

OTHER POSTS

Mr. Knowles said the trade minister was consulted about the appointment of J. D. Barrington, president and managing director of Polymer Corporation Ltd., a Crown corporation, as a director of McIntyre Porcupine.

In addition, W. J. Bennett, head of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd. and Northern Transportation Company Ltd.—all Crown corporations under Mr. Howe—still was a director of Investors Mutual of Canada Ltd.

Mr. Knowles said Prime Minister St. Laurent had stated Mr. Bennett notified the investment company March 1 of his intention to resign from its board of directors. At the moment Mr. Bennett still was head of three Crown corporations and a director of an investment firm.

Although Mr. Bennett said he

Mayor's Parley Stirs New Hope For Joint Centennial Project

The Greater Victoria Centennial spotlight today swung back to the Royal Jubilee Hospital wing.

There was new hope for agreement by Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt.

But it will be the hospital or four separate projects.

Mayor Percy Scurrah hinted he may swing from an auditorium to the hospital to establish Greater Victoria unity.

These were the indicated results of a meeting today in the mayor's office of senior municipal and provincial elected representatives on the Centennial problem.

Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt pointed out Victoria is the only stumbling block on the path to a united project.

The outside municipalities reaffirmed their determination that if a joint project is agreed upon it will be the $1,800,000 Jubilee wing.

They asked the mayor to go back to the Victoria council and ask a vote be taken.

RESERVES OPINION

Mayor Scurrah said after the meeting:

"I am reserving my opinion. I'm not in agreement with the hospital as a project, but I may go along with it if it will set an example of intermunicipal unity."

He would not guess what his council's reaction will be.

FBI's Hoover Denies Release Of Norman Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI said today it did not give any data concerning Canadian diplomat E. Herbert Norman to the Senate internal security sub-committee.

In response to inquiries, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover issued this statement:

"The FBI has not made available to the Senate internal security sub-committee any reports or files or information pertaining to the late Dr. Egerton Herbert Norman."

In Washington Thursday a staff member of the sub-committee released a statement by chairman James Eastland and Senator William E. Jenner saying the FBI had corroborated the sub-committee's information about Norman's alleged Communist ties in 1939 and 1940. Subsequently efforts were made to have the statement withdrawn.

Hoover's statement came amid controversy as to whether the state department had cleared for publication a sub-committee transcript of closed-door testimony linking Norman with Communists — allegations on which he had already been cleared by his own government.

A state department spokesman disputed statements from senators that the department had cleared the transcript for publication.

Robert Morris, sub-committee counsel, said the state department had not asked for an opportunity to check any future testimony about foreign officials before publication.

SUGGESTS CHECK

In the light of this controversy and confusion, Senator Jacob Javits (Rep.-N.Y.) proposed today that any testimony involving foreign diplomats received in Senate inquiries be withheld from publication until it is checked by the Senate foreign relations committee.

Javits introduced a resolution for this procedure, saying it would aid in preventing a recurrence of controversy such as developed over Norman.

The sub-committee's release of closed-door testimony linking Norman to communism after he already had been cleared by his own government aroused angry protests in Canada and elsewhere.

Norman, who was Canadian ambassador to Egypt, committed suicide in Cairo after publication of the sub-committee transcript.

The New York Times says the Norman case data has been traced to a U.S. army intelligence unit.

The newspaper, in a dispatch from Washington by E. W. Kenworthy, says "it was learned that an army G-2 report drawn up in 1950 had come into the sub-committee's hands.

RCMP MENTIONED

"This report contained security material provided by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Some of the material was attributed to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police."

The Times says the material in the army report came up in the sub-committee hearing March 12, but in the transcript of the hearing, published March 14, "the verbatim material in the army document, with the clues to its origin, was omitted."

Sub-committee members were not immediately available for comment.

Eastland and Jenner have said that "before the testimony which contained references to ambassador Norman was released, the transcript was cleared for publication by the state department."

Members and visiting brothers of the Henderson Lodge, No. 84, A.F. and A.M., G.R.B.C., are requested to attend the funeral of our late brother William Davenport, at St. Phillip's Church Hall, 2923 Eastdowne Road, on Saturday, April 13 1957.

Saskatchewan Project Talks Progress—PM

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated today that federal-Saskatchewan negotiations on the proposed South Saskatchewan River power-irrigation project have reached the point of discussing power penstocks and how Saskatchewan contributions should be paid.

But he reiterated in the Commons the key point: that the federal government has not yet decided the project is a self-liquidating one.

In the prime minister's words, it would have to "return more to the economy than it takes out in interest and amortization costs."

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker had asked Mr. St. Laurent for a report on recent negotiations with Saskatchewan. The prime minister said he wrote recently to Premier Douglas referring to these two points which were "still undetermined as far as the government of Saskatchewan was concerned."

NATO Gets Missiles From U.S.

Three Types of Warheads For 'Defensive Purposes'

PARIS (AP)—Three types of U.S. guided missiles will be furnished to North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations during the 1957 fiscal year which ends June 30, the U.S. government has informed the NATO council. The missiles include the Honest John, the Matador and the Nike.

No delivery date was mentioned in the announcement, made by a spokesman for the U.S. NATO delegation here.

The Honest John and Matador are ground-to-ground missiles, while the Nike is a ground-to-air weapon. All are able to carry atomic heads. Under U.S. law, the nuclear warheads cannot be transferred to foreign nations.

The U.S. delegation spokesman stressed that the weapons are being provided for the "wholly defensive purpose of protecting military and population centres and to deter and, if need be, to repel aggression."

The announcement follows warnings by Russia to several nations against accepting such weapons. The Russian warnings said that these nations would face virtual obliteration in a missile war.

Canada Won't Accept U.S. Guided Missiles

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian forces in Europe will not get guided missiles which the United States will supply to NATO forces, high defence officials said today.

Canada will not take delivery of such weapons for two reasons:

1. The U.S. is supplying them under mutual aid and Canada does not accept American mutual aid. It pays for all equipment it uses.

2. The weapons will be used in a role in which Canadian forces in Europe, an infantry brigade group and a 300-plane air division, are not directly involved.

The Honest John and Matador ground-to-ground missiles are allocated to army corps and not to formations as small as a brigade, or even a division.

The Nike ground-to-air missile for NATO forces will be used for border defence and the air division is not used in this role.

Officials said any arrangement whereby Canada would obtain such missiles would be a bilateral agreement with the U.S. No such agreement was contemplated at this time.

Supreme Court Upholds CPR Property Tax

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada today upheld the right of three Saskatchewan municipalities to levy taxes on branch-line property owned by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The court dismissed with costs the CPR's appeals against the town of Estevan and the rural municipalities of Caledonia No. 99 and Swift Current No. 137.

All three municipalities argued that the properties concerned were part of the company's branch line system and therefore taxable.

ARAB KILLED BY ISRAELIS NEAR BORDER

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli army patrol killed an Arab infiltrator from the Gaza Strip and chased two others back across the border Thursday night, military headquarters announced. A spokesman said the patrol opened fire on the three infiltrators at Nir Itzhak.

Has Israel Anti-Tank Missiles?

TEL AVIV (AP)—An Israeli air force magazine has reprinted a British report that the Israeli army is equipped with French anti-tank guided missles.

The article, from the British weekly publication Aeroplane, says the Israeli army is the only one in the Middle East equipped with guided missiles.

An Israeli military spokesman would make no comment on the report. But the fact that it was allowed to appear in the air force publication lent its support.

The British report says the army is equipped with French-made SS-10 missile. These are anti-tank weapons which can be launched from fixed positions and also can be fitted to planes.

IGOR QUITS

Early Curtain Miffs Russ Ballet Star

MONTREAL (CP) — The final curtain came down 12 minutes too soon on the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo during a performance here, so the company's premier danseur, Igor Youskevitch, says he's quitting.

"Dropping the curtain on the nose of the artist most definitely hurts his self-respect," said the Russian-born dancer. "But I am leaving in protest of everything."

He claimed the director of Ballet Russe, Serge J. Denham, conducts the company as a business institution—not an artistic institution.

Youskevitch said the curtain came down "with at least 12 minutes to go" in the performance because "Mr. Denham didn't want to pay the dancers overtime."

Alicia Alonso, guest prima ballerina with the company, said she would quit after the ballet's two-week run at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, which starts after the company closes here Saturday.

Eden Will Undergo Surgery Saturday to Remove Tube

BOSTON (AP)—A hospital bulletin said today an operation will be performed Saturday on Sir Anthony Eden to remove a tube placed in the bile duct in 1953 for relief of a duct obstruction.

Dr. Richard B. Cattell of Lahey Clinic, who performed the operation four years ago, will be the surgeon. Eden's personal physician, Sir Horace Evans, is flying from London to be present at the surgery.

The 59-year-old diplomat's condition is good, today's bulletin said. There is no evidence of inflammation of the colon at this time in the opinion of Dr. Sara M. Jordan, head of Lahey Clinic's department of gastroenterology, who has been called in as consultant.

Eden is in New England Baptist Hospital.

Medical studies, conducted throughout the week since the former British prime minister was flown here from New Zealand, showed no other cause for attacks of recurrent fever which forced him to cut short a vacation and seek medical aid.

Queen Elizabeth sent him her wishes today for a "rapid and complete" recovery.

Candor Between Friends

IN THE LANGUAGE OF DIPLOMACY Mr. Pearson has gone a long way to warn the United States against interference in Canada's affairs. But not too far.

In the language of American politics President Eisenhower has gone a long way to rebuke the Congress. But perhaps not far enough.

The first result desired by the Canadian Government probably has been achieved already. The American people realize now, for the first time, that a small group of men in their Senate has outraged the feelings of their good neighbors.

It is always difficult for Canada to make its views known in the United States, whose citizens are uninterested and fully occupied with their own affairs. The present controversy, however, is so stark, shocking and dramatic that few Americans can have failed to hear of it and of the Canadian people's anger. Out of a pitiable human tragedy some good has come.

The Canadian Government's threat to withhold security information from the United States, unless its secrecy is absolutely guaranteed, could not have been made lightly. No such angry passage has marked the relations of the two nations in modern times.

At a moment of tension it should be remembered in Canada that the American Government is blameless in this unhappy business. It tried to prevent an irresponsible subcommittee of the Senate from publishing hearsay evidence and mere innuendo against a Canadian official. President Eisenhower has apologized, in effect, for his nation and, saying that he is not criticizing the subcommittee, has actually condemned it, though a much more forthright condemnation would have been welcomed in Canada.

Moreover, there is no suggestion—Mr. Pearson's note of protest makes this clear—that the American Government has supplied to the Congress any secret information received from Canada. It came from private Americans. When Mr. Pearson asks for assurances of secrecy he is not complaining of any leakage in the past but safeguarding our interests for the future.

Under these circumstances it seems unlikely that Canada will feel compelled to cancel the present flow of security data between Ottawa and Washington. That final step would be regrettable not only because the present exchange is useful in itself but because its interruption would damage the friendship of the world's best neighbors.

Doubtless Mr. Eisenhower had that danger in mind when he publicly regretted the damage already done and when his state department apologized fully to the Canadian Government. Thus an assurance of future secrecy, so far as the American Government can guarantee it, is to be expected from Washington and presumably will be accepted in Ottawa.

But as Mr. Pearson indicates, neither Canada nor any nation, nor the American Government, can possibly control the Congress where a few mischievous men can always get their own misinformation, spread its slurs on the public record without proof, insult the United States' allies and undermine its foreign policy.

Only the American people can deal with these men and in due time no doubt will deal with them, as they have already dealt with the chief witch hunter, Senator McCarthy. At any rate, Mr. Pearson, by a bold stroke, has told our neighbors that Canada intends to manage its own affairs. This warning will be heard across the border.

The Lighted Fuse

THE SPLIT WITHIN THE KINGdom of Jordan is paralleled to some extent by a split within the Arab world, with supporters of Jordan's King Hussein on the one hand, and leftist elements in the cabinet on the other.

Because fighting in Jordan could easily spread to neighboring countries and eventually to the whole Middle East, the political turmoil in Jordan must be considered as a vital part of the whole Middle East situation.

Indeed, Jordan's problem, being a microcosm of the larger West-versus-communism struggle, cannot be dissociated from the wider picture.

Since last fall 22-year-old King Hussein, once one of Britain's strongest allies in the Middle East, has waged a struggle with his Prime Minister, Suleiman El Nabulsi. The minister is pro-Soviet and pro-Egyptian, and as head of a coalition government had gathered around him a cabinet of supporters who pursued a policy far too leftist for the king.

Yesterday Hussein dismissed his Prime Minister, unable to permit any longer Jordan's growing alignment with the left. The act brought protests from thousands of demonstrators—a form of support which Nabulsi has used on several occasions. Last year, for example, he called out tens of thousands of Arabs to riot against the Baghdad Pact. They were subdued only with the full weight of the army.

Informed sources say that Syria supports Nabulsi in his leftward trend; Saudi Arabia supports Hussein. Egypt is seeking a path between the two choices, but may settle for support of the king. Jordan's problem could well become a major one for President Nasser.

Further international troubles loom in the state of truculence that exists between Jordan and Israel. Border incidents are reported, and Arab neighbors accuse Israel of preparing to take a military hand in Jordan's affairs.

As of this writing the current demonstrations in Jordan have been orderly. Much will depend on Nabulsi as to how far they will be carried. As an internal, domestic battle, the Jordan problem is not one for the United Nations. Hence the rest of the world must stand on the sidelines.

It would take little to spread the trouble, and add fire to a Middle East situation already tinder dry and inviting a flare-up. Unfortunately any proposals for western assistance would be viewed with the utmost suspicion. We must wait while the fuse sizzles out, or reaches the powder keg.

Nanaimo Throws a Curve

NANAIMO'S TOURIST AND Publicity Bureau has doubtless already accomplished its objective in asking Victoria to contribute $1,500 to the erstwhile Coal City's visitor industry budget.

The up-Islanders have received front page publicity here. That's as much as they could hope for.

The bureau, tongue-in-cheek no doubt, pointed out that it directed 60 per cent of its incoming tourists to Victoria. Where else could it direct them?

Mr. George I. Warren, of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, has some interesting information for Nanaimo. By his estimate, 80 per cent of that city's visitors drawn from any substantial distance, were attracted by Victoria's outside advertising.

Of 75,000 individuals calling at the Victoria bureau, 50,000 were directed Nanaimo-ward.

The Victoria bureau's budget for these combined purposes ran to $65,000 last year.

"We'll take 25 per cent from Nanaimo and be glad to get it," says Mr. Warren.

Over to you, Nanaimo.

Cleansing Laughter

FROM THE LAND OF MARSHAL Tito come reports of a new writer with an acid pen. This "angry young man" who contributes to Borba, the official newspaper of Tito's Communist Party, jabs the needle of satire into his fellow Yugoslavs and directs his barbs particularly at their lack of a sense of humor.

The Yugoslavs, he argues, consider themselves a race of "warriors". Not for the men are the humble tasks of the household. Theirs is an ironclad belief in masculine superiority and the right to swap stories over the bottle.

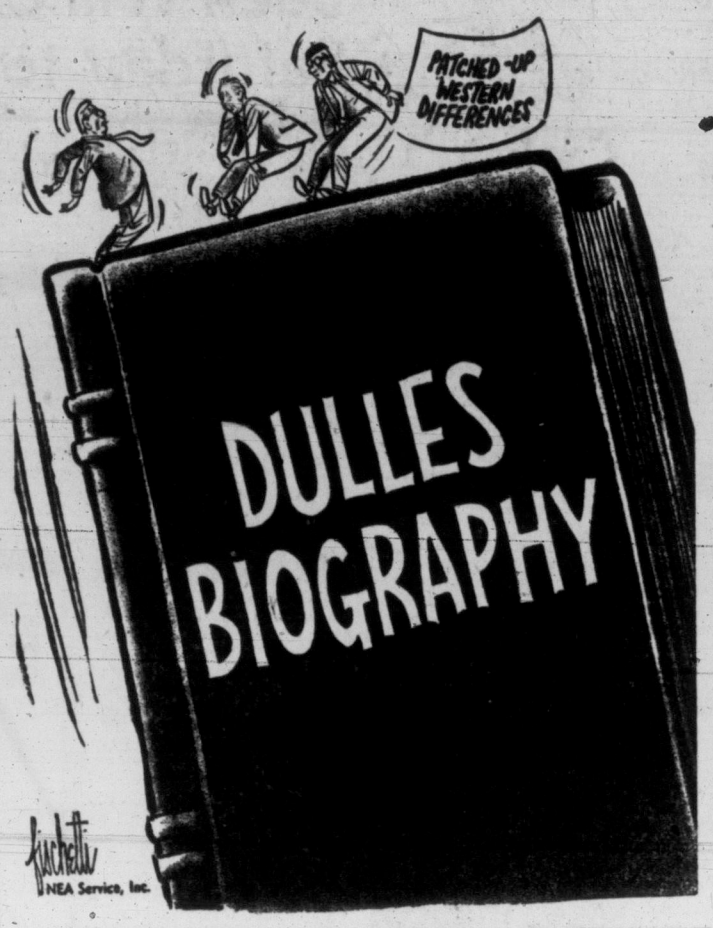
They can and do, says the Borba writer, tell jokes on other people. They can appreciate none told at their own expense. Yugoslavs, he adds, consider themselves the shrewdest, cleverest, most courageous and most outspoken people. Actually, he contends, they are the most conservative.

Yugoslavia is fortunate in having such a voice raised to disturb national complacency. The people of that nation will benefit if they accept the criticism and do something about it.

The people of any nation would benefit from the same treatment, particularly the people of Canada.

Has anyone heard Canadians laughing at themselves lately? Or is there room for laughter? Have we achieved the Panglos ideal and created for ourselves the best of all possible worlds, beyond improvement?

On the Brink



ON AND ON AND ON — By B. A. TOBIN

Never Say Die

THERE seems to be something about continuity that appeals to human beings. We see a virtue in anything that goes on and on and on, not because of what it is but simply because it persists. The shoddiest of performances can thus take on attractiveness and value, merely by going on longer than usual. Some psychologist might explain this. Pernaps man, in yearning for immortality, instinctively admires anything that seems to defy time. Or maybe a creature that has to endure so much in a cosmos that is not particularly sympathetic to him, has made mere endurance—no matter of what—a respected quality. Whatever the reason, just continuing gets attention, perhaps respect, and sometimes, highest accolade of all, money.

Tobin

Thus we had the marathons a few years ago, the dance marathons and walkathons which went their garish, horrible way for a while and then were abandoned for some other fad.

That type of thing keeps cropping up. We can't seem to get away from it. Not long ago—was it in Quebec?—there was a rocking chair marathon. From time to time there are piano-playing marathons. Every adult remembers the flagpole sitters who sat in greater or less publicity until the fickle public turned to some new form of monkey-on-the-stick.

For Fame

There were the peanut pushers, who used their noses—if no other part of their heads—to propel a peanut down record blocks of city pavement.

There was six-day bicycle racing, a spectacular form of temporary immortality which now is in eclipse. There was Pyle's famous "bunion derby" — a coast-to-coast marathon of runners and walkers which had its vogue in the United States.

The manifestations are many and varied, but back of them all is the obsession with continuity and repetition. The play, whatever it is, must go on, on, on until boredom or madness terminates it.

Strings vs. Disc

Well, although a lot of the events mentioned are past history, the idea of the marathon has by no means died. This very week a Montreal report told of an endurance test between a piano player and a disc jockey.

The former was determined to play for 100 hours; the latter swore to last one hour longer. As this is written they still have a few hours more to go. But it doesn't matter much whether or not they make it. The point is that it seemed a good idea to them.

An even more significant point is that it seemed a good idea to several other people. Without even the spur of competition or riches, a number of other marathon acts sprang up spontaneously in the restaurant where the pianist and disc jockey were fighting the clock.

So, the news items tells us, a woman arrived with a rocking chair and rocked steadily for nearly three days until her legs gave out. A man walked around a table for a day. Another woman walked up and down the dance floor for eight hours. A man danced for 36 hours.

You can only explain this sort of thing in terms of human instinct. The instinct has soured a bit in some cases, but it's still the motive force. It is seen in many better forms of endeavor.

The "oldest" old boy is a feature of any school reunion. The late Mackenzie King obeyed some deep inner urge in trying, successfully, to become the Commonwealth's minister longest in office—a matter of some 22 years. The employee of longest service rates a special place in any firm.

Perseverence

The longest war, the longest strike, the longest kiss to end a movie, the longest Old Bailey trial, the longest legislative session—they all win attention.

Perhaps it's just a transference of the will to live. From his first breath—and even before — the human being strives unceasingly to live. One year more, one week more, one minute more, one breath more — the idea is to keep the organism going.

Consequently anything that shows signs of perpetuity — even if it's a drooping figure fumbling with the piano keys — is in a sense a symbol of man's will to preservation.

It must be admitted right away that we pick some mediocre symbols. But pick them we do. And for a while they help us convince ourselves that we'll always be here.

TAKES ALL KINDS

I find certain types of passengers tend to recur. There is "Miss Know All" who has travelled extensively and is filled to the brim with information which somehow doesn't quite get across. But you don't need to talk to her to know where she has been. There is the blouse embroidered in the design which was such a best seller in Cyprus, the obvious Austrian dirndl skirt and the leather handbag stamped with palms and a camel which simply shouts North Africa. Then there is the man with the unfailing wealth of anecdotes. There are passengers who get up at dawn to see some dim little island, and others who continue their embroidery, their backs turned to something like Gibraltar — immovable, except for their cups of tea.

'I, As a Canadian, Deplore . . .'

The Right Honorable Viscount Hailsham who was Minister of Defence in the Eden government at the time of the British and French invasion put the situation as it existed at the time of the invasion very plainly during an interview over TV on "Meet the Press" on Sunday night.

He outlined the circumstances which made it absolutely necessary for Britain and France to take the action they did in order to prevent a major war. In my opinion he fully justified what took place. He also laid it down the line in no uncertain terms that the blame for the situation which had arisen and which led to the seizure and nationalization of the Suez Canal was clearly the fault of American policy in the Near East or rather the lack of it.

He traced how Mr. Dulles' withdrawal of financial aid to the Aswan Dam "as a calculated risk" resulted directly in a wildly retaliatory move by Nasser who, in a fit of fury, seized the Canal and nationalized it. As a direct result the subsequent conflict arose. Israel's status as a free nation was immediately threatened and as Viscount Hailsham pointed out another world war was imminent.

The view expressed by Viscount Hailsham, now a member of the Macmillan cabinet, has been concurred in by leading American columnists and commentators, such as the Alsop brothers, Lippmann and Geoffrey Harwood, to mention but four. It was also obvious that he impressed the four top-flight reporters who made up the panel.

Surely it must now be clear to all who have given study to the trend of events that the action of the British government was justified and that the blame for the situation lies squarely upon the American government whose lack of policy has been an extreme disappointment to its closest allies. If American politicians were bound by the same ethics as are British statesmen Dulles' resignation would have been a foregone conclusion.

As to Canada's support of the American decision, I, as a Canadian, deplore the action of the Liberal government and reject Mr. Pearson's plea to "forgive and forget" this inglorious chapter in Canadian Commonwealth relations.

Goal for the Aging

Recently there has been a radio talk on geriatrics.

This is a topic which should interest many Victorians since it is estimated that there are in Greater Victoria 9,000 persons over 65. The percentage for all Canada is far lower. California has approximately the same proportion of elderly citizens as we have.

At "The Governor's Conference on the Problems of the Aging" held in California in 1951 among many wise remarks the two following are perhaps the best: "The aging group contains the greatest potential for meeting and solving the problems attendant upon aging." And, "Decreased physical activity must be compensated for by increased mental activity."

It is most encouraging that gerontology and geriatrics are showing more and more that the problems age brings are "more mental than medical."

Mental health, at every age, depends on the individual's social health i.e. his adjustment to his fellow humans.

Those who find life intensely interesting and know that basically the behaviour of all humans is determined by the early environment provided for them by humans are sane, reasonable, and do not despise nor condemn anyone. Such people remain reasonable no matter how numerous their years. Life for them is a happy adventure from beginning to end and because they love life they do not fear death.

Bearing in mind the figures given above, can there be any better place than Victoria for gerontological and geriatric research? What a gay city ours would be if all of the 9,000 who are not mentally decrepit were to join in combined operations for making and keeping each other happy till consciousness departs!

Essentials for the success of the operations are:

1. Easy access for everyone to friendly groups where all ideas are freely discussed.
2. A desire to learn more and more about this marvellous universe.
3. A desire to understand more and more clearly the meaning of the one-ness of humanity.

THE OTTAWA SCENE — By VICTOR MACKIE

Future of the CBC

THE Fowler Broadcasting Commission gently ticked off the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for being so "timid" in defending itself against attacks by the private broadcasters and by others critical of the CBC. Since the publication of the Royal Commission's report the CBC has shown no timidity in speaking up when Mr. A. Davidson Dunton, the corporation's chairman, has decided he should speak his piece. The public has been treated to a full disclosure of the exchange of correspondence between Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario and Mr. Dunton, in which the premier was critical of the CBC and Mr. Dunton defended its handling of government news. Then in a public speech in Montreal the CBC chairman spoke out again and said emphatically that the federal government cannot and does not direct or control the corporation's activities.

Mackie

Tough Job

The job of chairman of the CBC is by no means an easy assignment. There are critics of the corporation on all sides. He is the target for brick-bats, condemnation, criticism, would-be censors, and those with firm convictions who believe that only one side (the wrong side) has been presented by the CBC. The chairman has to walk a tight-rope, pressured by the public, pressured by CBC employees and pressured by politicians.

It is inevitable that a state-owned broadcasting system will always be open to suspicion. It must never be accepted as sacrosanct. But admittedly it must be hard on the nerves of the man on the spot—the chairman.

Leak

Recently a man who divides his time between being a columnist for a Montreal newspaper and a commentator for the CBC broke the news that Prime Minister St. Laurent had made representations to the corporation. Subsequently the Prime Minister confirmed in the Commons that he had written a letter to Mr. Dunton in protest over the "tone" of a radio talk delivered by a Manitoba University professor.

Immediately there was speculation as to how the newspaperman had learned of the P.M.'s letter. His contacts with the CBC may have provided a ready source. Certainly it has helped the CBC to have the whole matter aired in the Commons. Liberals are inclined to the view that it was a deliberate leak by someone in the corporation anxious to have the issue raised in Parliament.

Private Citizen?

The Prime Minister insisted that he had written his letter of protest as a private citizen, not as Prime Minister. True he could not remember whether or not he had used stationery bearing the seal of the Prime Minister's office, nor could he recall if he had made it clear in the letter that he was not writing as Prime Minister.

Later in the House when the Opposition moved a motion to force the Government to table the correspondence between Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Dunton the Liberal majority defeated the motion. Mr. Harris, the Government house leader, explained they were privileged documents between a Cabinet minister and an official of a crown corporation. Therefore in Mr. Harris' eyes and from the Government's point of view the P.M.'s letters were written as a Cabinet minister not a private citizen!

Cabinet Poll

The confession by Prime Minister St. Laurent that he had sent a protest letter to the CBC over one of its programs, prompted the Opposition to probe still deeper. Each member of the Cabinet was required to answer questions as to whether he had made representations at any time by letter, memorandum, telephone or conversation to the CBC concerning any of its broadcasts or proposed broadcasts. The replies were revealing, entertaining and in some cases amusing.

Replies

Trade Minister Howe was frank. Certainly he had made representations. He had made them when he was the minister through whom the CBC reported to Parliament back in the thirties. He did not disclose the nature of his representations. Agriculture Minister Gardiner admitted complaining to Mr. Dunton after failing to get satisfaction from CBC officials here and in Toronto over an inaccurate news report. A correction was broadcast after his complaint.

Fourteen

Fourteen Cabinet ministers answered the Oppositions' questions. Most of them denied making any representations to the corporation. Not so Mr. Pearson, Secretary of State for External Affairs. He said he had complained strongly. His complaint was about the quality of the picture of himself, he said with a grin. There was loud laughter.

Duty

Dr. McCann bluntly declared he had made frequent representations to the CBC about its programs. He had often admonished the CBC too for spending too much money. As the minister reporting to Parliament for the CBC he felt it was his duty. Indications are that in expressing concern about the CBC's mounting expenditures he was not speaking for himself by any means, but for the majority of his Cabinet colleagues.

Reason

This was the real reason the Fowler Royal Commission on broadcasting was set up — to try and find a formula that could be applied to the Canadian broadcasting and television picture that would reduce the growing load on the federal treasury. Several members of the Cabinet were concerned about the increasing demands on the public purse made by the corporation.

But the Royal Commission, far from tackling the task of easing the burden on the taxpayer, has recommended just the opposite: pour more money into the CBC. If the taxpayers want more and more TV programs they should be prepared to pay for them—but they should be Canadian TV programs. That is the conclusion of the commission.

Sugar Daddy

Parliament will discuss the recommendations of the Fowler commission next fall and spring. Meantime there is to be a general election this June. Should the Liberals be returned there is no doubt that some members of the cabinet will come back more determined than ever to keep an eye cocked on the amount of money poured out of the treasury into the corporation. As one minister summed it up, "Surely the taxpayer is not going to become the sugar daddy for the Canadian entertainment industry."

ON THE TIMES — By ART STOTT

'Whan That Aprille . . .'

A SOFT rain is falling outside the window, and inside my head a broken record keeps turning out: "Whan that Aprille with his shoures sote. The droghte of Marche hath perced to the rote . . . Than longen folk to goon on pilgrimages."

Stott

Nothing I'd like better than to "goon on pilgrimages" right now.

A few evenings ago I saw some more of Bill Straith's color shots of Scandinavian countries, the British Isles and Hawaii. Bill is modest about his camera ability, though he shouldn't be. His practice of bringing his tours back with him and sharing them with friends here is thoughtful and generous.

But it sets a man gazing out of his office window at the soft April rain and fumbling with the few familiar lines from Chaucer.

SONG OF THE ISLANDS

It's the same reaction he gets from riding the bus home with Mrs. Art Unwin, recently back from Honolulu and bubbling over with enthusiasm for the Islands. Or riding downtown with Eric Brinkworth, who spent a holiday in the sun by Diamond Head a few weeks ago and is quite ready to go back to the tourist equivalent of that "little grass shack."

A man digging in his waterfront garden, looks out to a freighter plowing down the Strait, outbound to ports he doesn't know but endows with mystery. He lifts his head to watch an airliner winging away from Victoria and pictures travelers aboard starting their journeys to foreign corners of the world.

It makes his feet heavier in the still wet ground, his dissatisfaction greater with the compost pile that didn't compost.

He goes indoors and hears the youngsters reviving a new oldie: "I wave my hand to all I pass and they wave back to me." Even the kids respond to the theme of the "Wanderer" at this season.

They don't respond with the same enthusiasm for the work that piles up in April—the grass that needs cutting, the soil that needs turning, the house that needs cleaning—and the old man who really should have a trip to freshen him for chores abounding.

Still, if he's philosophical enough, a man can draw a vicarious enjoyment from the tours his friends and acquaintances have made. He can share their anticipation over trips to come. He can even have his own little dream of journeys in wishful prospect for himself.

CHEAP TRIP

It costs him nothing to pore over a map of England and create his own fantasy of a canoe trip through the canals and waterways of that country. He can recall pictures of the heather of Scotland, its lochs and hills and imagine himself, with suitable companions walking through the more picturesque regions.

He can absorb the greens of Ireland, the down-to-earth living of its country people and the fay mysticism which he applies to them.

He can, if he's imaginative enough, lie backwards over the edge of his bed and kiss the plaster of the adjoining wall, pretending its the Blarney Stone—and possibly with as much effect.

He can look at some of his own crude carpentry and have his own opinions on what keeps the Leaning Tower of Pisa standing. He can look across the Strait at the Olympics and fancy he's gazing at the Alps.

Just let his fancy play, and he can nod with daffodils and wonder what Wordsworth's Lake District has that is lacking in Beacon Hill Park.

That may not satisfy his longing to "goon on pilgrimages," but it may make the garden digging a little lighter, if he can get his mind on the soil. And if he can't, why there's lots of fat fishing worms in it, even if there doesn't appear to be any fish in the water anxious to take them at his offering.

UN CORRESPONDENCE — By CHARLES LYNCH

Canada in Women's Group

NEW YORK—The 11th session of the Commission On the Status of Women, which wound up here last week was organized by women, and attended by women, and dealt with problems about women.

Into this somewhat formidable atmosphere there ventured a mere man, who not only had the temerity to attend, but also to make a speech during the closing session.

This latter-day Daniel was the official observer for Canada, Mr. Derek C. Arnould, a handsome young man who calls Ottawa his home and, despite his mere 27 years, not one to be daunted by a room filled with perhaps the most articulate and, for all we know, the most intelligent women to be found anywhere in the world.

Lynch

Canada is not a member of the Commission On the Status of Women, which is an offshoot of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations. She has never sought membership, not because she has nothing to contribute on the subject, for Canadian women are proud of their status. Her reason for not seeking membership is rather the difficulty of the Canadian Constitutional position. A great many of the things that come before the commission for discussion would be regarded as provincial matters in Canada, and this is particularly true where the status of women in the Province of Quebec is concerned, especially in legal matters. So Canada has always been content to remain aloof from the commission, although she has acceded to the two international conventions that the commission has produced — one on the Political Rights of Women, and one on the Nationality of married women.

Bur Mr. Arnould, in his speech to the commission's closing session, had news for the delegates—Canada, he said, was now ready to announce her candidacy for a seat on the commission, and earnestly hoped that she would be elected.

Actually, her election is almost a certainty, for Australia, having sat on the commission since its inception in 1946, has signified her willingness to step down in Canada's favor.

In outlining Canada's credentials as a prospective member of the commission, Mr. Arnould cited the progress that Canadian women have made in the five fields into which the commission divides its work—political, social, educational, economic and legal. She feels her women stack up favorably against those of any other nation in the world.

Mr. Arnould, though no doubt flattered that a mere third secretary and advisor to the Permanent Canadian Mission to the United Nations should occupy the position of honor behind the "Canada" plaque and even get to make a speech, would no doubt have been happier if his place could have been taken by a Canadian woman, since it has become the tradition that women comprise the membership of the commission. In fact, it was proposed to the cabinet in Ottawa, once the decision had been reached to seek membership in the commission, that a woman observer be sent, and that she be the person who would become Canada's delegate if the commission is elected.

But when this proposal was discussed in Ottawa, it was felt that, with an election coming up it would not be proper to indicate the government's choice for the post delegate to the commission on the status of women, since if the government lost the election it would leave whoever had been delegated in an awkward position. So the word came to the permanent mission to assign somebody.

There are even fewer women in the permanent mission here than there are in the Canadian parliament—in fact, there are none. So Mr. Arnould was chosen to attend the sessions as observer, and very pleasant work he has found it, too. The ladies, he says, know their stuff.

The economic and social council meets April 16, and probably will vote on Canada's membership by the end of the month.

SYNOPSIS—Most of the province was covered by an Arctic air mass this morning. Temperatures overnight in the cold air varied from zero in the far northeastern sector of the province to 25 above in the Cariboo and East Kootenay. Milder temperatures prevail over the western and southern sectors of B.C. where overnight lows in the forties were reported.

There should be relatively little change in the present position of the cold and warm air masses in the next few days so that a continuation of the cloudy, showery weather over the coast and of the cold, cloudy weather in the northern and eastern interior is to be expected.

Fast Kills Film Star's Daughter

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Television and film star Larry (Buster) Crabbe today blamed the mysterious death of his 20-year-old daughter on the "subconscious condition in her mind that just couldn't let her eat."

Crabbe, a husky former U.S. Olympic Games swimming champion, told authorities his daughter, Caren Lynn Crabbe, 20, apparently starved to death as a result of an emotional disturbance which made food distasteful to her.

An attending physician was quoted by police as saying the swimmer's daughter, a graduate of Marlborough School for Girls and recently a student at the University of Southern California, apparently died after a five-week fast that left her weighing only 60 pounds.

The coroner's office asked police to investigate the circumstances of the girl's death after Dr. Carl Stroube, who had been attending her since March 4, declined to sign a death certificate. However, police said no investigation was being made because there was no indication of a crime.

Cost $1 Billion

VIENNA (Reuters) — Total loss to Hungary as a result of last October's national uprising is computed at more than $1,000,000,000. The figure, which includes losses through destroyed and damaged property and loss of national income, is quoted in the Hungarian trade union newspaper Nepakarat.

HOME GARDEN — By HILDA BEASTALL

Sow Annual Herbs, Plant Out in May

Annual herbs, such as dill, anise, chervil, sweet basil, summer savory and sweet marjoram, sown now will be ready to set out in the herb garden during May.

Hilda

Many of these annual herbs may be added generously to spring and summer salads. Chopped finely with chives, the young tender tips of dill and anise add an indefinable flavor to egg salad. Your family and guests will really be kept guessing on this one.

Chervil is a deliciously flavored herb, somewhat resembling parsley, but much finer in every way. Sweet basil is little known here, but is a gem among herbs for those who enjoy a more robust flavoring in soups and sauces.

The seed needs to be sown in heat, and the seedlings kept protected until the end of May before transplanting to the open.

Another of the more robust herbs is summer savory, which is a grand addition to the humble casserole of pork and beans, as well as in any bean soup.

The freshly crushed leaves are an excellent antidote for insect stings, including those of bees! Rub the leaves over the affected area as soon as the sting is felt. A second application is seldom necessary.

Sweet marjoram is the herb which goes well with practically all dishes, meat, vegetable and fish. A fresh sprig in season, or a small pinch of the dried leaves during winter, will make any canned vegetable or soup taste more like a fresh product.

A cold frame will suffice for sowing all of these excepting sweet basil which is the most tender, and summer savory which is rather slow to germinate.

When transplanted to the herb garden they will all enjoy a sunny position, sufficient water until established, and clean cultivation. No fertilizer is ncessary in ordinary garden soil.

MILITARILY, POLITICALLY

U.K. Defence Plan Disturbs Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has serious reservations about the new British defence policy, both from a military and a political standpoint.

It is realized here, however, that the economic reasons for the new policy, announced a week ago, are sound. It would be foolish, one informant said, for the United Kingdom to go bankrupt trying to support a defence policy it couldn't afford.

But officials doubt that Britain is wise in shifting suddenly to a defence so heavily founded on nuclear weapons and guided missiles.

The feeling here is that a substantial portion of the defence effort should continue to be based on conventional arms and forces to cope with local conflicts. Once a nation has committed itself to atomic weapons, it may be forced to use them first even in a local outbreak because those will be the only arms available.

AUXILIARIES OUT

Briefly, the new British policy entails reduction of the armed forces to 375,000 men by the end of 1962 from the present 690,000; a halt to development work on new jet fighters and bombers; gradual reduction of the strength of the British Army of the Rhine and of the RAF's Second Tactical Air Force in Europe by half by 1958; heavy concentration on guided missiles and nuclear weapons; and elimination of the RAF's and Royal Navy's auxiliary squadrons.

A report on national defence, tabled in the Canadian Commons Wednesday by Defence Minister Campney, says: "To prevent ground forces of the aggressor from overrunning adjacent NATO areas, it is essential to have a firm but flexible shield of NATO ground forces, together with tactical air support."

It is also felt here that missiles are still largely unproved and that Britain may be placing too much reliance on them too early. In the Canadian defence department there is no intention of abandoning jet fighters in the foreseeable future.

MILES HONORED

VANCOUVER—Still recovering from a bullet wound, Constable Kenneth C. Miles was awarded the police commission's first certificate of merit by Mayor Fred Hume Thursday. Police chief George Archer related the story of Miles' attempt to capture a bank robber March 15. "Although fully aware that the man was armed and had already shot a bank employee, he refrained from using his . . . pistol because of the grave possibility of injury to innocent bystanders."

U.K. Ban on Subversives Stirs Storm in Singapore

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Singapore's former chief minister, David Marshall, offered today to resign from the governing Labor Front in protest against the agreement granting full internal self-government to this Crown colony.

Political leaders attacked a last-minute British proviso in the agreement which will bar "subversives" from the island's first all-elected parliament.

The agreement was signed in London Thursday by Singapore's Chief Minister Lim Yew Hock and Britain's Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd.

Marshall said he will not attend the welcome to Lim's delegation on Sunday, and that if the legislative assembly approves the agreement he will consider resigning and running as an independent Socialist.

Marshall, who as chief minister led a delegation to the unsuccessful constitutional talks in London last year, said "I feel as if everything I have built has become a sand castle that has been washed away."

COLONIAL RULE

He said the agreement simply prolongs colonial rule and does not give the elected government control of internal security.

Lim, 43-year-old anti-Communist, called Britain's surprise condition for the agreement a "shock." Lennox-Boyd said he "found it necessary to insist" on the anti-subversive measure.

The chief minister said the Crown colony's legislature has the right to reject the agreement, but declined to speculate on the position his party and other parties will take in the matter.

"This condition is a departure from normal democratic practice and we reiterate our opposition to it," Lim said before he left London.

Britain will retain responsibility for external defence and foreign relations under the agreement.

AGREEMENT REACHED

Agreement had been reached on all items in the month-long negotiations here when Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd informed the five-man, all-party Singapore delegation Wednesday of the mandatory ban on "subversives."

At a 25-minute ceremony Thursday morning to sign the final report, Lennox-Boyd said he had "found it necessary to insist" on the anti-subversive condition despite "strong opposition" from the Singapore delegates.

The agreement provides the framework for a new constitution giving the crown colony's 1,200,000 inhabitants internal self-government and limited control of trade and cultural relations. Britain would retain responsibility for external defence and foreign relations.

START IN LONDON

Drafting of the constitution is expected to start in London shortly. It would go into effect some time after next Jan. 1.

Britain has made it clear that Singapore will be free after the first elections to chart its own internal policy toward subversives. Until then, Lennox-Boyd said, Britain must guard against the "danger both to Singapore and the free world of the enemy within."

MURDER TRIAL TO WEDDING

Couple Remarried After Ex-Hubby Freed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—A former Dallas, Tex., oil promoter and his ex-wife were remarried Thursday night five hours after he was cleared of murdering the man with whom she had admitted having a love affair.

Robert Sutton, 29, was acquitted of first-degree murder in the fatal shooting of William Kenneth Boone, 28, a former disc jockey. He then remarried Mrs. Freddie Davis Sutton, who testified in his defence at the trial.

Arizona's three-day waiting period was waived by a superior court ruling in order for the couple to wed.

When arrested last Dec. 4 following the shooting, Sutton told police Boone had "broken up my home." Boone died 33 days after he was shot by Sutton.

The defence sought to establish that Sutton had feared for his life.

Mrs. Sutton said she had registered at motels with Boone while still married to the defendant. She and Sutton, the parents of three children, left the courtroom hand-in-hand after he was acquitted.

had never been consulted by the company in connection with uranium purchases, it was a fact Investors Mutual has investments in Canadian uranium mining companies.

"GIGANTIC DEAL"

Mr. Knowles said reports now indicate there appears to be a "gigantic deal" involving the purchase of Algoma by Avro Aircraft interests and McIntyre Porcupine.

Mr. Howe interrupted to say that to Mr. Knowles it apparently doesn't matter that the press reports are inaccurate.

Mr. Knowles asked Mr. Howe to deny there are any negotiations between Algoma and the other companies.

"I deny the substance of the press reports," Mr. Howe said.

However, he had received this information confidentially and could not pass it on to members. Brokers would like to know whether the reports were correct.

PM ANGRY

Earlier, Mr. St. Laurent spoke heatedly about a "suspicion" insinuated in remarks by Mr. Knowles.

Mr. Knowles asked whether the prime minister had discussed with Mr. Howe the propriety of the minister continuing as an executor of the Dunn estate.

"The answer is no," Mr. St. Laurent replied firmly.

Mr. Knowles asked whether the prime minister will discuss the matter with Mr. Howe.

The prime minister replied angrily: "I will do whatever I feel it is required to do to avoid having anyone subject to the kind of suspicions that are insinuated in many of these questions."

. . . RIPPLE ROCK

gurgle and drip of water from the roof. It gives a misleading impression of underground work that is shattered rudely at the end of the north tunnel, where an incessant din and ghostly shapes emanate from a cloud of eerie yellow fog.

The fog is caused by condensation of the water vapor in the air that drives the drills. The "shapes" are miners, wearing rubber suits and hard hats, and the lights on their hats give the fog its glow. The noise is caused by everything—the hammer of drills, the hiss of air, clang of shovels, and the voices of men trying to make themselves heard.

Water Everywhere, Down Necks

Water is everywhere. It falls like rain, trickles down the walls, squirts from drill holes, seeps through fissures, runs down necks, and eventually runs down the sloping tunnel to a sump pump at the bottom of the shaft, 90 feet lower than the tunnel and the lowest point of the underground workings.

It is certainly wet, but not unusually so, according to the superintendent.

"Through the centuries water seeps down to all the crevices in rock," he said, "and our tunnel opens them up. Eventually some of the trickles dry up, but others will run constantly. The water here is slightly salty—not much."

'Perfectly Straightforward' Job

With the exception of the fact that the object of this "mine" is its own destruction, this project is a simple tunnelling job, and has been "perfectly straightforward," according to Col. C. B. North, project manager and over-all boss of the job at the site.

Although Col. North makes the job seem easy—from the point of view of an expert, of course—he conveys the impression that everything possible has been done, is being done, and will be done to make sure that it is absolutely right.

"We only have one chance," he said. "When we touch off the blast late this fall or early in 1958, it has to be right. We'll get no second try."

(Saturday's instalment of the Ripple Rock saga to date will describe what will be the world's largest known peacetime industrial blast, and precautions being taken to ensure its success.)

Fort Rodd Hill Backer Hurls Debate Challenge

A challenge for public debate on proposed centennial-year projects was issued by Capt. G. C. D'Arcy Thursday.

Capt. D'Arcy, supporter of the restoration of old Fort Rodd Hill, said Greater Victoria Centennial Committee gave only hasty hearing to the scheme and did not consider a written submission sent in later.

If supporters of a youth centre, hospital wing, auditorium or Gorge development would test their arguments before the public "we'll see which projects hold water," he stated.

. . . CENTENNIAL

The meeting was attended by the mayor, Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich, Reeve F. E. Norris of Oak Bay, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt, and members of the legislature, Ald. J. Donald Smith and George Gregory and provincial Centennial chairman L. J. Wallace. Other invited elected representatives Public Works Minister W. N. Chant and Oak Bay MLA P. A. Gibbs were unable to attend.

COMMON GROUND

The mayor told the meeting he hoped the members could find "some common ground . . . it's a pity if we all go our separate ways."

Each municipality will receive a 60-cent-per-capita grant from the province for a lasting Centennial memorial project. It is proposed the grant and matching municipal contributions, totalling about $150,000 be spent on a mutual project. So far there has been no agreement on what it should be.

RAY OF HOPE

Reeve Ash said his council was adamant in supporting a new Jubilee wing.

"But there may be a ray of hope. Several people have said the government may not approve a hospital wing. If we could get some indication of that we may find common ground."

Mr. Wallace said the provincial committee would not discuss any project until there is an application.

"It would be very unfortunate if Greater Victoria couldn't get together. Victoria will be a focal point for the province in 1958. I don't think we could put up four projects as well as we could one," he added.

"It is not likely the government would refuse a centennial wing if your councils approve of it," he said.

Reeve Norris said Oak Bay felt if there was any project vitally needed which would fall in the Centennial memorial category, that would be first choice. The Jubilee wing did.

"However, we don't seem to have completed unanimity. We would be willing to consider other projects," but only to the extent of the grant and matching funds.

He said his municipality would not consider another project which would require raising additional funds.

Reeve Wurtele favored further discussion by each council but he added:

"I would like to see the Jubilee wing chosen. I favor it and it is favored by my council, but we should examine the merits of other proposals."

Mr. Gregory said it was ". . . scarcely less important that a suitable centennial project be chosen than that the area should unite in one project. I would rather see a second class project supported by all.

"I am not sure Jubilee wing is the best project, but if it is the only one the outside municipalities will favor, then I say let's put a wing on the hospital."

DRAW FROM HAT

Ald. Smith suggested the main projects be put in a hat and the choice made by a draw. Reeve Wurtele said that was a "crazy" suggestion.

Mayor Scurrah said: "There seems to be a lot of support for an auditorium."

He circulated copies of a letter from civic affairs group, Chamber of Commerce, listing names of 11 service clubs which supported that idea.

Mr. Gregory made a hasty phone call, then threw doubts on the chamber letter by pointing out his club, Gyros, was listed.

"Our club did not support the resolution and the secretary was not even present at the meeting. We took the position we could only pledge moral support. This resolution offers full support."

Reeve Ash supported a meeting of all councils, but the other members shied from the proposal.

Ald. Smith pointed out the Victoria contribution to the joint centennial fund represents only 47 per cent.

"The majority of the money is now in favor of the Jubilee wing. We in Victoria are the people holding up the project. If that's the wish of the majority, we should submit and get on with the job."

"It's either Jubilee wing or we go it alone," he summed up.

Mr. Gregory added: "This is almost an unique morning, for I find myself in agreement with Don Smith.

"Is it agreed we go back to city council?" asked the mayor.

"They are the ones who are holding it up," said Ald. Smith.

The meeting also considered the Rodd Hill restoration, development of Craigdarroch Castle and establishment of more cottage style homes for elderly couples, but could reach no agreement.

Reeve Wurtele pointed out the four municipalities have already promised or indicated they would give $397,000 to the hospital.

The hospital requires $450,000 from the area. The Centennial gift, if made, would oversubscribe the fund.

But Saanich and Oak Bay representatives indicated they would reduce their donations by the amount of the Centennial grant.

Canada's Relations With Russia Set Back

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA—Canadian relations with Russia took a turn for the worse in the wake of Soviet armed intervention in Hungary, says the 1956 report of the External Affairs Department.

The report, published Thursday, says relations between the two countries had been improving gradually since the death of Stalin in 1953 and particularly because of closer contacts following External Affairs Minister Pearson's visit to Russia in 1955.

But all that was ended when the Red Army put down the Hungarian people, the entire free world and, surely, those nations which are somewhat curiously described as 'uncommited,' must have come to a final realization that the amiable facade of Soviet co-existence conceals the brutal Soviet conception of international relations as a jungle where the strong do what they will and the weak suffer what they must. But the agony of Hungary has been a bitter price to have this evident truth demonstrated once again."

Mr. Pearson says 1956 was not entirely a year of setback and gloom:

"The forces of freedom are fermenting in those communist countries which have previously had to submit to the totalitarian tyranny of Moscow."

The report says the Soviet leaders were obviously caught unprepared for the repercussions to their attempt to dissociate themselves from the "odium" of Stalinism.

But they showed themselves determined to retain effective control over their eastern European neighbors even at the risk of destroying abroad the carefully-cultivated concept of a Soviet Union interested only in "peaceful co-existence."

Parliament Mere Puppet—Diefenbaker

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker charged Thursday that Parliament has become a puppet in the hands of the cabinet.

He was speaking on a government motion asking Parliament to grant more than $2,000,000,000 for operation of the administration for the next six months.

Mr. Diefenbaker said it was an insult to and humiliation of parliament for the government to come before it in the dying days of the session to request such "fabulous" sums with no time for their examination.

"Parliament no longer governs," he added. Its function was becoming "farcical."

Stanley Knowles accused the government of playing "fast and loose" with parliament, but added there isn't much the opposition can do about it.

The CCF member for Winnipeg North Centre said the government is legislating increases in social security benefits through items in the estimates, instead of by proper legislative amendments to various welfare statutes.

He was referring to items in recent supplementary spending estimates for the current fiscal year, implementing various increases in social welfare payments forecast in Finance Minister Harris' budget.

The Senate gave final approval Thursday to the federal government's controversial legislation enabling provincial farm marketing boards to levy indirect taxes.

The Upper House also passed the government's national hospital insurance bill and legislation altering repayment terms of the United Kingdom's postwar loan of $1,185,000,000.

★ ★ ★

Hon. Earl Rowe predicted Thursday that Liberal election funds will make farmers more prosperous in the weeks before the June 10 election.

The Progressive Conservative member for Dufferin-Simcoe, Ont., said farmers perhaps "will be more prosperous during the last two weeks of May before harvesting."

"They might have new revenue; they might be more prosperous than they have been at any time in the last four years, but they will not attribute that to the hens."

Liberal Whip W. G. Weir asked what Mr. Rowe meant by that. It was "a rather significant statement to make."

Mr. Rowe said Mr. Weir is an experience dpolitician. "If he were not just a little guilty, probably he would not ask that question."

★ ★ ★

Deputy Social Credit Leader Hansell suggested Thursday either a complete embargo or a much higher tariff on imports of coal as a means of reviving the Canadian coal industry.

He spoke after George Nowlan (PC-Digby-Annapolis-Kings) suggested the government might have to consider subsidizing coal mines to keep them in business until conditions in the industry improve.

Mr. Hansell, member for MacLeod, Alta., said there is a "very serious situation" in the Canadian coal industry as a whole and especially in the Crowsnest Pass area of his constituency.

"It's a dying industry," he said. What was needed was "bold" government action since at this point only the government could do anything to save the industry.

IT'S A DOGGONE SHAME, THAT'S WHAT IT IS—Little fellas seem to get a lot of bad breaks as, for instance, did Chetty, one-pound, 13-week-old toy Manchester owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sneddon, of nearby Madeira, O. Seems Chetty was getting chatty and in is exuberance fell off a low chair, fracturing his right foreleg. The other end of the chat turned out to be this huge Russian wolf hound, giving Chetty the eye as he prances off attired in his new cast. (AP Wirephoto.)

Crofters Condescend To Live With Rockets

SOUTH UIST, Outer Hebrides (Reuters)—The 2,500 Gaelic-speaking crofters of South Uist who threatened to emigrate to Newfoundland because of the British government's plans for a rocket base here have given up the idea.

Agreement on most of the issues in the dispute between the air ministry, which plans to build a £12,000,000 rocket base on South Uist, and the crofters has been reached following a three-day court hearing.

A spokesman for the crofters said they did not want the base, but they were loyal. All they wanted to know was whether the plan was necessary to the national interest.

Counsel for the air ministry said it was essential that the rocket should be fired before the end of next year.

The crofters' spokesman said that since the inquiry had taken place he was confident most fears which faced the crofters had been removed.

Rev. John Morrison, who had been organizing the possible mass emigration of islanders, has abandoned the project. He has turned his attention to the organization of a "vigilante" committee to safeguard the interests of the local people when the "invasions" of thousands of servicemen and their families begin later in the year.

The court suggested that a committee be set up to guard the language, culture and religious traditions of the island from the impact of the new developments.

HAVE RIGHT GEAR

Chimpanzees have the necessary vocal equipment for speech but all attempts to teach them to talk have failed.

BLOOD-RED RAIN FALLS ON ITALY

ROME (Reuters)—Rain the color of blood deluged two North Italian towns Wednesday as gales swept the peninsula. Meteorologists said the colored rainfalls at Prato, near Florence, and Rimini, on the Adriatic, were probably caused by red dust carried from the North African deserts by high-velocity winds.

CHEK PROTEST

MPs' Help Asked on TV Interference

New protest against television interference by CHEK-TV was made Thursday night by the Saanich Voters' Association.

A telegram was drafted and sent to local MPs Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes and Dr. Frank Fairey, which stated:

"Despite petition of more than 16,000 names protesting interference in television reception in Greater Victoria area, interference from CHEK-TV, channel 6, continues. May we urge you contact appropriate authorities to find immediate solution to this problem. This matter is urgent."

Overloaded Ferry Sinks, Fear 102 Lost

HIROSHIMA (AP) — A small ferryboat carrying more than twice its registered passenger capacity rammed a rocky obstruction in Japan's picturesque Inland Sea today and sank quickly with 222 persons aboard.

The coast guard reported 18 dead, 84 missing and 120 rescued. They were returning from a visit to a temple.

Twelve patrol boats crisscrossed the area, 27 miles east of Hiroshima, as darkness fell. Hope of finding more survivors faded rapidly.

Hiroshima police said a 16-year-old boy was at the helm and the captain was collecting tickets when the 40-ton vessel slammed into Toramaru Rock.

The boat capsized and sank.

The ministry of transportation said the ferry, the No. 5 Kitagawa Maru, had a registered capacity of 82 passengers. It was carrying four crew members and 218 passengers, the coast guard reported.

Toramaru Rock is one of the thousands of rocky outcroppings which stud the Inland Sea, which has been compared to Puget Sound.

Japan's worst ferryboat disaster—and one of the great marine disasters of all time—was the capsizing during a typhoon of the Toya Maru Sept. 26, 1954. A total of 1,172 persons were drowned.

Jordan Faces New Political Crisis

AMMAM, Jordan (AP)—Jordan's ousted premier, Suleiman Nabulsi, went to the people today with his side of his split with King Hussein.

Nabulsi, who resigned Wednesday at the king's request, was to make political speeches in Ramallah and Jenin, both in the part of Palestine taken by Jordan in the 1948 war.

Foreign observers expressed fear that "appeals to the streets" by Nabulsi's National Socialist party and leftist elements might set off serious riots in this tension-tight Arab country. Nabulsi is popular with street throngs because of his opposition to the West and his support of unity with Syria and Egypt in the name of "Arab liberation."

An unofficial but reliable report said former foreign minister Hussein Fakhri Khalidi, after a day of intensive talks, had informed the 22-year-old king he could not form a new cabinet. Khalidi is considered an elder statesman with leanings toward the West.

STARS' STARS SAW STARS IN PCL OPENER

Hollywood Stars lost more than their opening game of the Pacific Coast League season at San Diego Thursday. Infielders "Spook" Jacobs and Dick Smith collided while chasing a pop fly and both were taken to hospital. Smith, being carried from field on stretcher, was reported to have suffered fractured jaw and Jacobs, a slight skull fracture. San Diego took opener, 6-1, but Hollywood despite loss of two stars, came back for a 4-1 triumph in second game of doubleheader. (AP Wirephoto.)

Just One More 'Stinker' And It's Bye-Bye Bruins

Montreal One Victory From Series Triumph

By W. R. WHEATLEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

BOSTON (CP)—If Boston Bruins come up with another "stinker" the Stanley Cup will remain with the defending champion Montreal Canadiens.

Stinker was the word coach Milt Schmidt used after his Bruins had absorbed a 4-2 setback Thursday night at the hands of the Canadiens—the third loss in a row—and there is a good chance this best-of-seven cup final will wind up here Sunday night.

It was Canadiens' win all the way, launched with a three-goal outburst in the first period. The offensive-minded Montrealers had too much fire power, particularly with muscular Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion blasting in two goals in the big opening period.

NEW LINE CLICKS

Floyd Curry and rookie Phil Goyette, working on a brand new line evolved by coach Toe Blake, supplied the other Montreal goals—Curry in the first period and Goyette in the third.

Goalie Jacques Plante foiled Boston's comeback bid in the final period after Don McKenney had broken the ice for the Bruins in the second.

As the third period began, Plante made saves on Doug Mohns at 25 seconds, Cal Gardner at 35 seconds and Vic Stasiuk at 1.20.

Fleming Mackell got Boston's second goal in the last minute of play, when it was too late.

Plante, who wound up with 25 stops, called the save on Stasiuk a key point in the game.

Plante shut out the Bruins 1-0 Tuesday and has allowed only three goals in as many games.

McKenney's tally was the first against him in 118 minutes 39 seconds of play.

BRUINS "TERRIBLE"

"They outplayed us all the way," Schmidt said in disgust after the game. "It was our worst game in the playoffs. There were no breaks involved. We were terrible. Everybody had a bad game."

However, neither he nor the team was ready to concede defeat.

The Canadiens were confident but not cocky about their chances to retain the cup in four straight.

"It's a big one but the biggest one still has to come," said coach Toe Blake after the latest triumph. "The clinching victory always is the hardest.

"I won't predict anything. They still have a good team and don't forget it, but if we don't make it four straight it won't be because we didn't try."

Toronto in 1943 was the only team in NHL history to drop the first three games in the finals and rally to win the cup.

GEOFFRION CLIMBING

Geoffrion's two goals as Montreal built up a 3-0 first-period advantage put him within two of the individual record for single-season Stanley Cup competition.

Teammates Rocket Richard and Jean Beliveau share the mark at 12 goals each.

Power Hurt As Brooks Edge K.C.

By The Associated Press

Exhibition baseball finally made its way back to major league ball yards Thursday with Kansas City Athletics making themselves at home with a four-run rally in the last of the ninth to beat Brooklyn Dodgers 5-4.

Vic Power, Athletic's first baseman, was knocked out and carried off the field on a stretcher in the fifth inning when hit on the head by an attempted doubleplay throw.

In other games, Richmond rallied with two runs in the ninth to defeat New York Yankees 6-5; Jack Sanford and Angelo Lipetri held Boston to four hits as Philadelphia defeated Red Sox 7-1; Pittsburgh Pirates walloped Detroit Tigers 10-2; St. Louis Cardinals whacked southpaw Billy Pierce to whip Chicago White sox 5-0; and Chicago Cubs outlasted Baltimore 7-6.

LOS ANGELES—Jimmy Hornsby, 134, Los Angeles, knocked out Felix Sapo Ortega, 138, Tijuana, Mexico, 4.

Trophy Game Highlights Minor Soccer

Only one game is scheduled in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association Saturday, but it is for a city championship.

Optimists and ANAF Veterans tangle for the Fred Oliver Knockout Trophy at lower Beacon Hill Park at 10.15.

On Sunday, Saanich Thistles of division one, Eagles of division five and Tillicums of division one will be playing in Nanaimo.

Here at home, Heaneys of division four meet Nanaimo at Carnarvon Park at 1 and Fullers Clippers play the second game of the same bill against Nanaimo at 2.30.

Ford Still Hot; Leads by One In Opening Round

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Doug Ford, winner of the Masters golf championship four days ago, continued his hot streak Thursday as he knocked two shots off par with a 34-34—68 to lead the first round of hte $15,000 Greater Greensboro Open tournament by one stroke.

The Mahopac, N.Y., professional's nearest rivals were Greensboro amateur Willard Gourley and Marty Furgol, veteran Lemont, Ill., professional.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver tied with eight other pros at 72. Leonard had 36-36.

EMPRESS SEMIFINALIST

Clay Survives Tense Match

Dave Coons is going to have to wait one more year for another chance to win the Sir Edward Beatty Trophy in the annual Empress Golf Tournament.

The Vancouver, Wash., diver, edged in a close battle by Seattle's Ken Lindley in last year's final, bowed out of the running in the quarter-final round of the 27th renewal of the tourney at Victoria Golf Club Thursday when he lost to R. D. Clay of the host club after two extra holes.

Clay's pressure-packed triumph assured Victoria of a berth in the finals of both the men's and women's divisions of the week-long meet.

Clay tackled George Goodwin of Colwood in today's semi-finals for the right to advance into Saturday's final against either C. V. H. Bryan of Calgary or G. W. Cook of Seattle.

WOMEN'S FINAL

In the women's final at Uplands Golf Club today, Mrs. Jean Olson set out against Calgary's Mrs. M. Le Neveu in an attempt to regain the distaff half of the Beatty Trophy for Victoria.

Coons and Clay reached the 18th all square and matched par fives on the first extra hole. On the 20th, Coons pushed his tee shot into a trap at the right of the green and Clay also caught a trap.

Clay blasted to the edge of the green, while Coons lifted his ball over the green into another trap and was 12 feet from the pin on his third shot. Clay putted within inches of the cup and Coons conceded when he stroked past the hole on his try for a four.

Cook was forced to rally to turn back Harold Husband of Victoria, 2 and 1.

Three holes down going up to the eighth tee, Cook took five straight holes to move into a 2-up lead and held his advantage to close out the match on the 17th green.

Bryan reached the semis with a 1-up victory over Dr. Bill Fowler of Vancouver, while Goodwin, Empress champion in 1955, made it with a 2-up triumph over George Gardner, a two-handicapper from Calgary.

Giving away 14 strokes to his Colwood opponent, Gardner came from behind to square the match on the 16th. But Goodwin went in front again on the 17th and wrapped up the victory when Gardner missed a 12-footer on the final green.

Mrs. Olson edged Mrs. A. Swan of Uplands, 2 and 1, in her semifinal match, while Mrs. Le Neveu turned back Joan Warter of Victoria Golf Club, 3 and 2, to continue her bid for the title won last year by Mrs. Ethel Fraser of Seattle.

ONE QUALITY - THE BEST

Coast League Opens With Booms, Crashes

WHAT'S THE SCORE?
BY Denny Boyd

Jim Tang's Colonist All-Star team looks so weak compared to the Times team that we have been thinking of making our team members play with one foot tied behind their backs. Just to make things even.

* * *

Oddest suggestion I have heard so far for saving the Cougars: "We change the name to the Victoria Centennials, see. Then we get this government grant, see . . ."

* * *

Just wait until the Times All-Stars get hold of those Colonist All-Stars on Juvenile Soccer Day, April 19.

* * *

Don Sherry has more nerve than a pickpocket at a detective's convention. The lithe little goal-hawking forward knows that the city of Nanaimo is bitter about him leaving their Timbermen to play for the Victoria Shamrocks.

But Sherry has made a personal request of Rock coach Whitey Severson that he be allowed to play for the Shamrock delegation in the All-Star game this month against the Timbermen in aid of the Tommy White Fund. Sherry knows he'll be walking into a hornets' nest that night, but he relishes the idea.

Incidentally, Victorians wishing to see the All-Star game can obtain tickets by writing to the Nanaimo Civic Arena. It should be an interesting game, a preview of the season and the money will go to an exceptionally good cause.

* * *

Like the man said, nothing is certain except death, taxes and the Times to beat the Colonist by buckets of goals on Juvenile Soccer Day, April 19.

* * *

Heard Jack Bionda tossing his weight around for the Boston Bruins last night and was reminded of the story about the time this year when Bionda told off linesman George Hayes.

Bionda got into a bit of nastiness with Detroit's John (The Beast) Bucyk and Hayes grew extremely animated in his efforts to drag the battlers apart. Bionda fixed Hayes with that baleful look of his and said, "Take it easy George, we aren't on television tonight."

* * *

If you want references of the Shamrocks' newest player, Jack Howse, just ask Lew Landess. When both of them were playing in the Ontario Lacrosse Association a few years ago, Lew and Jack staged a toe-to-toe slugging match that is still talked about in reverent whispers back east.

Lew says he got a draw out of it, "It was his third fight that night and he was tired when I got to him."

* * *

The Times is a dead mortal cinch to scrag the Colonist on Juvenile Soccer Day.

* * *

The Shamrocks this year will have a new fight song, replacing their traditional "Sound Off."

Cathie Southern, who will write a poem at the drop of an iambic pentameter, turned song-writer and has turned out a ditty that has been gleefully accepted by the team executive. Cathie explained her contribution as being necessary because, "'Sound Off', to me, sounded off."

* * *

Bet on the Times All-Stars to beat the Colonist All-Stars and you will be able to tear up that mortgage.

The Pacific Coast League opened its 1957 season with a series of booms that included home-run heroics by a pair of hitters and a crash by two infielders that may affect the pennant race.

The bat heroes were Ray Orteig, whose grand slammer helped Seattle to a 9-4 victory over Sacramento, and Dick Stuart, the brash young man with the large bat and the small glove, who clobbered two homers for Hollywood to give them a 4-1 win over San Diego at night after the Padres had won easily, 6-1, in the daytime.

San Diego may have dealt Hollywood more damage with a pop fly, however. A blooper off the bat of Crawford Davidson sent infielders Dick Smith and Spook Jacobs smashing together in the third inning of the first game and Smith fractured his jaw. Jacobs also suffered possible fractures.

Los Angeles got three home runs good for four runs and beat Vancouver, 4-2, while San Francisco was blanking Portland, 3-0, on a fine four-hitter from 35-year-old youngster Harry Dorish.

EXTRA RUNS

Orteig's clout only widened the gap in the Rainiers' game with Sacramento as the Suds had already scored four runs and the Solons spent the rest of the game trying to catch up.

But it made it easy for Red Munger to notch his first victory of the year with his mates getting him nine runs in the first four frames. Floyd Boyer was the loser although it was Rex Jones who tossed the jackpot ball to Orteig, the first batter he faced.

San Diego clobbered Hollywood on Pete Mesa's three-hitter in the afternoon game—at the same time that the Stars were ruining their infield in the collision. In the second game Stuart, who hit 66 homers in the Western League last year, clouted number one for the PCL in the second and repeated in the sixth.

Nobody was aboard either time, but Stuart, who told the Pittsburgh Pirates he would be back to lead the majors, would be the first to tell you that wasn't his fault.

Monte Irvin and Bob Borkowski contributed homers to the Los Angeles cause in the win over Vancouver and Bob Darnell, who hurled a six-hitter from the mound, also chipped in for his run total with a solo blast.

The San Francisco Seals got off to a perfect start by beating Portland in the loop's only shutout. Dorish, a fugitive from the Boston Red Sox, made his first start in three years and doled out only four hits to the Beavers.

Two of the Seal runs were unearned but the third tally would have been enough the way the chunky righthanded Dorish was baffling the Bevos.

Regals Bury Flyers

Brandon Gains Final; Voss Gets Two Goals

BRANDON (CP)—Brandon Regals, who have won everything but strong support at their own box office, are set today for a shot at the championship of the Western Hockey League.

The Regals won a berth in the playoff with the coast division champions Thursday night by blanking Edmonton Flyers, 3-0. It was their fourth straight win in the best-of-seven prairie division final. The Flyers won the opener.

The Regals now need to beat either Seattle Americans or New Westminster Royals, still fighting it out on the coast, to make their first full season in Brandon a triumphant one on the ice. They topped the prairie division in the regular schedule.

However, the gate for home games has been so poor that talks have been under way with a view to playing some of next year's home games in Saskatoon.

TWO FOR VOSS

Rookie Bill Voss, former stalwart of the junior Lethbridge Native Sons, fired two goals for Regals in the first period and assisted on Les Lilley's marker in the third.

Veteran netminder Lucien Dechene kicked out 35 shots by the frantic Flyers.

The two goals by Voss were scored in almost the same way—25-foot scorchers from a tough angle, finding a hole between the post and the pads of Edmonton goalie Dennis Riggin.

It was one of the Regals best periods of the series as they outshot the visitors, 12-8. The Flyers bounced back in the scoreless second to hold a wide 14 to 7 margin on shots. Both netminders made spectacular saves in the second with Riggin robbing Ray Manson from point-blank range and Dechene stopping Tony Leswick and McCarthy a couple of times when they were uncovered.

The third period was the most hectic of the series as Flyers fought to avoid elimination. The tenacious checking of the Regals held the Flyers at bay. Dechene was unbeatable.

Brandon's final goal came at the 16.55 mark and was hotly disputed by the Flyers, particularly by Riggin who slashed at the goal judge through the screen. Don Raleigh started the play with a pass to Voss, who banged it across the goal mouth for Lilley to hammer home. Riggin got a piece of the puck but officials ruled that it had crossed the line.

WET ONES THROWN?

'Spit But Wipe', Alston's Orders

NEW YORK (AP)—Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, today stepped into, and out of, a young controversy over whether Brooklyn manager Walt Alston meant it when he told his pitchers "to throw spitters every time they work against Lew Burdette" of Milwaukee Braves.

Burdette, it's been said, throws a spitter.

"When I learned of the matter," said Frick, "I contacted Giles (National League President Warren Giles) and Bavasi (Dodger Vice-President Buzzie Bavasi). I pointed out that if spitballs were being thrown, this is definitely a violation of the rules, whether it be in the regular season or spring training.

"From what I have learned, the umpire did not see a spitball thrown. As I see it, no action can be taken. All you can do is warn the managers and pitchers."

Alston, who issued his spitter statement at Wichita Wednesday, changed things a bit today.

"I'm not saying Burdette throws a spitter because," and he paused, "because I'm not supposed to."

Alston modified his orders a bit. "I told my pitchers to spit on their fingers just to give the impression of throwing a spitter. That's all you need to get the batter worried that maybe you are throwing it. Then I told them to wipe it off."

SOME HUNGRY PLAYERS THERE

Wings Eye Edmonton

DETROIT (UP) — Jimmy Skinner will be back at the helm of the Detroit Red Wings next season and Skinner, resting at his Windsor, Ont., home after the playoffs, said he was looking for "hungry players."

Skinner and general manager Jack Adams came to an agreement without the benefit of a written contract, something that Adams himself hasn't had since the late James Norris bought the Wings in 1952.

"I don't think that some of the boys we have this season were hungry enough," Skinner said in referring to the Wings being bumped out of the playoffs in five games by the Boston Bruins.

The rotund coach was enthusiastic about Len Lunde, Bill McCreary and Tom McCarthy, now playing with the Wings' Edmonton farm club in the Western Hockey League.

"Jack (Adams) just came back from watching Edmonton in the playoffs," Skinner said. "And he says Lunde, McCreary and McCarthy all looked good and so did goalie Dennis Riggin."

"Bud Poile, who told us last fall that Al Arbour was ready for the National Hockey League says McCarthy is definitely NHL material. He scored 21 goals even though he had a series of injuries.

"Bud also talked him into being a two-way player instead of concentrating on offence. That's one of the things we lacked this season. Some of the boys come out of the Western League and they don't know anything about playing defensive hockey and checking," Skinner said.

"McCreary does things with the puck like Gordie Howe," Skinner said.

So far, three of the Wings have signed 1957-58 contracts.

Arbour was the latest with Alex Delvecchio and Marcel Pronovost preceding him. They make up three-fifths of the core that Adams says won't go on the trading block. Howe and Red Kelly are the others.

Doug Peden OUTDOOR REPORT

The time: 1977.

The place: Headquarters of any up-to-scratch fish and game department in the country.

The sign on the door reads: Dr. Lumbar Fishbone, fish psychiatrist.

Inside, Dr. Fishbone consults his appointment book, notes the memo, "2.30—Nobite, the neurotic salmon," and walks over to a water-filled glass tank where Nobite is already reclining on a seaweed couch.

Switching on the couch-to-shore communication system, Dr. Fishbone asks what seems to be the trouble.

"Don't know Lum, that's why they brought me here," answers Nobite. "But I just don't seem to enjoy life any more. There's no fun in splashing around with the old school. I'd rather be by myself."

"There was a time when I got a kick out of going along with the gang. We'd give a fishing line a few good tugs, then swim up beside the boat and listen to the cuss words. There was one big red-faced guy in particular. What a vocabulary he had. He was the most fun. Never repeated himself, either."

"Now when I see a fishing line, I feel like grabbing hold of the business end. Sometimes I think I'll just swim down and join the school for tired cod."

"Hmm," says the doctor. "Sounds like you're still subconsciously troubled by something that happened in your childhood. We've got to discover what it is. Just relax and tell me all you remember of your grilse days."

Cure Simple—and Should Be Final

Eventually, Nobite recalls the time when he took a nibble at an abalone spoon. "That hurt real bad," he says. "I was right up beside a boat and saw a mean-looking guy grinning as if he wanted to eat me. I pulled loose from that thing, but it tore my jaw and I've looked funny ever since. All the fish laugh at me."

Dr. Fishbone jumps with joy. "That's it. Your worries are entirely without cause. You're really quite a handsome salmon, you know. And a big one. There's no real reason to feel inferior.

"You should be alright now," he continues, "but to make the cure complete you've got to conquer your fear of fishing lures. We'll send you home to Saanich Inlet tonight and here's what I want you to do: Be just below the surface off Willis Point at daybreak tomorrow. When you see a pearl-pink plug, chew it up. Then your worries will be over. Will you do it?"

"Anything you say, Lum," answers Nobite, the perfect patient.

"Good. I'll be seeing you," says the doctor, making a note to cancel early-morning appointments, "Looks like Stan the stuttering steelhead is next."

Sure it's impossible. But if those Alberta trout don't start acting like well-adjusted fish, the province may soon have a request to add a piscatorial psychiastrist to its wildlife department.

Dr. Richard B. Miller, chief of the University of Alberta's zoology division, has a problem he says may need the services of a sociologist. He told the annual convention of the Alberta Fish and Game Association that sections of the Alberta trout population have become anti-social.

The native trout of many western rivers, he says, have developed a complex that is baffling biologists. It appears that the trout have developed a sense of inferiority so overwhelming that within a few days of entering strange waters, they withdraw to a back eddy, curl up and die.

Thousands of yearling and two-year-old trout have been found dead in various lakes and streams. Post mortems have shown they were in excellent physical condition, had not starved or been poisoned and bore no marks of violence.

Dr. Miller thinks the problem may be outside the field of wildlife biology—the trout may be worrying themselves to death.

Clubmen Put Hopes On Line Saturday

Tillicums will put a nine-game winning streak and their hopes of winning the Victoria and District Football League championship on the line at Royal Athletic Park Saturday.

Gorge Hotel, winner of the first-half league crown and four points up in the second-half chase, has finished its schedule with 12 points, and Tillicums, with eight points, are the only club that can still catch the Hotelmen.

Tillicums have two games remaining. They meet last-place Esquimalt in this weekend's lone league match. And if they stretch their hot streak through a 10th game will meet Brodie's Bakery in the final league tussle next weekend.

Bus-Truck Crash Injures 13

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—A head-on collision between a Pacific Stage Lines bus and a delivery truck in suburban Burnaby Thursday injured 13 persons.

All were released from hospital after treatment for minor cuts and bruises.

Witnesses said the delivery truck bounced off a car that had stopped and smashed into the Vancouver-bound bus. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

G. D. Myers, 50 feet away at the time of the crash, said the "two men in the truck and a half-dozen passengers had cut faces from the broken glass."

"The bus driver was limping around helping," Myers said. His leg was bleeding and he said it hurt him."

WAGE HIKE LIMIT

VANCOUVER—The Greater Vancouver water board said Thursday it will not go higher in settling a wage dispute with 250 of its employees than the 14½ cents across-the-board awarded to civic outside workers. Water board employees are seeking a 22 cents increase for all categories.

SEWER SYSTEM VOTE

GRAND FORKS—Ratepayers in Grand Forks will decide today whether the city shall have authorization to borrow $326,000 for construction of a sewer system, the first for the city. A majority vote of 60 per cent in favor of the proposal is required for by-law passage.

CPR TRACK SHIFTS

ELECTION PROMISES

VANCOUVER — Immediate federal assistance to build deep-sea wharves for North Vancouver if a Conservative government is elected in June was promised Thursday by William Payne, Coast-Capilano candidate.

His proposal was linked with a promise of Conservative candidate John Drysdale in Burnaby-Richmond for a "bridgeless" civil defence escape route for the lower mainland through Coquitlam.

Non-Swimmer, 89, Rescues Woman in Sea

FELIXSTONE, England (Reuters) — Fisherman Walter Little made headlines throughout Britain Thursday for saving a middle-aged woman from drowning.

There were headlines because:

1. Walter is 89.
2. He is a non-swimmer.
3. It was his ninth rescue.

A great-grandfather five times, Walter plunged fully dressed into the sea to save the woman swimmer.

"I don't mind saying I was all of a tremble," he admitted. "The first thing I did on getting home was to help myself to a nice hot cup of tea with a drop of whisky."

BOY SCOUTS FACE $4,000 DEFICIT

A $4,000 deficit is anticipated this year in operations of Victoria District Boy Scouts Association, president V. A. Ridgway told city council Thursday.

"Unless the district can find further funds, services to the boys and the community will have to be drastically curtailed," he wrote.

He asked council permission for a revival of "Boy Scout Apple Day" in Victoria this fall to permit street sales and door-to-door canvass. The matter will be considered by finance committee.

ATTEMPTED MURDER CHARGES

Bank Gunman Suspect Committed; Bail Denied

VANCOUVER (CP) — John William Buckell, 43, was committed for trial Thursday on two charges of attempted murder arising out of an abortive holdup attempt on the main branch of the Royal Bank of Canada March 15.

Four bank employees could not identify Buckell but constable Kenneth Miles, 27, pointed out the suspect as the man who shot him following the holdup attempt.

Buckell is charged with the attempted murder of Miles and accountant Ronald Compston, 33.

Magistrate Oscar Orr refused to reinstate the $50,000 bail originally granted Buckell because he said he was not satisfied with Compston's condition.

"I was disturbed by what I read in the press and am not too much reassured by what I heard this morning," said the magistrate. "I think I'd better leave it for the other court."

Crime to Grow As City Grows, Archer Warns

VANCOUVER—Chief constable George Archer told the police commission Thursday that all types of crime will continue to increase in Vancouver.

In his report of department activities during March, chief Archer said that in every respect the trend is to more crime.

"We will have to contemplate a continued increase as the city grows," he added.

The chief urged the commission to "consider the whole picture, not only the highlights."

Chief Archer said arrests were also on the increase.

"There has not been a robbery of an isolated store since March 20," said the chief.

"Touch wood," interjected Brig. William Murphy.

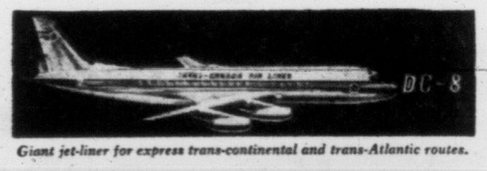
PROGRESS REPORT BY TCA

TCA sets the pace in jet age planning

...new VANGUARD for medium range routes



Giant jet-liner for express trans-continental and trans-Atlantic routes.

Fast prop-jet airliner for TCA's domestic, U.S. and Southern routes.

Already the firm favourite of Canadian air travellers, and the best short-range aircraft for years to come.

TCA's equipment plans for the jet age are now complete. In the new era of air travel ahead, TCA will be the first inter-continental airline in the world to operate an all-turbine fleet. A very important part in this development will be played by 20 Vickers Vanguards, to be in service by 1961.

The Vanguard, luxurious newcomer to Canadian skies, will be big . . . carrying 102 passengers in spacious comfort. Its high cruising speed of 420 miles an hour will cut flying times on inter-city routes across Canada, to the United States, and to Bermuda, Nassau and the Caribbean. Yet for all the power of its four Rolls-Royce Tyne prop-jet engines, flying in the Vanguard will be quiet...smooth ...almost vibration-free!

A design innovation of the aircraft is its "double bubble" fuselage; the cargo holds in the lower section will carry a 10 ton payload, and contribute to economical operation. The Vanguard will be a major factor in the TCA plan to bring the speed and comfort of air transportation to a still wider public.

MR. AND MRS. T. W. MOUAT
. . . "at home," Sunday.

Golden Wedding Day For Pioneer Couple

Pioneers of the province, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Mouat of Welbury Bay, Salt Spring Island, will celebrate their golden wedding Sunday.

They will be "at home" to neighbors and friends at Harbour House, Ganges, from 2.30 to 4.30 p.m.

The couple was married at the Anglican Church at Sandwick, near Comox, April 11, 1907.

Mr. Mouat, 82, was born in the Shetland Islands and arrived on Salt Spring in February, 1885.

Up to the age of 21 Thomas was busy helping his father clear land and establish the family home at St. Mary's Lake. Later he went into the sawmill business; in 1906 he sold his interests and became one of the first four government log scalers to be appointed by the province.

He was given charge of the government patrol boat, Albany, and in a few years became assistant supervisor of scalers in the Kootenay district.

He was offered and accepted a position as special appraiser and investigator in the federal government's customs department, in which duties he travelled the continent.

His services in this regard were recognized by awarding to Mr. Mouat of the Coronation Medal.

He retired in 1942, and now operates a "hobby farm."

Mrs. Mouat, the former Olivia Dingwall, is a native of Comox. Her grandfather came around Cape Horn in 1863 and her father, William Dingwall, was one of British Columbia's early members of the legislature.

Mr. and Mrs. Mouat have two daughters, Miss Olive Mouat, teacher at Ganges school, and Mrs. R. A. Diffin of Comox, and two sons, Thomas of Vancouver and Gavin of Surrey Centre. There are eight grandchildren.

FELINES FRUSTRATE CITY FATHERS

Cats Triumph; No More Traps No By-Law to Keep Them Down

Victoria council surrendered to the cats Thursday after vain attempts to limit them in number or entice them into box traps.

Council soberly voted to write a letter to a woman resident who keeps so many cats her neighbors complain, "pointing out the problem and appealing for her co-operation."

Thus endeth, hopes council, the real-life drama of the Duchess Street cats.

It all started months ago. A Duchess Street housewife was object of a petition from 13 nearby residents who complained she was running a foundling home for cats.

The cats were accused of fouling back yards, porches, sand boxes and children who play therein.

Another petition appeared accusing the first petitioners of being cat haters. Council passed the matter to pound committee, then it went to Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health, finally back to council.

Recommendation was that a limit of three cats per home become law in Victoria, "cats" being felines over six months old.

It was laughed out of council when Ald. J. Donald Smith asked who was going to issue the birth certificates?

Pound committee, miffed, told the dog-catcher to do his duty where cats wandered afield. Dog-catcher could not catch cats. Pound committee issued box traps to people bothered by stray cats.

Traps caught two cats, but they were the wrong cats. The owners claimed cats, and traps were withdrawn.

Cat's Protection League and Canadian Council for Animals' Welfare complained to council about traps.

"This has been before the health board, pound committee and council every meeting through January, February and March," complained Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson Thursday.

Ald. J. Donald Smith proposed a solution: When there is a complaint against straying cats, write a letter asking for co-operation.

"Who will we send the letter to—the cat?" asked Ald. M. H. Mooney.

It was pointed out cat trouble has developed in various areas of the city. Council finally voted a policy of writing to owners of cats when their cats are subject of complaint.

(The Duchess Street housewife has disposed of most of her cats and plans to move to the country.)

Ald. Austin Curtis showed effects of the three-month wrangle:

"I hate cats."

Council Approves Old Fire Hall Site

Present Building and Market to Go; Work May Be Delayed by Financing

Demolition of the main city fire hall and market building and erection of a new fire hall on the site was approved by city council Thursday.

The proposal, made by fire wardens committee a week ago, was passed by a vote of five to four.

Mayor Percy Scurrah said he would not know when work will start until he knows the extent of promised provincial aid with Point Ellice Bridge construction.

He said negotiations concerning the bridge have been under way with the government for two weeks. Fire hall construction costs will be met from the same reverted lands sales fund.

Council has already approved an allotment of $325,000 for the project. The money will be available almost immediately if promised provincial bridge aid comes through; otherwise the fire hall project must await additional city land sales.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, Ald. M. H. Mooney, Ald. Arthur Dowell and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson opposed the use of the present fire hall site.

"That property is too valuable when there is another location as suitable—the old Yates Street hall site," said Ald. Edgelow.

"I still think the 100 feet of Central Junior High School grounds (closest to Ormond) still the best location," argued Ald. Dowell.

"The fire chiefs have always condemned the old fire hall site as too congested," said Ald. Mooney.

Mayor Scurrah and Ald. Austin Curtis, chairman of the fire wardens' committee, answered each protest:

"The fire hall should be in the area where investments are highest . . . Yates Street fire hall site wouldn't give protection to Victoria West and the industrial reserve . . . school board is adamant in refusing use of the school grounds . . . the old building won't cost much to demolish; they are falling down anyway . . ."

Ald. McEwen thought it might cost less to build near Central Junior High but, "We'd no sooner get the paint dry and they'd be screaming for a Victoria West hall."

"We're going to have to have one in Victoria West anyway," said Ald. Dowell.

Nanaimo's Bid For City Cash Sent to Bureau

Victoria council Thursday firmly opposed a requested $1,500 grant to Nanaimo Tourist and Publicity Bureau but passed the request to Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau for consideration.

The surprise request from a friendly rival in the tourist enticement business shook Mayor Scurrah Wednesday.

Council reacted in the same manner — all but Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

"We've been trying to gain more co-operation Up-Island . . . we could give a token amount."

Ald. Donald Smith proposed the request be turned over to Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. "We send a lot of money down there ($35,000 last year)."

Ald. Curtis opposed the move, stating (as president of the Chamber of Commerce) the local bureau couldn't afford the gift. But council passed the motion.

Photography Honors Won By City Man

A print of the 57th Legislative Assembly of British Columbia, taken by chief photographer R. L. Colby, has won three top honors at the annual salon and convention of the Professional Photographers' Association of British Columbia.

Mr. Colby, newly-elected president of the PPABC, accepted the awards Sunday at Chilliwack, convention centre for 1957.

The Eastman Award for the best group shot, the Ansco Award for best commercial print, and the R. J. Hughes Trophy for the best print in the show, were accorded the prize-winning picture. A color transparency by R. L. Colby, also of the Legislative Assembly, won the Munshaw Award as top color picture.

Photographer J. F. G. Kemp, also of the photographic branch staff, was awarded honorable mention for a pictorial photograph of Gold Creek Falls, near Revelstoke.

New Street Lighting Deal Offered by BCE

A $900,000 conversion of Victoria's street lighting system to permit supply of higher voltage was offered to the city Thursday by B.C. Electric.

Council asked two weeks to consider the deal, which would see the transference of $64,000 of city light department assets to the company over a six to eight-year period.

When the work is finished, Victoria street lighting costs will be cut by about $17,000 annually through staff reductions and other savings.

City manager C. C. Wyatt, city electrical engineer Kenneth Reid and B.C. Electric official Mark Trueman teamed up to explain the complicated proposal to council.

The B.C. Electric wants to increase its supply from 4,000 volts to 12,000 volts, to triple the capacity of its system without increasing the number of poles or lines now in use.

There is a danger in having a lesser high voltage system on the same poles—and the city owns the poles. The scheme offered by the company would mean the higher voltage and more modern system would be installed at no cost to the city.

The company, however, would take over all city poles at a half-price value of $32.50 each and apply the sum to the cost of the over-all project.

The city would retain ownership of street lamps and wiring leading to them and would maintain them, but the company would maintain the poles, transformers and their own main supply lines.

If council approves the plan, the company will convert the Gonzales area first, this year.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1957

Parents Win Right to Teach Son; Unique, But Legal, Says Official

A precedent in provincial education has been set in a judicial decision to allow seven-year-old Marcus Quinton Smith of Comox to be educated at home.

Thursday, the boy's father, Richard T. Smith, won the right to keep the boy away from school after a hearing before Magistrate John Ryland.

The boy, who left Comox elementary school March 1 while in grade two "learned practically nothing," said the father.

A provincial education department spokesman said the case was unique in B.C. annals, but quite within confines of the Public Schools Act.

The act says every child over the age of seven and under 15 must attend public school, exception where the child is being educated "by some other means satisfactory to the justice or tribunal before whom the prosecution takes place."

In effect, this clause allows existence of private schools.

A Victoria College spokesman said regarding future possibility of college admission for the Smith boy "nobody cares where he gets his education as long as he gets it, and he must pass government-set university entrance examinations."

SYSTEM WRONG

Mr. Smith said he was not being critical of the Comox School but was against the "alleged progressive" system of education throughout B.C.

However, Municipal Inspector of Schools for District 61 here, John Gough, said education is not "radically" progressive but only "reasonably so."

He pointed out, as did the principal of Comox elementary at the hearing, that the boy's withdrawal from school took him out of "social" contacts with other children, a strong need in development of character to face the world which comes with adulthood.

BETTER HEALTH

Since last March 7, the date used in the charge, the boy's health had improved 100 per cent, his personality had changed, his "zest for life" and imagination were undampened, said lawyer Miss Mildred E. Gordon.

She described Smith and his wife as "giants in their abilities." Mrs. Smith, who looks after Marcus' home instruction, testified she never attended school herself.

Mr. Smith, a cleaner at the RCAF air base at Comox, told the court he left school when he was 14.

The school principal and the boy's teacher at Comox Elementary school, two inspectors and the secretary of the local school board, appeared for the prosecution.

A driver so drunk he had to be carried by two policemen was sentenced in city police court today to 21 days in jail and was suspended from driving indefinitely.

Mark Lloyd McDermott, HMCS Naden, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving laid after a high speed chase by police at about 12.40 a.m. today.

Alex Pritchard, 1268 Pembroke, called police to say a car had smashed into a wooden fence at that address and left the scene.

Sent to investigate in a patrol car, Cons. James Smith encountered the accused's car travelling without lights north on Fernwood. He turned the prowler around and gave chase.

He told the court he paced McDermott at speeds between 65 and 70 miles an hour east on Walnut, where the pursued car mounted a curb and travelled 300 feet on the boulevard, tore out a hedge valued at $100 at 1461 Walnut, mounted a seven-foot mound of earth and came to rest about 12 feet off the street.

Brought to the police station, McDermott was unable to stand and had to be carried into the charge office by two policemen.

HMCS Cordova Goes Into Reserve At Brief Ceremony

HMCS Cordova, Pacific Command coastal escort, today was paid off into reserve at a brief ceremony at HMC Dockyard.

The former "YMS" type minesweeper was built at Chicago in 1942, was bought by the RCN in 1952, modernized at the Dockyard here, and joined the Canadian fleet in 1953.

Up until January, 1955, the Cordova was used as a tender to HMCS Discovery, the reserve establishment at Vancouver. Later she became a unit of the Second Canadian Reserve Training Squadron, with HMC Ships Digby and Brockville.

The squadron was re-designated the 12th Canadian Escort Squadron late in 1955, and in September, 1956, was dissolved.

The Cordova then was assigned to the Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron, and served on operations from as far south as San Francisco to Alaskan waters.

Her last CO before she went into reserve was Lieut. Russell Freeman.

MISS JESSIE CROSSLEY . . . "I won't leave my cat."

'CALL OFF YOUR ARMY'

Angry Old Lady Defies Fire Chief

By DINAH KERR

A tiny, 82-pound old lady with a whispery voice is defying the city fire chief, building inspector and the entire zoning board.

She will not move from her basement suite which has been condemned as a fire trap.

And in an acid letter to Mayor Percy Scurrah, read before city council Thursday, she asks him to "please try to call off your army of inspectors, inquisitors and ejectors until there is reason for their demands."

Fine View

Miss Jessie Louise Crossley, 73, has lived alone for 18 years in her little room "with a wonderful view" in a dark basement at 430 Dallas Road.

Not much light penetrates the lace-curtained windows past a forest of plants and flowers. The walls are covered with pictures, a single cot huddles in one corner, fresh linen is hung on strings across the room, a naked lightbulb hangs from the ceiling.

But it is Miss Crossley's home and she loves it.

Now she has been told to move because required height of a ceiling in a basement suite is 7'6".

The ceiling in her room is 6' on one side and 6'4" on the other.

'Army' Came

And after the fire chief inspected the home following a chimney fire in January, Miss Crossley was visited by the "army."

"They condemned practically everything," she said today.

"The fire chief said 'Oh, nobody is going to live down here' and went out."

Miss Crossley doesn't understand their attitude.

"The city has condemned so many homes of elderly people that it isn't safe to move anywhere," she said.

"These zoning men come here and compare my place with their own homes, and then they say it isn't fit to live in, but I'm comparing it to other rooms I've seen. This is my home and I don't intend to move unless an ideal spot is found—and I don't think anyone will ever find it."

She thinks her own little room is ideal. Since she lives in the basement she doesn't have to climb stairs.

Big Pantry

She cooks on a gas plate outside the room and she has a huge pantry, a saving since she can buy a lot of food at one time.

She washes clothes at a tub on the other side of the basement and bathes in a big tin pan.

But most of all she loves her home because she is allowed to keep her very dear cat "Mitzi."

All her family has died and she has only the cat for company. Not many rooming places allow cats and Miss Crossley won't leave "Mitzi."

"I'd rather give up anything but that cat," she said. "He's so wonderfully intelligent that it's worth keeping him at any cost."

$13 Monthly

For the room with a view, the cat and the gas for her gas plate, she pays a total of $13 monthly from her $60 pension.

If she were forced to move, she could pay a bit more "depending on the amount of food I eat."

It's true the house could be called a fire hazard, but Miss Crossley is fighting the "army" anyway.

She shot one more volley:

"Tell them," she said, "that if they fixed the sidewalks on Lewis Street (adjoining the house) that it would be more to their credit than making our poor landlords practically tear their house apart."

$4.9 Million Cheque for B.C.

British Columbia soon will receive a cheque for $4,900,000 from the federal government as an adjustment on the last tax-rental agreement.

B.C. is one of four lucky provinces which were underpaid in the 1956-57 fiscal year. Highest amount owing next to B.C. is Ontario, with $3,700,000.

The tax-rental payments are calculated on the basis of population and gross national product. At the end of each year adjustments are necessary to bring payments in line with changed conditions.

Five provinces are in the position of owing the federal treasury money and the situation has placed at least one of them, Prince Edward Island, in serious financial straits.

To ease the situation, Finance Minister Harris announced Thursday that provinces overpaid under the agreements will be given five years to repay the central treasury.

Duncan Killer Fights for Life

Voters' Group To Investigate Hall Extension

Proposal to build a $225,000 addition to Saanich Municipal Hall will be investigated by a special committee of the Saanich Voters' Association.

Committee was set up at an association meeting Thursday night and will report at the next meeting in mid-May.

The decision was reached as Councillor Joseph Casey was attacking Reeve Arthur Ash, who opposes the plan, as a "man who has gone overboard."

Coun. Casey objected to a letter sent by the reeve to the Department of Municipal Affairs seeking to stall a council request to transfer $95,000 from reverted land tax sales for the hall addition.

Mr. Casey claimed that Reeve Ash doesn't abide by the democratic rules of government "where the majority counts."

"Since when does the will of one man impose on the rest of us?"

He denied there was any attempt to rush the project through.

The request for the transfer of funds was being made now to avoid a five or six-month delay later if the project is approved, he said.

Council must have a starting point for the plan, Mr. Casey said, and for that reason had asked a firm of architects to draw up detailed plans and estimates.

"I might not even like them myself," Mr. Casey said.

OUT OF HAT

The councillor said he had "pulled the $225,000 figure out of a hat" and the final cost is not known.

Mr. Casey charged that Reeve Ash had been elected on a platform of increasing office space at the municipal hall "and hasn't done a thing about it."

Reeve Ash in his letter to Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black formally protested council's action and urged the government to withhold its decision on the tax money until ratepayers are given a chance to vote on the project.

The reeve pointed out that he had the power to veto the project for a month at least but indicated he was reluctant to take such action.

Barge Freight Service Starts To Quatsino Area

Island Tug and Barge Ltd. has inaugurated a new covered barge freight service from Vancouver to ports in the Quatsino Sound area, northwest Vancouver Island.

First tow left Vancouver Tuesday, arrived at the Quatsino area Thursday.

The barge used on the service was especially built for the purpose, with its own loading ramp and fork trucks to load and off-load cargo. It is refrigerated to handle perishables and frozen foods as well as general cargo.

A regularly-scheduled departure from Vancouver each Tuesday is planned. The tug Sea Lion, which took the first tow this week, averages a little over 10 knots. Route is up the east coast of the Island, through Seymour Narrows and around Cape Scott.

Ports now being serviced are: Winter Harbor, Mahatta River, Quatsino, Caol Harbor, Holberg, Jeune Landing, Yreka and Port Alice.

Heavy Drinking Cited In Logger's Appeal Here

A fight for the life of Thomas Sydney Symes, 31-year-old Duncan logger, who is sentenced to be hanged May 14, opened in the B.C. Appeal Court here today.

Grounds for the appeal are that Symes shot and killed his friend Paul Richard Powling, 25, early on New Year's Day after he had been "drinking excessively" and because he found Powling with his arms around Symes' estranged wife in her bedroom at Duncan.

A. I. McDonald, appearing for Symes, submitted that Symes shot Powling with a rifle "in a moment of extreme provocation" and that he acted on an impulse while in a state of vanced drunkenness.

"The jury at his trial (in Nanaimo Assize Court) failed to give proper weight to the condition of the accused in the light of the amount of liquor he had consumed," Mr. McDonald told Mr. Justice H. I. Bird, Mr. Justice H. W. Davey and Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard, who are hearing the appeal.

ACT OF IMPULSE

"I propose to show that the shooting was an act of impulse consistent with a condition of drunkenness and the circumstances in which the accused found his wife and the deceased."

Mr. McDonald said he would also submit that the trial judge (Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson) had erred in his directions to the jury which found Symes guilty of murder.

He quoted the statements of witnesses at the trial to show that Symes had been drinking continuously throughout New Year's Eve.

After drinking whisky with a friend in his car he visited two Duncan beer parlors and later drank more hard liquor at the home of a friend.

One witness had described him as "drinking big drinks and not enjoying himself," Mr. McDonald said.

Powling was shot once through the heart in a boarding house room occupied by Symes' estranged wife. The death weapon was said to have been a .22 calibre rifle.

The shooting occurred around 5.45 a.m. and Symes was arrested at 1 p.m. following an extensive search by the RCMP.

"VERY SORRY"

The Assize Court jury at Nanaimo deliberated three and a half hours before returning its verdict.

Symes told Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson he was "very sorry" for Powling's family and his own family.

"I still say it was not premeditated," he said.

Symes said he "lost control" of himself but that he did not remember shooting Powling. Powling was found by an ambulance driver in the room of Ramona Symes, 27, with a fatal bullet wound in his chest.

Symes and his wife had separated Dec. 12 after four years of marriage.

A. G. McCulloch, crown counsel, described the shooting as "a cold-blooded and deliberate murder.

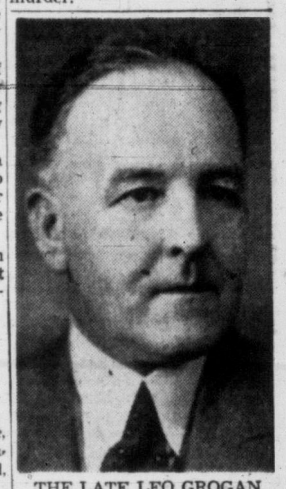
Surviving are his widow, Catherine, at home on Leigh Road; three sons, John H. and G. Ritchie, Langford, and Allan E., at home; and four grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at McCall's Monday at 1 p.m., and will be followed by cremation.



THE LATE LEO GROGAN

Rites Monday For Masonic Past Master

Funeral service will be held Monday at 2.30 p.m. for a top-ranking Mason on Vancouver Island and former chartered accountant here, Leo A. Grogan.

Mr. Grogan died in hospital Thursday night at the age of 66.

Born in London, he came to Victoria in 1917 and in recent years lived in retirement at Shawnigan Lake.

He was past master of Camosun Lodge No. 60, AF and AM; past district deputy grand master of District 1, AF and AM; member of Camosun Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, preceptor of Western Gate Preceptory and Gizeh Shrine Temple, past provincial grand prior of Knight Templars and Western Conclave No. 25, Red Cross of Constantine.

For several years Mr. Grogan acted as secretary-manager of the Fairbridge Farm School for underprivileged youngsters from city centres in England, which was operated near Duncan.

Mr. Grogan is survived by his wife, Florence Mary; one daughter, Mrs. David Angus, and one sister, Mrs. N. E. Sorensen, all of Victoria, and seven grandchildren.

Reciprocal Car Insurance Western Plan

Reciprocal "pink card" auto insurance agreements may be drawn up soon by B.C., Alberta and Manitoba.

George Lindsay, superintendent of motor-vehicles, said today B.C. has been trying to obtain an arrangement with the two other provinces for the last two years.

Alberta Highways Minister Gordon Taylor said this week agreements may be drawn up within the next two months.

Main stumbling block to the plan is the basic minimum insurance required in each province.

On July 1, the B.C. floor will be raised to $2,000 property damage, $10,000 for injury to one person and $20,000 for injuries to two or more persons in the same accident.

Alberta, which adopted the pink-card system last October, was not scheduled to reach that level until July of next year.

Under the plan, a driver who cannot produce a pink card on demand which shows proof of financial responsibility, will have his car impounded by police.

The reciprocal agreement would enable persons insured in one province who are involved in accidents in another to have their insurance cards recognized.

Saskatchewan has a compulsory, government auto insurance plan.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—In 1856 the first district church was established in Victoria. It was built by the Hudson's Bay Co. Where was it situated?—E. Y.

A.—A wooden structure, it stood on top of Cathedral Hill, which site is now a parking lot. When Bishop George Hills, consecrated in Westminster Abbey in 1860, came to this island to take possession of his diocese, he made it his cathedral and it served as such until destroyed by fire in 1869. It was succeeded by the wooden Christ Church Cathedral, which had square towers on the west front and was the cathedral till it was demolished on the consecration of the present stone cathedral in 1929.

Transit Firms Brace For Big Easter Rush

Transportation companies are ready for the first big travel weekend of the spring, the Easter influx and exodus of holidayers on and off the Island.

A survey of experts today showed they are expecting a "normally" busy Easter—facilities taxed to the straining point, but all travellers cared for.

The travel movement will start early Thursday afternoon, say travel agents, as workers with Friday and Saturday off steal a few extra hours to get a head start.

It will reach its peak Thursday night and Friday morning, ease off to normal Saturday.

Holidayers returning to their jobs will be divided about equally between Sunday and Easter Monday, is the expectation, as not all workers have Monday off.

As in previous years, Trans-Canada Air Lines is prepared to run extra flights where needed. Six extra sections have been pencilled in for Thursday, more will be added if necessary.

B.C. Coast Service of the CPR expects to take care of passengers and cars on its regularly-scheduled services, Victoria-Vancouver, Victoria-Seattle and Nanaimo-Vancouver.

Black Ball Lines will also maintain regular service, Departure Bay-Horseshoe Bay.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines will add extra sections to all up-Island services as required.

Travel agents report that many Victorians are starting spring vacations of a week or more with the Easter holiday weekend.

Bunny Faces for the Easter Ham

Bunny faces on cranberry sauce make a delightful treat for Easter dinner whether you're serving tender-baked ham or a glorious roast turkey. Bunny-faced cranberry salads are fun, too, because the children can help. How they'll love eating these bright-faced bunnies.

Cranberry sauce has such a perfect tang for ham or turkey and its gay color makes eating a dream. "Brighten your plate with cranberry sauce" is a rule to follow all year round. What a difference color makes in a meal.

Here's the recipe:

BUNNY-FACED CRANBERRY SALADS

Two (1-lb each) cans jellied cranberry sauce, cream cheese softened with milk, celery leaves.

Open one end of each jellied cranberry sauce can. Punch a hole in other end to let in air. Slide molds out onto cutting board. Cut six slices from each mold. For each salad use one slice as the face. Cut a pair of ears from each of the other six slices. Place ears on face. With cream cheese in a pastry tube draw eyes, nose, mouth and whiskers on face. Make a bow tie with two celery leaves. Makes 6 bunny-faced salads.

Any time of the year make this colorful salad with jellied cranberry sauce:

RED, WHITE AND YELLOW SALAD

One 12-oz. package cottage cheese, 1 tablespoon heavy cream, dash of salt, ¼ cup chopped pecans, 2 tablespoons chopped celery, 8 slices canned pineapple, 1 (1-pound) can jellied cranberry sauce.

Mash cottage cheese with a fork. Add cream, salt, nuts and celery. Place pineapple slices on lettuce leaves. Top with cottage cheese mixture, spread evenly. Cut eight thin slices from the jellied cranberry sauce. Place one slice on top of each salad. Top with small spoonful of cottage cheese mixture in the centre. Makes eight salads.

Works of Composers' Group Heard At Alumni Association Musicale

Musical compositions by members of the composers' group, Victoria Chapter of the Alumni Association, Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto, were featured at a gathering Tuesday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Johns, Somass Drive.

The program, convened by Malcolm Hamilton, presented choral numbers written by Arthur Lewis and performed by the Madrigal Singers under direction of Miss Margery Vaughan. Songs by Mrs. A. G. Dobbie and a setting of the Twenty-Third Psalm by Miss Vaughan were sung by Mrs. R. K. Sturgeon. The Sidney-North Saanich Choral Society presented three selections written by their director, Eric Edwards, who also performed his Sonata for Violin and Piano, with violinist, Mrs. J. W. E. Hunt. Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Gordon Tracy, cellist, took part in the closing choral number, "Ode to the Victor", by Eric Edwards.

Preceding the music, D. B. Gaddes spoke on the art of composition, using records to illustrate. Mrs. C. H. Denike, president of Victoria Chapter, thanked those taking part. A general meeting of the chapter was held prior to the musicale, with Mrs. Denike in the chair.

A report on the recent Roubakine recital was given by convener, Mrs. Gough. In this connection, a letter from Frederick Sylvester, registrar of the conservatory thanking the chapter for presenting the recitalist was read by Miss Noel Smith, representative. Another successful affair was a fashion show and tea held under the auspices of the Hudson's Bay Company. Convener, Mrs. T. W. A. Gray was thanked for her help.

A motion was carried to offer the chapter's Marian MacGovern Scholarship in competition in the Open Beethoven Sonata Class this year at the Music Festival.

The evening closed with a social hour, Mrs. J. Bough and Mrs. T. W. A. Gray presiding at the supper table, beautifully decorated with spring blooms. Refreshments were arranged and donated by Mme. Lavertue of Sooke Harbor House.

Garden Party—It was decided at a recent meeting of the guild, Church of St. George the Martyr, Cadboro Bay, to hold the annual garden party early in July in the church grounds. Canada May Have Seat In Women's Commission

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada next year may have its first seat on the United Nations' commission on the status of women.

An external affairs department spokesman said today Canada's success as a candidate for the 18-member, all-woman commission would probably be known at the end of this month when the Economic and Social Council votes on commission membership.

The commission, which finished its annual three-weeks meeting earlier this month, was established under the council in 1946.

Canada has not yet had an official delegate. But about two years ago the government indicated its intention to apply for 1958 membership as a result of growing interest by such women's group as the Canadian Federation of University Women and the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

POSSIBLE DELEGATE

If Canada's membership is approved, a delegate would be appointed later, the spokesman said.

Kathleen Bowlby of Ottawa, national secretary of the United Nations Association has been mentioned among women's groups here as a possible commission delegate.

Miss Bowlby spent three months in New York earlier this year as a special adviser to Canada UN delegation.

The commission's work to improve the social, political, economic, educational and legal status of women throughout the world has resulted in the General Assembly's adoption of two international conventions put forth by the commission.

Earlier this year Canada ratified the convention on the political rights of women and signed a convention dealing with the nationality of married women.

Quiet Wedding Last Evening In St. Mary's

Rev. H. Jones officiated at a wedding ceremony in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, last evening, when Miss Margaret Eileen McClure, daughter of Mr. James McClure of Toronto, Ont., and the late Mrs. McClure, became the bride of Alan Edward Littler, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Littler, 2516 Beach Drive.

For the ceremony, the bride chose a wedding gown of white lace, classically designed with gracefully gathered skirt. From a dainty headdress misted a fingertip veil of illusion net. Completing her ensemble, she carried a bridal bouquet of bronze and yellow carnations and chrysanthemums.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Jean Fraser, who was gowned in a dress of turquoise. Her headdress was of white carnations.

The groom had his brother, Keith E. Littler, as best man, and Donald M. Fisher was usher.

Following a reception party at the Glenshiel Hotel, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon tour of the United States. The bride's going-away outfit was a turquoise suit with navy accessories and a white corsage.

Unusual Exhibition of Art Draws Crowd to Elk Lake

An exhibition of arts, crafts and curios drew 200 people to Elk Lake Community Church, Wednesday.

About 40 exhibitors contributed varied, artistic pieces, representing many countries.

In tastefully arranged rooms, there were copper and brass exhibits, modern hammer beaten bowls with last century's polished horses in brass and a Guernsey milk can. On the wall was hung a pastel portrait, done by a famous artist and local artists had brought oil portraits and water colors. Photographic art was also featured.

A sinister collection of Malayan krises (knives) was displayed, and a cannonball fired at the siege of Quebec, 1789, was also seen.

An exquisite hand-carved chair with tapestry seat, which came to Canada with the Empire Loyalists was a highlight. Local skill was seen in driftwood carvings, candelabra, a ship model and an arresting display of church carving with acanthus and dogwood motif.

Ceramics were both dainty and humorous in design. There was also basketwork, shellwork, aluminum etched with acid, ivory carving, hooked rugs, quilting and other needle art.

The only "live" exhibit was a chinchilla. The youngest exhibitor was a child of 10 who sent her money box, and the oldest were two old ladies of 83 and 90 years, who sent faultless needlework. Miss Minnie Beveridge welcomed guests.

LADY EATON

Keen Mind, Thoughtful Answers

At a press conference in the Empress Hotel on Thursday, Lady Eaton matched words with reporters and came out the winner. Her keen mind quickly sifted the wheat from the chaff, as far as questions were concerned, and with little hesitation, her answers were presented in a way that left no doubt she is well versed in the affairs of her country and of the world. She was in Victoria on a brief visit to autograph copies of her recently published book, "Memory's Wall."

Stories of the past? She mourned the fact that so much of Canada's history is slipping away with the pioneers. "History is the fabric of which Canada is made," she said.

Should Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip visit Canada? "I would like to see them visit more in the Commonwealth countries." Lady Eaton answered, "but I don't think anyone should try to set their work for them. They are doing a wonderful job!"

Should there be more women in politics?" Certainly! They couldn't do any worse than the men do!"

Would she consider going into politics? Lady Eaton shook her head in the negative, although she said, she knew of one vote she could get. A cab driver had told her he would vote for her if she ran as mayor of Toronto.

Fashions? "I pay little attention to the current models. I don't like any fashion however, that puts women in trousers. They are just not built for them." This statement was amended to "they are all right in their place," when it was pointed out the sportswear departments have good sales in women's "trousers."

Should married women work? "Why not? With or without children, working outside the home adds an interest to life—as long as the children and family are placed first."

Should women exercise their vote? "Of course! Women should take far more interest in the affairs of their country. They should read and know what is going on and they certainly should vote.

"I can't say I wanted the vote. I was quite content to let my menfolk do the voting and try to influence them behind the scenes. But we got the vote and I am just Scottish enough to want to use everything I've got."

About riding. "All young people should learn to ride."

Women in public life? "They should be attractive, gentle in speech and completely feminine. They should never lose that femininity."

In regard to hobbies. "All elderly people should have hobbies to keep them in good health, both mentally and physically.

'Swing Your Partner' Not Ours But the Neighbors

QUEBEC (CP) — The square dance is an American invention and has no basis in Canadian folklore, says an attractive Quebec woman who has devoted 13 years to a study of the science of folklore.

Mrs. Madeleine Doyon-Ferland uses the word "science" advisedly. She has been in charge of folklore archives since Quebec City's Laval University instituted a chair of folklore in 1944.

"Folklore is the interpretation of human life—the translation of all man's acts from birth to death," Mrs. Doyon-Ferland says. "The aim of this science, and it is a science, is to study traditions and to know what is valuable to us."

One deplorable thing found in investigating folklore, she says, is the way traditions are deformed. Many persons visualize our ancestors wearing the now-famous square-cut shirts, whereas none of them ever wore such a garment.

CAME WITH SETTLERS

Another error is the inclusion of the square dance as part of Canada's folklore.

"Canadian dances were in the tradition of our first settlers—immigrants from France, England, Ireland and Scotland. Their dances were the quadrilles, cotillons, rounds, contre-dances and singing or chanting dances."

The wife of a lawyer, Mrs. Doyon - Ferland possibly uses some of his investigative methods in separating folklore fact from fancy.

To find material for this science, she says, it is necessary to dig in cities and in rural areas. An investigator must have knowledge of phonetics, language, old poetry and music.

Folklore is not simply a study of quaint songs and costumes. It encompasses the way people live, the manner in which they express joy and sorrow, their work, their holidays—everything that is part of their normal way of life.

Since being chosen secretary of the folklore archives, Mrs. Doyon-Ferland has written numerous articles and has represented Laval at a number of important folklore conferences in several European and United States cities.

The work, she says, is a labor of love.

"I was always interested in this science, and the creation of the folklore chair offered me a magnificent opportunity to devote myself to the continuation of my studies and research."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Woman With Outsize Bust Pleads for Help

Q.—"After the birth of my three children my bust increased to an abnormally large size. The muscles gave way so that now I have an embarrassingly large bust that has no shape to speak of and which hangs flat against my chest. I am in my early thirties. Is there any exercise which could possibly help me? Is there anything I can do to decrease the size and give my breasts some shape again?"

A. I do not know how much improvement you can make in a condition as extreme as the one you describe, but I think you can make some improvement. If you are overweight, a loss will decrease the size of the bust. This is the only way I know to do so. Exercise can build up the chest muscles and therefore give the bust more shape. Do not be impatient. It will take months to build up the pectoral muscles. Today you have a great variety of brassieres and falsies to choose from. You can even purchase swim suits with built-in falsies. Outside of plastic surgery these measures are the best I can suggest.

Q. "I am 5 feet 8 inches tall and weigh 147 pounds. I am 14 years old. Will you help me?"

A. You are at least 10 pounds overweight. You need a well-balanced and full diet because you are at the rapidly developing stage. Eat three regular meals a day with all of the items you need —milk, bread and cereal, citrus fruit juice and fresh fruit, lean meats and fish and fowl, eggs, fresh vegetables, especially the green and yellow ones, and a certain amount of fat and starch and sugar.

But leave off in between meal snacks, unless you make it fresh fruit, and forget candy and rich desserts and soda fountain mixtures until you lose those extra pounds.

Q. "I am 15 years old, 5 feet 10½ inches tall and weigh 146 pounds. My bust measures 36, waist 28 and hips 37 inches. How many pounds am I overweight and what exercises do I need for a better figure?"

A. You probably should lose about five pounds unless you have a heavy frame. If you have a heavy frame, you are not overweight at all. Take waist slimming exercises for a loss of an inch or two there.

Q. "This may seem funny to you but it is very embarrassing to me. The bones in my arms and my knees sometimes crack or 'pop.' I don't think it is from nervousness. I am a young woman."

A. Try a regular routine of exercise. When I taught figure molding classes knees popped all over the place when we did deep knee bends. After a few weeks there was none of this at all.

Woman of 70 Lends Guidance To Youthful Unwed Mothers

EDMONTON (CP)—Mrs. Mary A. Finlay has been foster-mother to 3,800 babies.

Now past 70, the white-haired woman is as keenly interested today as she was many years ago in the work of the Beulah home for unmarried mothers. She has served it for 40 years, first as matron and then as superintendent.

"It is the home that is important," she told an interviewer. "I would rather talk about the home than about myself."

Born in a log cabin built by her grandfather near Stayner, Ont., she came with her family to Didsbury, Alta., in 1899. When only 16, she was a teacher in Sunday school there, and two years later entered town mission work in Ontario, working at Ingersoll and Guelph.

When her health broke down she returned to Didsbury, doing missionary work in that district.

She came to Edmonton in 1909 and joined the staff of the Beulah mission.

Mrs. Finlay left the mission in 1914 to return to evangelistic work. She was married in 1919 to John S. Finlay of Didsbury, who died two years later. Mrs. Finlay and her infant daughter returned to Edmonton where Mrs. Finlay became superintendent of the Beulah home.

Financed through government grants and public subscription, the home now has a staff of 14, and last year accommodated 125 women and 144 babies.

"That influence for good which Mrs. Finlay has exercised in her work at Beulah home is incalculable," says Elmer E. Roper, treasurer of the home.

"Many of these young women have had their faith and respect restored and have gone out from their contacts with Mrs. Finlay to a new and better life."

IT WOULD BE 'FABULOUS'

Swiss Alpinist Hunts Sasquatch

By LARRY STANDWOOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Raised eyebrows, knowing smiles and even open derision have not discouraged a young Swiss mountaineer from his plans to look for a "lost" race in western Canada.

Rene Dahinden, 26-year-old immigrant, says he has no doubt the wild men of the mountains, the legendary Sasquatch, still rove the wilderness in a primitive state.

To prove his theory the young mountaineer and amateur anthropologist plans an expedition this spring. His sights are set on the Harrison Lake hinterland. Although it's only about 80 miles northeast of Vancouver, most of the recent leads point to this jungle of forest, canyons and towering peaks as the lair of the fabled "hairy giants."

"Wouldn't it be fabulous to produce a completely primitive race living right in our midst," he said in an interview.

REPORT MANY CLUES

While scientists cough politely and the general public titters, Dahinden is quietly preparing for a journey in an aura of adventure, mystery and suspense.

"There is too much evidence of this creature to disregard it," he says.

"The Sasquatch is right at your door. He is a living being and I'm going to prove it."

To support his claims and beliefs, the young Swiss offered the result of two years of research into the background of the legendary race of powerful, wild giants of B.C. whom he describes as similar in appearance to the Abominable Snowman of the Himalayas.

In Canada for 3½ years, Dahinden first heard of the Sasquatch from a Calgary farmer. When he moved to Lumby, B.C., in the Okanagan Valley, Rene became seriously interested.

INDIAN LEGENDS

The Indians of the area tell many legends and some claim actual experience. One such is Chief Pierre Louis of the Okanagan band, now about 80, who recalls that in his youth a woman from his tribe came upon a sleeping Sasquatch. He disappeared, but left his mark.

"I saw his footprints," the chief told Rene. "They were twice as big as a man's."

White men first came in contact with the hairy giant in the 1800's and a Hudson's Bay factor wrote of his encounter with a group of "huge wild men" along the Harrison River.

Chief August Jack of the Capilano Indians in Vancouver told Dahinden of the capture of a nine-foot-tall female Sasquatch in the late 1880s.

The old chief says he saw the creature in New Westminster where she was caged and exhibited "for 10 cents a peek."

The captive, says the chief, was taken to Victoria for exhibition but would not eat, and soon died.

REPORTS PERSIST

Sasquatch sighting reports have continued since. Latest came from Stan Hunt, an auctioneer in Vernon, B.C., who claims he saw a group of Sasquatch on the highway along the Fraser on May 3, last year.

Probably the outstanding authority on the Sasquatch is the man who named them, a former teacher at the Chehalis Reserve school. J. W. Burns, now retired and living in San Francisco, told Dahinden he believes in the existence of the Sasquehava, meaning wild men, which he coined into Sasquatch.

Mr. Burns taught the Chehalis for 16 years, starting in 1925. The Sasquatch, he wrote to Dahinden, "are there."

"They do not use bows or arrows or other weapons. They hypnotize 'their game, such as deer and birds."

He said he himself has come across their footprints but has never seen the Sasquatch in real life.

Dahinden's appeal for support for his expedition has met with little enthusiasm. Even the Harrison Hot Springs village commission was divided when its members proposed to send Dahinden on a Sasquatch-hunting expedition as a B.C. centennial project for 1958.

Said one commissioner: "I have no intention of taking part in such a project which would be the laughing-stock of the country."

Red Chevroners to Mark Second Battle of Ypres

The executive of the Red Chevrons' Association of Vancouver Island have arranged to hold its annual banquet at McEwan's banquet hall, Douglas Street, on Friday, April 26.

The occasion will mark the 42nd anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres, during which, between April 22 and 28, units of First Canadian Division withstood incessant German infantry attacks aided by the use of poison gas for the first time in warfare.

Secretary Joe Leatham has notified all members of details of the banquet. Members may obtain tickets through the secretary, phone 4-1721, and at veterans' service clubs or at the door on the evening of the banquet.

Walter Simpson will be in charge of entertainment.

Guest speakers will be Lt.-Col. W. H. McMurray, RCCS, and Maj. W. C. Roberts, LSH (R).

This is the first of the Red Chevrons' activities for the present year. The executive requests a full turnout of members for this occasion.

Captured Iranian Bandit Says Leader Dead; Officials Doubt It

(Editor's Note: Brian Dewhurst, United Press correspondent in Karachi, flew to the oasis village of Tarbut near the Iranian border where he interviewed Ahmed Shah, captured brother of the notorious Dad Shah and confessed killed of an American woman. Dewhurst describes Ahmed as a "murderer and a liar" but the tribesman's first hand story clears up some of the conflicting reports about the search for the bandits.)

By BRIAN DEWHURST

TARBUT, Pakistan (UP)—Ahmed Shah, the scrawny Iranian tribesman who killed Mrs. Anita Carroll, pleaded with foreign correspondents to "shoot me now" rather than let him be turned back to his countrymen for punishment.

The cringing, 47-year-old eldest brother of the notorious Shahs who have robbed, pillaged and murdered for 15 years was a sorry sight.

He frankly admitted shooting Mrs. Carroll in the back when she tried to flee the blood-spattered jeep containing the bullet-ridden bodies of her husband, Kevin; Brewster A. Wilson and two Iranians.

But he calmly stated, "It was a mistake."

I interviewed Ahmed in the mud-thatched village of Turbut while the weeping women and children of the Shah tribe chanted in the background.

"MURDERER, LIAR"

Intelligent and cobra-quick with fantastic cunningness—but a murderer and a liar — Ahmed was beaten and he knew it.

Weary from traveling by foot over 250 miles in 10 or 11 days on some of the worst terrain in the sub-continent, Ahmed was plain scared.

Seven men have fallen in the sights of his rifle, but he calmly dismissed this as "tribal war."

This oasis is the capital of the crack Mekran frontiersmen. The grey-clad and very proud frontier militia patrolled the sun-scorched compound where Ahmed, 15 women and three young boys wait their fate.

That fate is almost certain to be death before an Iranian firing squad. Iran announced Pakistan agreed to return the bandit gang for trial, and one announcement said prematurely they already had entered Iran.

Several of the women and children bore gunshot wounds from the chase by Iranian police or the battle in which they were captured by the Pakistani frontiersmen.

District commissioner Maj. Mohammed Afzul conducted the questioning.

Ahmed claimed informers told the tribe that Iranian police would motor through the Iranshar Pass March 24.

Dad Shah, the 45-year-old leader of the tribe with an inborn hatred of Iranian police, organized an ambush.

Settling behind shelter, the men and women rained a deluge of bullets on the car carrying the Carrolls, Brewster and the two Iranians. Ahmed said the occupants of the car were taken completely by surprise and did not fire back.

When all movement in the vicinity of the vehicle stopped, the tribesmen stopped shooting, he said.

Suddenly, he continued, a figure jumped out of the vehicle and started running.

"I dropped to the ground and fired at about 400 yards range, hitting the running figure in the middle of the back," Ahmed said through an interpreter.

"When I fired, the tribe again opened up, pouring countless bullets into the body. We sent a man forward who came back and told us it was a woman."

He merely shrugged when asked to explain how it was that Mrs. Carroll's body was found several miles from the bodies of the four others.

He said none of the tribe went near the vehicle.

If the tribe had known they were foreigners they certainly would not have been killed, Ahmed added.

"We'd have kidnapped them for ransom," he said blatantly.

When a correspondent offered Ahmed a cigaret he took it eagerly, fell to his knees, and kissed his hand.

"In the name of Allah, don't send me back to a slow death in Iran," he said. "Shoot me now."

Ahmed claimed Dad Shah was killed in an April 3 clash with Iranian police. He pointed to Dad Shah's 14-year-old wife who walked about the compound with shattered wrists and said she was wounded when she fired back protecting her fallen husband.

But he refused to say where the body was and district commissioner Afzaul claimed that Ahmed was lying.

He said latest reports showed Dad Shah; his fearless sister, Durbibbi; her husband, Kareem Dad, and possibly Dad's younger brother, Mohammed, still are at large.

Ahmed refused to budge on this point and insisted Mohammed died a natural death a year ago.

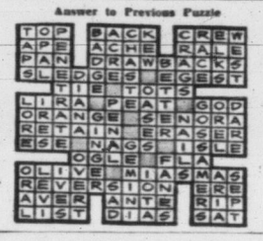
Answer to Previous Puzzle



ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prize? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Carolyn Humman, aged 12, of Euclid, Ohio, for her question:

What Is the Swollen Ring Around an Earthworm?

Andy can tell that spring has arrived, even without looking outdoors. At this time of year, his readers get taken with earthworm curiosity. Mr. Pinky is always a great favorite. But in spring he heads the popularity poll. Perhaps this is because the string and bent pin fishing season has opened. Fixing the little fellow on a hook makes us curious. There is room for only one column about worms, but the answers to a few extra popular questions have been included.

The plump girdle around an earthworm is a special factory for making cradles and nurseries. It is called the clitellum and made of fatty cells able to secrete soft, sticky mucous. This is the material used to make the cocoon which shelters the eggs.

Two types of cells are needed to make the eggs. One type is stored in the 18th segment of the worm's body — counting from the head end. The other type is stored in segments 9, 10 and 11. At the proper time, the clitellum glands give off a sizeable wad of filmy mucous. It circles the worm's body in a scarf and starts to move forward over the bumpy segments.

At segment 14, the first ripe cells are gathered into the filmy scarf. The other cells are collected as the scarf passes over segments 9, 10 and 11. Once inside, the two cell types unite with its precious burden and finally slides right off the end of the worm's pointed head. The two sides now seal to form a cosy cocoon. It rests on the ground until the youngsters hatch and wriggle off into the world.

It is true that a worm will not necessarily die when cut in two. If the cut is ahead of segment 18, the front will grow a new tail and the back end will grow five segments to replace the head. If the cut is behind segment 18, the back end grows a new tail also. This poor creature, with a tail at each end, has no mouth and soon perishes.

The fascinating Mr. Pinky can see without eyes and hear without ears. At least, a flash light or heavy footsteps send him wriggling to safety back in his burrow. He can also breathe without lungs and walk without legs. Seeing and hearing are done by special nerve glands in the skin. The pink skin is also able to use oxygen straight from the air.

Aside from all these wonderful tricks, the earthworm is one of the most useful creatures in the world. Most plants and many creatures could not survive without him. His burrows let air and water down to the roots of trees and plants. He eats the chemically rich dirt below ground, totes it upstairs and leaves it in curly little piles on the surface. He is one of nature's busiest plowmen. Luckily the earthworm is a very plentiful little fellow over most of the world. For a good many birds and small animals depend upon the worm supply for their diets.

Andy sends a Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to Patricia Gill, age 12, of Salt Lake City, Utah, for her question:

Where are the Halls of Montezuma?

The borders of our southwestern states were settled by the Mexican War. Before this conflict ended, General Winfield Scott had led an expedition to the very gates of Mexico City. The last battle was fought at Grasshopper Hill, a fortress called Chapultepec, three miles from Mexico City. Victory was made possible by the heroic action of the United States Marines. This event rates as one of the highlights of their glorious history.

Next day, Sept. 14, 1847, the Americans entered Mexico City which was formerly Tenochtitlan, capital of the Aztec ruler Montezuma. In its day, the old Indian capital was a grand city of white palaces, pyramids topped with lavish temples and wide causeways.

These are the Halls of Montezuma mentioned in the stirring Marine Anthem. The expression is a poetic reference to that heroic battle at Grasshopper Hill which ended the war in victory for the United States.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

Cub leaders of the Victoria district will have the opportunity to take part in an all-day specialized training course under the leadership of Art Chamberlain, assistant district cubmaster, for training and members of the district staff. The course will be held on the Saanich Peninsula and will run from 9.30 a.m. to 4.30 p.m., May 5.

Each member of the staff will be responsible for some particular feature of Cub work and play. It will include, amongst other activities, knotting, nature rambles, outdoor games, and finish with a campfire.

A number of Cub leaders of Victoria district will be taking the special Wood Bead Badge course at Camp Barnard, Sooke, from June 15 to 23. Those who successfully pass the necessary qualifications will be allowed to wear the Gilwell neckerchief and the wooden beads on a leather thong when in uniform.

The Gilwell neckerchief is a mark of a scouter who has undertaken to fit himself in the leadership of Cubs, Scouts or Rovers.

The parchment of qualification bears the personal signature of the chief scout for Canada, His Excellency the Governor-General, for those who have obtained their course in Canada. The complete course is divided into three parts: (1) correspondence; (2) practical in camp; (3) application in working with a pack, troop or rover crew.

The Gilwell neckerchief is a distinctive color and superimposed at the peak is the Maclaren tartan, in recognition of the gift of Gilwell Park, Eng., to the Boy Scout movement by W. F. de Bois Maclaren, a Scottish merchant.

The wood beads and neckerchief are recognized in all countries as a sign that the wearer has a high standard of training in Boy Scout work.

The courses are of a standard nature, no matter what part of the world that they may be taken, and those who give the training are carefully selected and scouters of experience. The chief of the Gilwell training team is John Thurman, Gilwell Park, Eng. The idea of the Gilwell training was put forward by the founder, Lord Baden-Powell, in 1919.

HISTORY GROUP ASKS MUSEUM ON BIRDCAGE SITE

The provincial government has been urged by the Victoria section of the B.C. Historical Association to preserve as much as possible of the "birdcage" as a museum.

The first legislative building in Victoria, the "Birdcage" was gutted by fire two weeks ago.

A meeting attended by 150 people Wednesday night approved a resolution asking the government to rebuild what's left as a museum "containing in word and picture the story of the legislative life that went on there from 1859 to 1897."

Indian Feuding Brings Fines In Sidney Court

Four Koksilah Reserve Indians charged with assault on four Brentwood Bay Reserve Indians at a March 30 potlach fracas at Brentwood each were fined $25 and $12.50 costs in Sidney RCMP court Wednesday.

Charges were laid after chiefs of all bands in the area met in council to decide how to stop "feuding" between bands from Brentwood and Duncan.

The four each pleaded guilty to common assault. They were Francis Louie, 26, Anthony Jimmy, 56, and his two sons Colin and Gilmer, both in their mid-20s.

Rivalry between the bands broke into open conflict about 3.30 a.m. March 30. There were no serious injuries inflicted apart from cuts and bruises.

The quartet appeared before stipendiary magistrate F. J. Baker, Sidney.

Indian chiefs said they decided to make an example of the men in an effort to deter any future outburst among their people.

Mirth-Makers Top Festival Marathon Night

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Thursday was marathon night in the South Vancouver Island Drama Festival—four plays in a row and all of them exhausting, either by emotional stress or laughter.

On the whole, all plays were well chosen and the contrast and balance of the programs which has been noticeably good this year, was preserved in that all three comedies were entirely different from each other.

There was the drawing room farce, the rollicking satirical farce and the effervescent French trifle of wit and whimsy, all surrounding the dark mood provided by sombre monotones of a tragedy by John Drinkwater.

"MR. TWEMLOW IS NOT HIMSELF" by Philip Johnson. Presented by Columbine Club.
Hattie Twemlow ..... Willine Loadman
Samuel Twemlow ..... Stan Wade
Mr. Braby ..... Vaughan Barker
Alice Twemlow ..... Dorothy Dunbar
Mabel ..... Dorothy House
Mrs. Braby ..... Kay Roberts
Director: Vera Trueman.

Mrs. Lily Harper, in adjudicating the first entry, commented that a farce comedy demands skillful approach. While the pace had started out well here, she felt it had lagged occasionally when cues were lost.

The difficult problem of personality changes between two players had come off well, she considered. Stan Wade and Vaughan Barker were commended as "two thoroughly able actors."

She felt the set was "nicely dressed" and that the whole performance had been "enjoyable with some expert moments."

Team Work Good, Pace Carefully Handled

"THE STORM," by John Drinkwater. Presented by The Gremlins.
Alice ..... Carol MacCormac
Joan ..... Dale Cole
Sarah ..... Ailsa Rothery
Old Man ..... Ronald Clydesdale
Young Stranger ..... James Logan
Director: Mrs. Lesley Allen.

This production pleased the adjudicator on most counts.

"A potent verse drama, requiring effective establishment of mood," she commented.

She found the teamwork to have been of the first order, that pace had been carefully handled and projection of character was successful.

"Altogether a thoroughly believable and sincere performance," she declared.

Carol MacCormac drew the adjudicator's special commendation for a sensitive and moving portrayal of a woman struggling to ward off inevitable tragedy.

"THE POT BOILER," by Alice Gerstenberg. Presented by St. Andrew's Cathedral Players.
Thomas Pinikles Sud ..... J. Pickford
Harold Wouldby ..... Richard Hinchcliffe
Mr. Ivorty ..... W. Rodgers
Mr. Ruler ..... George Crisfield
Miss Ivory ..... Sharon Wood
Mr. Inkwell ..... Micky Muir
Mrs. Pencil ..... Betty Woods
Director: Laurie Westendale.

This was a highly entertaining piece and Mrs. Harper felt sure, by the general reaction, that everyone had enjoyed it. She admired J. Pickford's prodigious leaps between stage and auditorium and expressed relief that he was "still walking around."

She felt that the "players-within-the-play" needed to have a more professional attitude toward the director-playwright who had hired them.

For the second time this week, Mrs. Harper warned against "anchoring" an iimportant character behind a large object of furniture, from which position it is impossible for him to be dominant as he should be.

Ballet-Like Movement, Fine Mime Please

"THE FISH," by Yves Cabrol. Presented by Peninsula Players, Sidney.
Louis Cabrol ..... Herbert Drew
Yvette Plum ..... Joan Henriksen
Celestine Plum ..... Eileen Cooke
Pierre Plum ..... Alec Effa
Yves Cabrol ..... Ken Smith
Hortense Plum ..... Dorothy Rayburn
Marianne Cabrol ..... Ailsa Rothery
George Dardin ..... David Smart
Director: Neil Horth.

In this charming French confection, the players delighted Mrs. Harper with their ballet-like movement and excellent mime. She found the rhythmic approach excellent and praised the cast for "an admirable job."

She regretted that the pace, which had started out briskly, should have lagged during the fishing scene. There had been good definition of character and fine teamwork between the pairs of players.

Tonight's program at Oak Bay Junior High School has a special significance for players and audience alike. Following the presentation of three plays, Mrs. Harper will announce her choice of three of the best plays seen during the festival for the honor performance, Saturday. In making her selection she will also consider contrast and balance of the program.

Plays competing tonight for a place in the honor performance are "Man's Estate," presented by St. Luke's Players; "Fumed Oak," by Victoria Theatre Guild, and "Mary Frobisher," by the student nurses of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The Canadian Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute of Canada are the two voluntary organizations fighting cancer. The society is made up of laymen. It supports research, carries on an educational program and a welfare program to assist cancer patients. It also raises money. The institute is made up of doctors and scientists. It supports worthwhile cancer research by giving grants-in-aid, fellowships and scholarships. About two-thirds of its money comes from the society.

On the average almost 55 Canadians die of cancer each day. More than two each hour.

G.I. MENJOU—Adolphe Menjou, movie star famed for years as the screen's No. 1 fashion plate, was left with little more than the shirt on his back when a sneak thief stole his wardrobe in Munich, Germany. Menjou is there making "Paths of Glory." Above, he gets buttoned up in a G.I.-donated fatigue jacket by Brig.-Gen. David W. Gray, commander of the 11th Airborne Division in Germany. (NEA.)

SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS

Jayne Flies High In Film Premiere

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Warner Brothers held the Hollywood premiere of The Spirit of St. Louis Thursday night, but Charles Lindberg would have had to land his plane in the theatre lobby to steal the show from Jayne Mansfield.

The voluptuous actress, wearing a gown that had fans and photographers in a spin, put on a show seldom seen in the dignified Hollywood of today.

Assisted by her boy friend, muscle man Mickey Hargitay, the one-time Mr. Universe, Jayne even autographed programs for the fans in the top row of the bleachers.

Hargitay, in a performance that resembled a circus act, lifted his blonde girl friend high in the air so that she could reach bobby-soxers in the back rows.

Jayne explained that she and Hargitay had practised the pose at home because it resembled an airplane in flight.

"And isn't this what this picture is all about?" she asked.

UBC Producing Campus Film For Centennial

VANCOUVER (CP)—Production of a $25,000 color film to be shown during British Columbia's centennial year has been started by UBC.

The half-hour film, which will depict virtually all phases of university life, is planned as part of the university's 50th anniversary observance. Officials expect to show it in high schools across the province, at service club meetings, and at alumni meetings across Canada.

Alberta Moves to Abolish Hotel-Brewery Tie-Up

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta legislature finally agreed Wednesday night, as it neared prorogation, on the method for gradual elimination of brewery interests in the province's hotels.

In cases where such financial tie-ups now exist, the liquor or beer manufacturer will have until April 1, 1967, to eliminate them. The deadline for making new financial relationships was made retroactive to last April 1.

6 IN MEMORIAM

WOOD—In loving memory of J. F. O. (Jack) Wood who passed away April 12, 1953.
Tonight the silent stars look down
On a grave not far from here,
Where sleeps the one I can't forget
And always loved so dear.
Without a word you left me;
Your last thoughts were unknown;
And with farewells unspoken
You calmly entered home.
I am, O Lord, deprived of one
Who was to me most dear.
Teach me to say "Thy will be done"
While I on earth wait here.
—Ever remembered by his loving wife Ada.

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

WHAT IS FOREST SIDING?

Made of dry 1½" Stock 10 and 12 inch widths, "FOREST" Siding is a new type of Siding obtained from specially selected Cedar logs sawn to show the beauty and character of knots, burls, etc.

HOW IS IT GRADED?

IN SUPREME GRADE for home and buildings where a distinctive and pleasing appearance is desired, enhanced by heavy shadow lines. Sound intergrown knots ranging in size from 2-inch to 6-inch widths to 4-inch in 12-inch widths add to the rustic appearance of this grade.

IN QUALITY GRADE intended for use on summer homes, barns or industrial buildings where lowest cost construction is required with pleasing rustic appearance. Each grade comes in two finishes, rough faced or smooth faced. The rough face has a sawn finish and smooth face is planed.

WHAT ARE ITS QUALITIES?

"FOREST" Siding with its substantial thickness and greater wood volume adds to the structural strength and solidity of the building.

The design of "FOREST" Siding ensures a tight weather seal of the lap which, together with its thickness and flush-to-base principle, makes excellent material from the insulation standpoint.

"FOREST" Siding represents an economy to home-builders. Costing less than most other types of Siding the lap design ensures easy fitting and speedy application at less labor cost.

Home Improvements Headquarters

YOUR HOME
Is the most important asset you own, it is security, a pride of ownership—a place of family unity and recreation. It pays to keep your family home modern and up-to-date—make it an attractive centre for your family to entertain their friends.

WHY MOVE
Or build in some new area—improve your present home in the district where your friends live—where you know the folks in the community church or recreation hall—where your children are familiar with the school, the clubs, their friends. Your home can have all the benefits of a new home at lower costs.

DON'T MORTGAGE YOUR FUTURE
Use our home improvement loans for a modernizing job—our rates are the lowest in town and no bankable security required. For instance you can redecorate a 10x12 room—walls of rich mahogany plywood w ceilings of factory white ceiling tiles — materials cost less than $100.00 and you pay only $15.00 monthly.

PITY POOR MOTHER
With hard-to-clean drainboards and sink top—now you can replace these quickly and easily with Arborite Heatproof Counter Topping—trimmed with chrome mouldings and what a difference to have them polished and gleaming with one wipe down. Lay your own floor tiles, too—it's inexpensive, simple—and gives your kitchen that new home look. Monthly payments of $15.00 will do wonders.

MAKE A HIT
With your children—give them a rumpus room in the basement—a place teen-agers will be pleased to bring their friends to spin records and other activities. Solves parents problem of knowing where the young folks can be found. It's easy to waterproof concrete walls and floors and put in extra windows. Choose from a large selection of wall panels—do the job yourself—pay as little as $20.00 monthly.

DO-IT-YOURSELF
Can be fun for the whole family on many projects, you'll be surprised how easy it is with many of today's easy-to-apply materials. Now Stewart & Hudson have the latest selection of Popular Mechanics Do-It-Yourself books on Mixing Concrete, Fencing, Extra Rooms, Barbecues, Power Tools, etc., priced at 25c and 75c each.

MAKE IT EASY
With power tools—Cummins ¼" Drill Kit complete with accessories only $24.95. And every handy man should have a Cummins Maxaw—this portable electric handsaw handles any 2" lumber—even angle cuts on 2x4 rafters, your Maxaw is priced only at $59.95. Can be purchased at $15.00 down (plus tax) and 3 equal payments of $15.00 with no interest, no carrying charges. Call in for free demonstration.

RALPH TIGER JONES FIGHTS CHICO VEJAR ON C-4 AT 7

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

THE SHOWS—There is one consolation for a show that is slipping, and that is, it can happen to the best of them.

To our mind two of TV's top-rated shows aren't what they were even a few short weeks back. One is the Ed Sullivan show and the other is Playhouse 90 that romped away with a goodly share of the Emmys this year.

Peculiarly enough neither the Sullivan show nor Playhouse 90 owe their lack of appeal to their competition. In the case of Sullivan he seems to have run out of interesting talent and Playhouse 90 has unhappily settled for plays that haven't had the quality of their predecessors. It is hoped that both will "get back on the track" ere long.

On the happier side of the ledger Climax, which has been skidding over the months, has at last pulled up its socks and for the past four or five weeks has treated its adherents to about as smashing a succession of hour-long plays as one could hope to wish for. Red Skelton, too, has seemed to have caught his second wind and now can be counted on almost weekly to give us the best half-hour comedy of the week.

Another comedy that year after year confounds the critics is the I Love Lucy show. There's something engaging about the perpetual wars and mix-ups between Lucy and Desi and the Ricardos and the Mertzes. On the other hand, is the bloom wearing off Sgt. Bilko's rose or is it just that we are getting used to being surprised by Phil Silvers' brand of smash-'em-up and drag-'em-out brand of humor?

A couple of last thoughts: Jane Wyman's brand of soap opera we can do without but why, oh why did they torpedo the wonderful Brothers? That was cruel.

EFFIGY OF DAVE BECK, international president of Teamsters' Union, was found outside public auditorium in Portland Thursday night. (AP Wirephoto.)

Teamsters Hit 'Misuse' of Funds

PORTLAND (AP) — Some 1,500 members of Teamsters' Union, Local 162, met at the Civic Auditorium here Thursday night, and members said they unanimously approved a resolution censuring national and western conference officials for "misuse and misappropriation of our funds."

Members said after the meeting that a seven-man committee was appointed to recommend changes in the teamsters' constitution. They said it was voted unanimously not to support with union funds any teamster official under fire for misuse of union funds.

Meanwhile, at Washington, the Teamsters' Union today officially opened its much-publicized $200,000 public relations program to promote the union and fight anti-labor legislation.

The publicity funds were approved after president Dave Beck and other union officials were called before the senate rackets committee to answer questions on union finances and alleged links with the underworld.

Beck originally had announced a $1,000,000 program to tell the teamsters' side of the story" on senate labor rackets committee charges that he had siphoned off more than $300,000 in union funds for personal use.

7 Ships Trapped By Ice

Lake Superior Traffic Banned

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Lake Superior was closed to shipping today because of a tremendous ice field which locked Whitefish Bay just west of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Seven Great Lakes vessels are trapped in the ice.

Capt. E. S. Kerr Jr., commander of the U.S. Coast Guard ice breaker Mackinaw, ordered the traffic ban.

The Whitefish Bay ice jam was described as 45 miles long and 30 to 60 miles wide with ice windows of 14 to 25 feet high, piled up by strong northwest winds.

Kerr said two of nine ore carriers stuck in the ice were freed before the close order came. They were the Snyder Junior and the Thunder Bay.

Kerr ordered ships en route from Duluth and Superior, Wis., and other lakehead ports to anchor at the western edge of the ice field. The order prohibits any individual attempts to work through the ice eastward.

New Stamp Will Honor Explorer

OTTAWA (CP)—Explorer David Thompson, buried at 87 in an unmarked Montreal grave 100 years ago, is to be honored this year by a commemorative stamp, it was announced Thursday.

The post office department said it is issuing June 5 a five-cent stamp, drawn by George A. Gunderson of Ottawa, marking the contribution to Canada's development of a man whose life was spent in unfolding her geography.

Blue in color, the stamp is being printed in Ottawa.

It shows on the right a bearded Thompson, in fur-trimmed buckskins and holding a quadrant to his eyes, on a bluff overlooking a river with a suggestion of mountains rising beyond its far shore.

Dominating the stamp is an unfurled map showing western Canada to the Pacific Coast, area of most of Thompson's discoveries during the 18th and early 19th centuries.

JOINED FUR TRADE

Right centre carries the three-line inscription: "David Thompson 1770-1887."

Thompson landed in Canada in 1784 from London, England, as a 13-year-old apprentice of the Hudson's Bay Company. He spent the following seven years learning the fur trade and the science of exploration.

When 14, with two Indian guides and living off the land, he made a 150-mile trip in less than three days. By 17 he had penetrated as far west as present-day Calgary.

BUILT POSTS

Next to his bible, which Thompson always had with him, he treasured his quadrant and thermometers. He made careful astronomical observations throughout his wanderings, determining the longitude and latitude of important trading posts. Modern geographers are amazed by his accuracy.

He got along well with the Indians too.

Articled in 1792 as a trader and surveyor, he set out from Calgary for Lake Athabaska, ordered to build trading posts at strategic points.

Five years later he joined the North West Trading

DEATH WAS NEAR

Driver Rams Tombstone, Escapes Injury

His car missed a curve, plunged through a hedge and was heavily damaged when it smashed into a tree and a tombstone at Ross Bay Cemetery Thursday at about 3.30 p.m., but driver Edward H. King, 69, 637 Transit, was unhurt.

He told police he blacked out as he approached the end of May Street where it intersects at right angles with Memorial. The car, out of control, went its own way from there.

Police took King to Jubilee Hospital where he was examined and discharged.

He said it was his first accident in nearly half a century of driving.

Court Reserves Judgment in 'Iron Boot' Case

The B.C. Appeal Court reserved judgment Thursday in an appeal lodged by John Osborne Dow, 26, who is now serving 18 months' hard labor in Oakalla Prison for attempted house-breaking.

Dow was hit on the head with a weight-lifter's iron boot while alledgedly attempting to break into a basement suite in Saanich.

Brian Johnson, 3055 Millgrove, said he threw the boot when a strange face appeared at his window around midnight, Oct. 23.

It crashed through the window and struck Dow on the head. Dow was identified by police because of his head injuries, but he claims these were caused by falling in his bath tub.

The Sikh Missionary, who was invited to Victoria by the Punjabi Akali Singh Temple, 2721 Graham Street will arrive here from Vancouver Saturday.

Many 'Cures' Fail to End Girl's Hiccups

VANCOUVER (CP) — Scores of sympathizers have telephoned their favorite remedies to Joyce Brown, but she still has the hiccups.

Miss Brown, 16-year-old Vancouver High School student, has been hiccuping on and off for three years. Attacks sometimes last more than a week.

Doctors and chiropractors have been unsuccessful in finding a cure. But that didn't stop the Vancouver public from trying.

Many of the cures involved various ways of drinking water. Some samples:

Boil chicken gizzards in water and drink the mixture like tea.

Drink water through a linen handkerchief.

Drink water standing on your head.

Plug your ears and let someone feed you cold water.

One caller suggested sniffing pepper, then sneezing.

A woman visited Joyce to prescribe drinking carbolic acid mixed with glycerine in distilled water.

Joyce's father said doctors still hope to find a cure but in the meantime the suggestions are not going unheeded.

"We've already tried a lot of them and we'll try some of the others," he said.

Rocket Flies 126 Miles High

WHITE SANDS, N.M. (AP) —A rocket carried signal-sending instruments 126 miles into the sky Thursday in a preliminary test for the earth satellite project. John W. Townsend, Jr., chief scientist at the U.S. naval research laboratory, said he was extremely pleased with the behavior of what was termed a "satellite package." The instruments started sending back signals to ground observers 20 seconds after the rocket started its nine-minute flight.

Recent studies of Canadian Indians sponsored by the Canadian Cancer Society show that Indians have less skin cancer than do whites. One explanation of this may be that the pigment in the skin is a protection against the sun's rays. Past studies with American Negroes show that they, too, have much less skin cancer than do whites.

PREPARATIONS for Greater Victoria's role in the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation convention in Vancouver April 23-26 were made at a briefing session Thursday night. Overdraft Plight Harasses Hospital

'Two Years Behind' Financing By Government Hit at Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Board chairman R. H. Inkster of the Nanaimo General Hospital says the hospital is operating in a continual "state of overdraft" because of the present financing system.

Mr. Inkster told the board's inaugural meeting that hospitals are being financed by the government two years behind the year when expenses are incurred.

Also, financial years of the hospitals and the B.C. government did not coincide.

NO GUARANTEE

"If a hospital incurs any additional salary expenses during the first six months of the year, there is no guarantee that these salaries will be met when the approved budget is notified to the hospital."

A deficit incurred in 1956 would not be audited by government auditors until 1957, he said. Any deficit approved would not be included until the health department's 1958 budget.

Mr. Inkster said there is no guarantee that any increase awarded during present negotiations with nurses and operating engineers will be met by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

He proposed a province-wide salary negotiating committee be set up to handle a standard contract.

'Wild Night' Preceded Slaying

CAMPBELL RIVER—A wild night at a St. Patrick's eve dance on Quadra Island, a few minutes by speedboat from this village, preceeded the slaying of William Wallace, 21, witnesses testified at a preliminary hearing Thursday.

Vernon Ernest Breckton, 34, of Vancouver is charged with murdering Wallace, a Cape Mudge Indian.

Dr. J. Depew testified that Wallace died instantly of internal bleeding caused by two deep knife wounds in the back.

Dr. Ross McNeely, a pathologist at Victoria's Royal Jubilee Hospital, said samples of blood from Wallace were of the same blood group as stains found on earth at Quathiaski Cove, on Quadra Island.

LICKED ONE

Benjamin Billie, one of the Cape Mudge band, said Wallace was with a group of Indians who got into a fight with two white men.

"We licked one guy and one got away," said Billie.

Max Loch, about 45, of Vancouver, said he went to Quadra Island with a white companion named Frenchie. When he was walking away from the dance hall, he was set upon by assailants and later had to have six stitches in his head.

Evidence of fights in the dance hall or outside it was given by Robert G. Grafton, of Heriot Bay, Quadra Island; Edward Cecil Mitchell, and Thomas Roland Grafton, loggers. Grafton said he saw Breckon with a man who had been beaten up.

Several young Indians testified that there were fights.

ADDITION OPENED OFFICIALLY

N. Saanich Pupils Get Half-Day Off

North Saanich High School, enlarged by a new gymnasium-auditorium, library, offices and four classrooms costing a total of $220,000, was officially opened Thursday night by Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

Mr. Peterson told the assembled students and parents that North Saanich school population has increased 112 per cent in the past 10 years.

700 NEW ROOMS

Over the whole of the province, 700 new classrooms are needed to accommodate an increase in the school population of 21,000 children.

The aim of education today, Mr. Peterson said, "is not merely to teach children to read, write and calculate, but to develop the child in all his aspects to enable him to be a person of good character.

"If we cannot teach our children to learn to live together and co-operate with their fellow men in this shrunken world, then there is not much point in educating them at all."

The minister made a hero of himself by granting the students a half-day off today.

STOLE CAR

Police said Roy "eloped" from the institution Dec. 2 with two other boys. They stole a car, and were picked up in Courtenay.

The youth was charged and returned to the school. Three months later he again left and stole another car. At this time he broke into a South Wellington cafe. He was picked up on the mainland.

CITY COUNCIL ROUND-UP

Gov't Parking Area To Be Re-Designed

City council Thursday night was told parking spaces in the provincial government parking lot are being redesigned to increase off-street parking. City had requested the action earlier to relieve all-day parking problem in residential areas near the Buildings.

Provincial government was asked by council to turn down a request to permit a tally-ho barn in Industrial Reserve. The city must approve any lease granted in the area. The Town Planning Commission recommended against the barn, as the area has no sewers, drains or water supply. Victoria West Community Association advised a petition opposing the barn was being circulated. Residents felt it would depreciate their property values.

Rezoning of two residential lots near the southeast corner of Cook and Yates to permit Roaf Motors to establish a used car lot was approved by council.

Decision was reached despite recommendation for further delay, requested by Town Planning Comission. A report by capital region planner Brahm Weisman was to be submitted.

An earlier policy that "automobile row" not be permitted to extend further east than Cook Street was overruled.

Council ratified a recommendation by Victoria-Saanch Beaches and Parks Committee that a speedboat regatta not be allowed on Elk Lake on July 1.

Request came from Victoria Inboard and Outboard Association. It was turned down, despite argument by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, because it was felt gas and oil might pollute the lake water, which is piped to homes in Brentwood.

No action was taken on a request by Ald. Edgelow to "do something" about two men who park all day on Government street. He said Bank of Montreal officials repeatedly complained to him.

Ald. Edgelow wondered if council couldn't find reserve parking for them at the rear of the post office, where they operate a small cigaret concession.

Reason for council solicitude for two who park all day in a one-hour area? They are war amputees.

Council endorsed a finance committee policy that no further civic luncheons be given visiting conventioneers, except those organization closely allied with municipal government.

Two minutes later the rule was broken when council asked finance committee to consider a banquet for conventioning War Amputations Association.

The committee will also consider a proposal to provide crested blazers to all members of the Victoria College Vikings, basketball team which recently reached Dominion finals.

Finance committee recommendation that the question of multiple polling stations for civic elections be dropped, was overruled.

Council voted to have comparison of costs of 10 stations and the present one-station scheme brought in for study.

A proposal by Ald. Hugh Ramsay that city polling hours be 8 a.m. instead of 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. was sidetracked. The hours are set by a special provincial act. Legislative committee of council will consider a request the act be changed.

Ald. J. Donald Smith demanded to know if the press report which stated Mayor Scurrah endorsed the Wyatt plan for business tax was correct. Mayor Scurrah said he hadn't endorsed it.

"I hadn't studied it enough. It seemed like a good idea."

(His comment to the press last week was, "I go along with the special tax on property. It would be the most equitable to administer and instal. We could apply it for the second half of this year.")

Council voted approval to a plan of public works committee to spend $1,500 for collection of rubbish which is too large for normal garbage collection. The expenditure will be placed in the 1957 budget, but it was noted by the mayor it may be scratched when council starts its budget reductions late this month.

Garden Cocktail Parties Legal

EDONTON (CP) — The Alberta legislature made it legal Thursday for a person to have a drink of beer or liquor in his own backyard, or on his patio, or at his summer cottage.

Previously, alcoholic beverages could be kept or consumed only in a "residence." A redefinition of the word made the change possible.

Another change made on the final day of the session was to increase fines and set possible second-conviction jail terms for minors who enter beer parlors.

RINSE AWAY TARNISH with SODA

Cover bottom of pan with aluminum foil. Add 1 teaspoon Soda to each quart of water, heat to boiling. Immerse silver so it touches foil. Tarnish disappears quickly. Rinse and dry with soft cloth.

U.S. WOULD LIMIT USES OF URANIUM

LONDON (AP)—The United States proposed today that all production of fissionable materials after April 1, 1958, be confined to non-weapons purposes.

Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, suggested to the United Nations disarmament subcommittee that technicians begin Sept. 1 to study how such an agreement could be enforced.

Sources inside the subcommittee room said Stassen recommended that an agreed inspection system begin to function March 1, 1958, or as soon as possible thereafter upon the ratification of necessary agreements.

ASSASSINATED

Albert Edward Lucien Cannon, 39, Canadian member of the international truce supervisory team in Indo-China, was stabbed to death Thursday in Saigon. (AP wirephoto.)

Knifed to Death While He Slept In Indo-China

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

OTTAWA—Albert Edward Lucien Cannon, 39-year-old Canadian member of the International Truce Supervisory Commission in Indo-China, has been found dead of knife wounds in Saigon, South Viet Nam, the External Affairs Department reported today.

Although full circumstances surrounding Mr. Cannon's death were not released Reuters News Agency said in a dispatch from Paris that it learned Cannon was assassinated.

Saigon reports said he was found dead in his bed.

He had been struck several blows in the chest with a sharp weapon.

Reporting to the Commons, Health Minister Paul Martin said:

"Our information is that Mr. Cannon was stabbed by some unknown assailant during the night in his residence."

He said the Canadian government had been advised that the South Viet Nam police had started an investigation.

The Canadian government will be represented at the investigation by "one of the legal members" from the Canadian staff at Hanoi, Martin added.

Mr. Martin extended "the sincere sympathy of the government and I know of every member of this House" to Mr. Cannon's wife, his two children and his mother.

Villa Guarded Day and Night

The compound where Mr. Cannon died comprises seven villas surrounded by a wall and guarded night and day by Viet Nam police. It was built before the revolt by a wealthy Chinese for his daughters.

Special policemen were posted inside the compound after the body was discovered and denied newsmen entrance to Mr. Cannon's apartment.

Mr. Cannon's body was taken to the French hospital in Saigon where it was placed in the mortuary chapel.

Thomas Carter, Canadian commissioner with the Viet Nam control commission, is due to arrive in Saigon Saturday from Hanoi, North Viet Nam.

Mr. Cannon, a native of Quebec City and wartime squadron leader in the RCAF, was in charge of the Saigon office of the Viet Nam truce commission. Saigon is the capital of South Viet Nam.

Known by the nickname "Bruddy," Mr. Cannon was posted to Saigon from Ottawa last December. The truce commission comprises Canadian, Indian and Polish members.

Canada has helped supervise the armistice in the three associated states of Indo-China—Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia—since the summer of 1954 soon after the truce was achieved at Geneva between Communist and French forces.

Some 400 Canadians have served in Indo-China and there now are about 140 there. Most are soldiers forming mobile and field inspection teams.

Non-Communist South Viet Nam has never recognized terms of the armistice agreement on the grounds it did not sign it.

Hostility to Armistice Pact

Canadian officials have reported that the truce commission in South Viet Nam has not received the fu' o-operation of the South Viet Nam government.

South Viet Nam's hostility to the armistice agreement, which divided the state into Communist north and non-Communist south, showed itself last year in at least three demonstrations against commission teams. The demonstrations took the form of mud-throwing and shouting but no commission member was severely injured.

Offices of the commission in Saigon also were damaged by a mob last year.

Mr. Cannon graduated from Laval University as a bachelor of arts in 1939 and shortly afterwards joined the RCAF as a pilot officer. He served in the United Kingdom and Newfoundland during the war and was discharged in 1945 with the rank of squadron leader.

After joining the external affairs department in 1946, his first posting was with the Canadian high commissioner's office at St. John's—before Newfoundland entered Confederation.

In 1948 he went to New York as vice-consul, returning to external affairs headquarters here in 1950. In 1953 he was appointed second secretary at the Embassy in Buenos Aires and became first secretary.

Norman's Red Links Known Pearson Says

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today that Herbert Norman during his university days associated openly with persons thought to be Communists.

Mr. Pearson added in the Commons that Mr. Norman, late Canadian ambassador to Egypt, made no secret of these associations and they were known to the Canadian government when he was employed by the external affairs department.

Mr. Norman's record was carefully checked and rechecked. Mr. Pearson said he examined personally all the security information himself and reached the conclusion Mr. Norman was a loyal Canadian whom the government could trust.

RECHECKED

After the U.S. Senate internal security subcommittee made its allegations against Mr. Norman in 1951, the Canadian government had rechecked his record and decided to retain his services.

Every allegation made against Mr. Norman had been examined in detail and the government had no doubt of his integrity and loyalty.

Mr. Pearson said it has always been a principle of the government that it would not deal publicly with allegations such as had been made by the U.S. sub-committee. Such interference in private lives could do more harm than good.

But because of the wide variety of implications and deductions in this case—Mr. Norman committed suicide in Cairo last week — he would depart from this practice as a rare exception.

Mr. Pearson said there was never any doubt of the loyalty and integrity of Mr. Norman. His loyalty over the years had given the government no cause to regret the decision it made.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker asked whether the evidence put before the U.S. Senate sub-committee "was untrue, unjustified and had no basis in fact."

Mr. Pearson said he had made his statement on the case. He had told the House what he knew.

"I think I will stand on that statement," he said.

Mr. Pearson said he would not say whether every single statement made by the sub-committee was correct.

To the government's knowledge, Mr. Norman had "certain Communist associations" in his youth and the government was not going to allow that to "drive him out of the public service" after long years of loyal service.

Mr. Diefenbaker replied that Mr. Pearson's statement was "equivocal." The minister had read the full record of statements issued by the sub-committee.

Later Mr. Pearson, replying to further questions by Mr. Diefenbaker, said that to the best of his knowledge the U.S. Senate sub-committee had not got any of its information on Mr. Norman from security information sent to Washington by Canada.

A SPECIAL TIMES SERIES

Miners Batter Last Round Of Ripple Rock Knockout

RIGID RULES are followed for safe operation of cage that lowers Ripple Rock mine crew to main tunnel 480 feet below ground. All bell signals are repeated, and safety gear seen on top of cage where cable joins stands ready to stop cage if cable breaks. Superintendent Jack Buchanan, left, explained operation to Times Island Editor Don Ingham prior to descent. (Times Photos by Bill Halkett.)

(One of the most intriguing "construction" jobs ever attempted in British Columbia is blowing the top off Ripple Rock in the vital waterway of Seymour Narrows. It is of special interest to Victorians historically because at one time it was thought Ripple Rock could form a natural pier for a bridge from Victoria to the mainland. Thirty years ago a strong political fight initiated in Victoria prevented marine interests from going ahead with destruction of the rock. But now the big project is well under way and the "blow" designed to shift 65,000 tons of rock in one blast will take place either in the fall or early next spring.

In effect the job can be described as blowing up an underwater mountain. It is the first time anything like it has been attempted on this continent and the Times sent Island Editor Don Ingham and Photographer Bill Halkett to report on how the work is progressing. In a three-part series, beginning below, they tell the story.)

By DON INGHAM, Times Island Editor

Hard-rock miners, charged with the heavy responsibility of getting rid of Ripple Rock once and for all, are on the last lap of their $2,500,000 effort.

They have driven tunnels under water to points directly below each of the two pinnacles of the sullen menace that squats under the surface of Seymour Narrows threatening every vessel using the narrow, dangerous, tide-torn waters.

Today they are "mucking out" a foundation under the north pinnacle which will carry the timbers and hoist gear required to drill upward 300 feet into the heart of the rock. Already one of the two raises to be drilled has been driven upward about 40 feet—as far as the miners could go without scaffolding.

(In miner's parlance, a "shaft" is created by starting at the top and working downward. A "raise" is made by starting at the bottom and working upward.)

Cram Tunnels With Explosives

When they reach a level in the rock that is 40 feet below low water mark, they will drill horizontal tunnels and branch tunnels, cram them with explosives, and pull the switch.

It is hoped the resulting blast will trim the tops off the two pinnacles and permit ships to use the full 2,500-foot width of the pass at its southern entrance, rather than just the eastern side.

Vancouver firms, Northern Construction Company and J. W. Stewart Ltd., the construction firm, and Boyles Bros. Drilling Co. Ltd., that does all exploratory diamond drilling on the project, have set up a camp on Quadra Island. It is nine miles north of Campbell River by boat, and photographer Bill Halkett and myself arrived there in time for a massive lunch in the camp cookhouse.

The shaft is on Maud Island, connected to Quadra Island by a causeway about 50 yards long, built of waste rock taken from the tunnel.

Lowered 490 Feet Down Shaft

Led by Jack Buchanan, superintendent on the job and veteran of 20 years of hard-rock work, we were lowered 490 feet down the shaft to the tunnel.

The tunnel, sloped slightly upward from the shaft bottom to permit drainage, measures 1,900 feet to a diversion, where one tunnel goes 250 feet to the bottom of the north raise, and the other 480 feet to the south raise.

Along the sides of the tunnel, six feet wide and seven feet high, are a large duct to carry ventilating air, a small pipe for high pressure air to operate the drills, electric conduits, and a water line.

The tunnel is well lit, and quiet except for the constant

CCFer TRIES TO DELAY COMMONS PROROGATION

Demands Probe of Howe's Position With Big Firms

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF whip Stanley Knowles said today dissolution of Parliament should be delayed pending a Commons inquiry into what he termed Trade Minister Howe's connections with three wealthy Canadian companies.

He also said in the Commons that Mr. Howe should either resign as an executor of the estate of the late Sir James Dunn, former head of Algoma Steel Corporation, or as a member of the cabinet.

The member for Winnipeg North Centre said Mr. Howe has connections with Algoma Steel, A. V. Roe (Canada) Ltd., and McIntyre Porcupine Gold Mines Ltd.

"The closing of Parliament should be delayed until a committee of the House of Commons can be set up to investigate all aspects of this matter," Mr. Knowles said.

Parliament was expected to prorogue later today with dissolution to follow immediately for a June 10 federal election.

OTHER POSTS

Mr. Knowles said the trade minister was consulted about the appointment of J. D. Barrington, president and managing director of Polymer Corporation Ltd., a Crown corporation, as a director of McIntyre Porcupine.

In addition, W. J. Bennett, head of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd. and Northern Transportation Company Ltd.—all Crown corporations under Mr. Howe—still was a director of Investors Mutual of Canada Ltd.

Mr. Knowles said Prime Minister St. Laurent had stated Mr. Bennett notified the investment company March 1 of his intention to resign from its board of directors. At the moment Mr. Bennett still was head of three Crown corporations and a director of an investment firm.

Although Mr. Bennett said he

Mayor's Parley Stirs New Hope For Joint Centennial Project

The Greater Victoria Centennial spotlight today swung back to the Royal Jubilee Hospital wing.

There was new hope for agreement by Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt.

But it will be the hospital or four separate projects.

Mayor Percy Scurrah hinted he may swing from an auditorium to the hospital to establish Greater Victoria unity.

These were the indicated results of a meeting today in the mayor's office of senior municipal and provincial elected representatives on the Centennial problem.

Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt pointed out Victoria is the only stumbling block on the path to a united project.

The outside municipalities reaffirmed their determination that if a joint project is agreed upon it will be the $1,800,000 Jubilee wing.

They asked the mayor to go back to the Victoria council and ask a vote be taken.

RESERVES OPINION

Mayor Scurrah said after the meeting:

"I am reserving my opinion. I'm not in agreement with the hospital as a project, but I may go along with it if it will set an example of intermunicipal unity."

He would not guess what his council's reaction will be.

FBI's Hoover Denies Release Of Norman Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI said today it did not give any data concerning Canadian diplomat E. Herbert Norman to the Senate internal security sub-committee.

In response to inquiries, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover issued this statement:

"The FBI has not made available to the Senate internal security sub-committee any reports or files or information pertaining to the late Dr. Egerton Herbert Norman."

In Washington Thursday a staff member of the sub-committee released a statement by chairman James Eastland and Senator William E. Jenner saying the FBI had corroborated the sub-committee's information about Norman's alleged Communist ties in 1939 and 1940. Subsequently efforts were made to have the statement withdrawn.

Hoover's statement came amid controversy as to whether the state department had cleared for publication a sub-committee transcript of closed-door testimony linking Norman with Communists — allegations on which he had already been cleared by his own government.

A state department spokesman disputed statements from senators that the department had cleared the transcript for publication.

Robert Morris, sub-committee counsel, said the state department had not asked for an opportunity to check any future testimony about foreign officials before publication.

SUGGESTS CHECK

In the light of this controversy and confusion, Senator Jacob Javits (Rep.-N.Y.) proposed today that any testimony involving foreign diplomats received in Senate inquiries be withheld from publication until it is checked by the Senate foreign relations committee.

Javits introduced a resolution for this procedure, saying it would aid in preventing a recurrence of controversy such as developed over Norman.

The sub-committee's release of closed-door testimony linking Norman to communism after he already had been cleared by his own government aroused angry protests in Canada and elsewhere.

Norman, who was Canadian ambassador to Egypt, committed suicide in Cairo after publication of the sub-committee transcript.

The New York Times says the Norman case data has been traced to a U.S. army intelligence unit.

The newspaper, in a dispatch from Washington by E. W. Kenworthy, says "it was learned that an army G-2 report drawn up in 1950 had come into the sub-committee's hands.

RCMP MENTIONED

"This report contained security material provided by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Some of the material was attributed to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police."

The Times says the material in the army report came up in the sub-committee hearing March 12, but in the transcript of the hearing, published March 14, "the verbatim material in the army document, with the clues to its origin, was omitted."

Sub-committee members were not immediately available for comment.

Eastland and Jenner have said that "before the testimony which contained references to ambassador Norman was released, the transcript was cleared for publication by the state department."

Members and visiting brothers of the Henderson Lodge, No. 84, A.F. and A.M., G.R.B.C., are requested to attend the funeral of our late brother William Davenport, at St. Phillip's Church Hall, 2328 Eastdowne Road, on Saturday, April 13, 1957.

Saskatchewan Project Talks Progress—PM

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated today that federal-Saskatchewan negotiations on the proposed South Saskatchewan River power-irrigation project have reached the point of discussing power penstocks and how Saskatchewan contributions should be paid.

But he reiterated in the Commons the key point: that the federal government has not yet decided the project is a self-liquidating one.

In the prime minister's words, it would have to "return more to the economy than it takes out in interest and amortization costs."

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker had asked Mr. St. Laurent for a report on recent negotiations with Saskatchewan. The prime minister said he wrote recently to Premier Douglas referring to these two points which were "still undetermined as far as the government of Saskatchewan was concerned."

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1957

Parents Win Right to Teach Son; Unique, But Legal, Says Official

A precedent in provincial education has been set in a judicial decision to allow seven-year-old Marcus Quinton Smith of Comox to be educated at home.

Thursday, the boy's father, Richard T. Smith, won the right to keep the boy away from school after a hearing before Magistrate John Ryland.

The boy, who left Comox elementary school March 1 while in grade two "learned practically nothing," said the father.

A provincial education department spokesman said the case was unique in B.C. annals, but quite within confines of the Public Schools Act.

The act says every child over the age of seven and under 15 must attend public school, exception where the child is being educated "by some other means satisfactory to the justice or tribunal before whom the prosecution takes place."

In effect, this clause allows existence of private schools.

A Victoria College spokesman said regarding future possibility of college admission for the Smith boy "nobody cares where he gets his education as long as he gets it, and he must pass government-set university entrance examinations."

SYSTEM WRONG

Mr. Smith said he was not being critical of the Comox School but was against the "alleged progressive" system of education throughout B.C.

However, Municipal Inspector of Schools for District 61 here, John Gough, said education is not "radically" progressive but only "reasonably so."

He pointed out, as did the principal of Comox elementary at the hearing, that the boy's withdrawal from school took him out of "social" contacts with other children, a strong need in development of character to face the world which comes with adulthood.

BETTER HEALTH

Since last March 7, the date used in the charge, the boy's health had improved 100 per cent, his personality had changed, his "zest for life" and imagination were undampened, said lawyer Miss Mildred E. Gordon.

She described Smith and his wife as "giants in their abilities." Mrs. Smith, who looks after Marcus' home instruction, testified she never attended school herself.

Mr. Smith, a cleaner at the RCAF air base at Comox, told the court he left school when he was 14.

The school principal and the boy's teacher at Comox Elementary school, two inspectors and the secretary of the local school board, appeared for the prosecution.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Maurice Kozak, 832 North Park, $10 for making an illegal U-turn.

John Todd Noble, 3480 Doncaster, previously fined for impaired driving, agreed to drive only for business purposes for one year.

Drunk Driver Couldn't Stand

A driver so drunk he had to be carried by two policemen was sentenced in city police court today to 21 days in jail and was suspended from driving indefinitely.

Mark Lloyd McDermott, HMCS Naden, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving laid after a high speed chase by police at about 12.40 a.m. today.

Alex Pritchard, 1268 Pembroke, called police to say a car had smashed into a wooden fence at that address and left the scene.

Sent to investigate in a patrol car, Cons. James Smith encountered the accused's car travelling without lights north on Fernwood. He turned the prowler around and gave chase.

He told the court he paced McDermott at speeds between 65 and 70 miles an hour east on Walnut, where the pursued car mounted a curb and travelled 300 feet on the boulevard, tore out a hedge valued at $100 at 1461 Walnut, mounted a seven-foot mound of earth and came to rest about 12 feet off the street.

Brought to the police station, McDermott was unable to stand and had to be carried into the charge office by two policemen.

The drunken driving charge, rarely laid in view of the scope of the Criminal Code's impaired driving section, carries with it mandatory imprisonment.

HMCS Cordova Goes Into Reserve At Brief Ceremony

HMCS Cordova, Pacific Command coastal escort, today was paid off into reserve at a brief ceremony at HMC Dockyard.

The former "YMS" type minesweeper was built at Chicago in 1942, was bought by the RCN in 1952, modernized at the Dockyard here, and joined the Canadian fleet in 1953.

Up until January, 1955, the Cordova was used as a tender to HMCS Discovery, the reserve establishment at Vancouver. Later she became a unit of the Second Canadian Reserve Training Squadron, with HMC Ships Digby and Brockville.

The squadron was re-designated the 12th Canadian Escort Squadron late in 1955, and in September, 1956, was dissolved.

The Cordova then was assigned to the Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron, and served on operations from as far south as San Francisco to Alaskan waters.

Her last CO before she went into reserve was Lieut. Russell Freeman.

MISS JESSIE CROSSLEY . . . "I won't leave my cat."

'CALL OFF YOUR ARMY'

Angry Old Lady Defies Fire Chief

By DINAH KERR

A tiny, 82-pound old lady with a whispery voice is defying the city fire chief, building inspector and the entire zoning board.

She will not move from her basement suite which has been condemned as a fire trap.

And in an acid letter to Mayor Percy Scurrah, read before city council Thursday, she asks him to "please try to call off your army of inspectors, inquisitors and ejectors until there is reason for their demands."

Fine View

Miss Jessie Louise Crossley, 73, has lived alone for 18 years in her little room "with a wonderful view" in a dark basement at 430 Dallas Road.

Not much light penetrates the lace-curtained windows past a forest of plants and flowers. The walls are covered with pictures, a single cot huddles in one corner, fresh linen is hung on strings across the room, a naked lightbulb hangs from the ceiling.

But it is Miss Crossley's home and she loves it.

Now she has been told to move because required height of a ceiling in a basement suite is 7'6".

The ceiling in her room is 6' on one side and 6'4" on the other.

'Army' Came

And after the fire chief inspected the home following a chimney fire in January, Miss Crossley was visited by the "army."

"They condemned practically everything," she said today.

"The fire chief said 'Oh, nobody is going to live down here' and went out."

Miss Crossley doesn't understand their attitude.

"The city has condemned so many homes of elderly people that it isn't safe to move anywhere," she said.

"These zoning men come here and compare my place with their own homes, and then they say it isn't fit to live in, but I'm comparing it to other rooms I've seen. This is my home and I don't intend to move unless an ideal spot is found—and I don't think anyone will ever find it."

She thinks her own little room is ideal. Since she lives in the basement she doesn't have to climb stairs.

Big Pantry

She cooks on a gas plate outside the room and she has a huge pantry, a saving since she can buy a lot of food at one time.

She washes clothes at a tub on the other side of the basement and bathes in a big tin pan.

But most of all she loves her home because she is allowed to keep her very dear cat "Mitzi."

All her family has died and she has only the cat for company. Not many rooming places allow cats and Miss Crossley won't leave "Mitzi."

"I'd rather give up anything but that cat," she said. "He's so wonderfully intelligent that it's worth keeping him at any cost."

$13 Monthly

For the room with a view, the cat and the gas for her gas plate, she pays a total of $13 monthly from her $60 pension.

If she were forced to move, she could pay a bit more "depending on the amount of food I eat."

It's true the house could be called a fire hazard, but Miss Crossley is fighting the "army" anyway.

She shot one more volley:

"Tell them," she said, "that if they fixed the sidewalks on Lewis Street (adjoining the house) that it would be more to their credit than making our poor landlords practically tear their house apart."

$4.9 Million Cheque for B.C.

British Columbia soon will receive a cheque for $4,900,000 from the federal government as an adjustment on the last tax-rental agreement.

B.C. is one of four lucky provinces which were underpaid in the 1956-57 fiscal year. Highest amount owing next to B.C. is Ontario, with $3,700,000.

The tax-rental payments are calculated on the basis of population and gross national product. At the end of each year adjustments are necessary to bring payments in line with changed conditions.

Five provinces are in the position of owing the federal treasury money and the situation has placed at least one of them, Prince Edward Island, in serious financial straits.

To ease the situation, Finance Minister Harris announced Thursday that provinces overpaid under the agreements will be given five years to repay the central treasury.

Duncan Killer Fights for Life

Heavy Drinking Cited In Logger's Appeal Here

A fight for the life of Thomas Sydney Symes, 31-year-old Duncan logger, who is sentenced to be hanged May 14, opened in the B.C. Appeal Court here today.

Grounds for the appeal are that Symes shot and killed his friend Paul Richard Powling, 25, early on New Year's Day after he had been "drinking excessively" and because he found Powling with his arms around Symes' estranged wife in her bedroom at Duncan.

A. I. McDonald, appearing for Symes, submitted that Symes shot Powling with a rifle "in a moment of extreme provocation" and that he acted on an impulse while in a state of vanced drunkenness.

"The jury at his trial (in Nanaimo Assize Court) failed to give proper weight to the condition of the accused in the light of the amount of liquor he had consumed," Mr. McDonald told Mr. Justice H. I. Bird, Mr. Justice H. W. Davey and Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard, who are hearing the appeal.

ACT OF IMPULSE

"I propose to show that the shooting was an act of impulse consistent with a condition of drunkenness and the circumstances in which the accused found his wife and the deceased."

Mr. McDonald said he would also submit that the trial judge (Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson) had erred in his directions to the jury which found Symes guilty of murder.

He quoted the statements of witnesses at the trial to show that Symes had been drinking continuously throughout New Year's Eve.

After drinking whisky with a friend in his car he visited two Duncan beer parlors and later drank more hard liquor at the home of a friend.

One witness had described him as "drinking big drinks and not enjoying himself," Mr. McDonald said.

Powling was shot once through the heart in a boarding house room occupied by Symes' estranged wife. The death weapon was said to have been a .22 calibre rifle.

The shooting occurred around 5.45 a.m. and Symes was arrested at 1 p.m. following an extensive search by the RCMP.

"VERY SORRY"

The Assize Court jury at Nanaimo deliberated three and a half hours before returning its verdict.

Symes told Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson he was "very sorry" for Powling's family and his own family.

"I still say it was not premeditated," he said.

Symes said he "lost control" of himself but that he did not remember shooting Powling. Powling was found by an ambulance driver in the room of Ramona Symes, 27, with a fatal bullet wound in his chest.

Symes and his wife had separated Dec. 12 after four years of marriage.

A. G. McCulloch, crown counsel, described the shooting as "a cold-blooded and deliberate murder.

Voters' Group To Investigate Hall Extension

Proposal to build a $225,000 addition to Saanich Municipal Hall will be investigated by a special committee of the Saanich Voters' Association.

Committee was set up at an association meeting Thursday night and will report at the next meeting in mid-May.

The decision was reached as Councillor Joseph Casey was attacking Reeve Arthur Ash, who opposes the plan, as a "man who has gone overboard."

Coun. Casey objected to a letter sent by the reeve to the Department of Municipal Affairs seeking to stall a council request to transfer $95,000 from reverted land tax sales for the hall addition.

Mr. Casey claimed that Reeve Ash doesn't abide by the democratic rules of government "where the majority counts."

"Since when does the will of one man impose on the rest of us?"

He denied there was any attempt to rush the project through.

The request for the transfer of funds was being made now to avoid a five or six-month delay later if the project is approved, he said.

Council must have a starting point for the plan, Mr. Casey said, and for that reason had asked a firm of architects to draw up detailed plans and estimates.

"I might not even like them myself," Mr. Casey said.

OUT OF HAT

The councillor said he had "pulled the $225,000 figure out of a hat" and the final cost is not known.

Mr. Casey charged that Reeve Ash had been elected on a platform of increasing office space at the municipal hall "and hasn't done a thing about it."

Reeve Ash in his letter to Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black formally protested council's action and urged the government to withhold its decision on the tax money until ratepayers are given a chance to vote on the project.

The reeve pointed out that he had the power to veto the project for a month at least but indicated he was reluctant to take such action.

Barge Freight Service Starts To Quatsino Area

Island Tug and Barge Ltd. has inaugurated a new covered barge freight service from Vancouver to ports in the Quatsino Sound area, northwest Vancouver Island.

First tow left Vancouver Tuesday, arrived at the Quatsino area Thursday.

The barge used on the service was especially built for the purpose, with its own loading ramp and fork trucks to load and off-load cargo. It is refrigerated to handle perishables and frozen foods as well as general cargo.

A regularly-scheduled departure from Vancouver each Tuesday is planned. The tug Sea Lion, which took the first tow this week, averages a little over 10 knots. Route is up the east coast of the Island, through Seymour Narrows and around Cape Scott.

Ports now being serviced are: Winter Harbor, Mahatta River, Quatsino, Coal Harbor, Holberg, Jeune Landing, Yreka and Port Alice.

E. F. Le Quesne, Langford Leader, Succumbs at 60

Ernest Frederick Le Quesne, 60, a leader in athletic and community affairs in Langford, died in hospital here today.

A partner in the Langford Garage from 1924 to 1940, in the last 10 years he has been a section manager in McLennan, McFeely & Prior Ltd.

He was a past president of Langford Community Club, former Langford school trustee, active member of badminton and tennis circles in his community, and veteran of both world wars, having held an army commission in each.

Surviving are his widow, Catherine, at home on Leigh Road; three sons, John H. and G. Ritchie, Langford, and Allan E., at home; and four grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at McCall's Monday at 1 p.m., and will be followed by cremation.

Reciprocal Car Insurance Western Plan

Reciprocal "pink card" auto insurance agreements may be drawn up soon by B.C., Alberta and Manitoba.

George Lindsay, superintendent of motor-vehicles, said today B.C. has been trying to obtain an arrangement with the two other provinces for the last two years.

Alberta Highways Minister Gordon Taylor said this week agreements may be drawn up within the next two months.

Main stumbling block to the plan is the basic minimum insurance required in each province.

On July 1, the B.C. floor will be raised to $2,000 property damage, $10,000 for injury to one person and $20,000 for injuries to two or more persons in the same accident.

Alberta, which adopted the pink-card system last October, was not scheduled to reach that level until July of next year.

Under the plan, a driver who cannot produce a pink card on demand which shows proof of financial responsibility, will have his car impounded by police.

The reciprocal agreement would enable persons insured in one province who are involved in accidents in another to have their insurance cards recognized.

Saskatchewan has a compulsory, government auto insurance plan.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—In 1856 the first district church was established in Victoria. It was built by the Hudson's Bay Co. Where was it situated?—E. Y.

A.—A wooden structure, it stood on top of Cathedral Hill, which site is now a parking lot. When Bishop George Hills, consecrated in Westminster Abbey in 1860, came to this island to take possession of his diocese, he made it his cathedral and it served as such until destroyed by fire in 1869. It was succeeded by the wooden Christ Church Cathedral, which had square towers on the west front and was the cathedral till it was demolished on the consecration of the present stone cathedral in 1929.

Transit Firms Brace For Big Easter Rush

Transportation companies are ready for the first big travel weekend of the spring, the Easter influx and exodus of holidayers on and off the Island.

A survey of experts today showed they are expecting a "normally" busy Easter—facilities taxed to the straining point, but all travellers cared for.

The travel movement will start early Thursday afternoon, say travel agents, as workers with Friday and Saturday off steal a few extra hours to get a head start.

It will reach its peak Thursday night and Friday morning, ease off to normal Saturday.

Holidayers returning to their jobs will be divided about equally between Sunday and Easter Monday, is the expectation, as not all workers have Monday off.

As in previous years, Trans-Canada Air Lines is prepared to run extra flights where needed. Six extra sections have been pencilled in for Thursday, more will be added if necessary.

B.C. Coast Service of the CPR expects to take care of passengers and cars on its regularly-scheduled services, Victoria-Vancouver, Victoria-Seattle and Nanaimo-Vancouver.

Black Ball Lines will also maintain regular service, Departure Bay-Horseshoe Bay.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines will add extra sections to all up-Island services as required.

Travel agents report that many Victorians are starting spring vacations of a week or more with the Easter holiday weekend.

Bunny-faced Cranberry Salads are tulip red and tangy. Serve them for the Easter dinner along with a tender baked ham or a glorious roast turkey.

Bunny Faces for the Easter Ham

Bunny faces on cranberry sauce make a delightful treat for Easter dinner whether you're serving tender-baked ham or a glorious roast turkey. Bunny-faced cranberry salads are fun, too, because the children can help. How they'll love eating these bright-faced bunnies.

Cranberry sauce has such a perfect tang for ham or turkey and its gay color makes eating a dream. "Brighten your plate with cranberry sauce" is a rule to follow all year round. What a difference color makes in a meal.

Here's the recipe:

BUNNY-FACED CRANBERRY SALADS

Two (1-lb each) cans jellied cranberry sauce, cream cheese softened with milk, celery leaves.

Open one end of each jellied cranberry sauce can. Punch a hole in other end to let in air. Slide molds out onto cutting board. Cut six slices from each mold. For each salad use one slice as the face. Cut a pair of ears from each of the other six slices. Place ears on face. With cream cheese in a pastry tube draw eyes, nose, mouth and whiskers on face. Make a bow tie with two celery leaves. Makes 6 bunny-faced salads.

Any time of the year make this colorful salad with jellied cranberry sauce:

RED, WHITE AND YELLOW SALAD

One 12-oz. package cottage cheese, 1 tablespoon heavy cream, dash of salt, ¼ cup chopped pecans, 2 tablespoons chopped celery, 8 slices canned pineapple, 1 (1-pound) can jellied cranberry sauce.

Mash cottage cheese with a fork. Add cream, salt, nuts and celery. Place pineapple slices on lettuce leaves. Top with cottage cheese mixture, spread evenly. Cut eight thin slices from the jellied cranberry sauce. Place one slice on top of each salad. Top with small spoonful of cottage cheese mixture in the centre. Makes eight salads.

Works of Composers' Group Heard At Alumni Association Musicale

Musical compositions by members of the composers' group, Victoria Chapter of the Alumni Association, Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto, were featured at a gathering Tuesday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Johns, Somass Drive.

The program, convened by Malcolm Hamilton, presented choral numbers written by Arthur Lewis and performed by the Madrigal Singers under direction of Miss Margery Vaughan. Songs by Mrs. A. G. Dobbie and a setting of the Twenty-Third Psalm by Miss Vaughan were sung by Mrs. R. K. Sturgeon. The Sidney-North Saanich Choral Society presented three selections written by their director, Eric Edwards, who also performed his Sonata for Violin and Piano, with violinist, Mrs. J. W. E. Hunt. Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Gordon Tracy, cellist, took part in the closing choral number, "Ode to the Victor", by Eric Edwards.

Preceding the music, D. B. Gaddes spoke on the art of composition, using records to illustrate. Mrs. C. H. Denike, president of Victoria Chapter, thanked those taking part. A general meeting of the chapter was held prior to the musicale, with Mrs. Denike in the chair.

A report on the recent Roubakine recital was given by convener, Mrs. Gough. In this connection, a letter from Frederick Sylvester, registrar of the conservatory thanking the chapter for presenting the recitalist was read by Miss Noel Smith, representative. Another successful affair was a fashion show and tea held under the auspices of the Hudson's Bay Company. Convener, Mrs. T. W. A. Gray was thanked for her help.

A motion was carried to offer the chapter's Marian MacGovern Scholarship in competition in the Open Beethoven Sonata Class this year at the Music Festival.

The evening closed with a social hour, Mrs. J. Bough and Mrs. T. W. A. Gray presiding at the supper table, beautifully decorated with spring blooms. Refreshments were arranged and donated by Mme. Lavertue of Sooke Harbor House.

Garden Party—It was decided at a recent meeting of the guild, Church of St. George the Martyr, Cadboro Bay, to hold the annual garden party early in July in the church grounds. Report given by Mrs. R. B. Howland on the flower show to be held in the parish hall on May 4 showed a large number of entries already received. Entry forms and information may be obtained from Miss M. Turner, 7-2707 or 7-2667. Tea conveners are Mrs. H. V. Hummel, Mrs. C. Clark, Mrs. H. E. Geddes and Mrs. E. H. Strickland. Mrs. R. H. B. Ker will officially open the show at 2 p.m.

DEATH WAS NEAR

Driver Rams Tombstone, Escapes Injury

His car missed a curve, plunged through a hedge and was heavily damaged when it smashed into a tree and a tombstone at Ross Bay Cemetery Thursday at about 3.30 p.m., but driver Edward H. King, 69, 637 Transit, was unhurt.

He told police he blacked out as he approached the end of May Street where it intersects at right angles with Memorial. The car, out of control, went its own way from there.

Police took King to Jubilee Hospital where he was examined and discharged.

He said it was his first accident in nearly half a century of driving.

Court Reserves Judgment in 'Iron Boot' Case

The B.C. Appeal Court reserved judgment Thursday in an appeal lodged by John Osborne Dow, 26, who is now serving 18 months hard labor in Oakalla Prison for attempted house-breaking.

Dow was hit on the head with a weight-lifter's iron boot while alledgedly attempting to break into a basement suite in Saanich.

Brian Johnson, 3055 Millgrove, said he threw the boot when a strange face appeared at his window around midnight, Oct. 23.

It crashed through the window and struck Dow on the head. Dow was identified by police because of his head injuries, but he claims these were caused by falling in his bath tub.

The Sikh Missionary, who was invited to Victoria by the Punjabi Akali Singh Temple, 2721 Graham Street will arrive here from Vancouver Saturday.

Many 'Cures' Fail to End Girl's Hiccups

VANCOUVER (CP) — Scores of sympathizers have telephoned their favorite remedies to Joyce Brown, but she still has the hiccups.

Miss Brown, 16-year-old Vancouver High School student, has been hiccuping on and off for three years. Attacks sometimes last more than a week.

Doctors and chiropractors have been unsuccessful in finding a cure. But that didn't stop the Vancouver public from trying.

Many of the cures involved various ways of drinking water. Some samples:

Boil chicken gizzards in water and drink the mixture like tea.

Drink water through a linen handkerchief.

Drink water standing on your head.

Plug your ears and let someone feed you cold water.

One caller suggested sniffing pepper, then sneezing.

A woman visited Joyce to prescribe drinking carbolic acid mixed with glycerine in distilled water.

Joyce's father said doctors still hope to find a cure but in the meantime the suggestions are not going unheeded.

"We've already tried a lot of them and we'll try some of the others," he said.

Rocket Flies 126 Miles High

WHITE SANDS, N.M. (AP) —A rocket carried signal-sending instruments 126 miles into the sky Thursday in a preliminary test for the earth satellite project. John W. Townsend, Jr., chief scientist at the U.S. naval research laboratory, said he was extremely pleased with the behavior of what was termed a "satellite package." The instruments started sending back signals to ground observers 20 seconds after the rocket started its nine-minute flight.

Recent studies of Canadian Indians sponsored by the Canadian Cancer Society show that Indians have less skin cancer than do whites. One explanation of this may be that the pigment in the skin is a protection against the sun's rays. Past studies with American Negroes show that they, too, have much less skin cancer than do whites.

Overdraft Plight Harasses Hospital

'Two Years Behind' Financing By Government Hit at Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Board chairman R. H. Inkster of the Nanaimo General Hospital says the hospital is operating in a continual "state of overdraft" because of the present financing system.

Mr. Inkster told the board's inaugural meeting that hospitals are being financed by the government two years behind the year when expenses are incurred.

Also, financial years of the hospitals and the B.C. government did not coincide.

NO GUARANTEE

"If a hospital incurs any additional salary expenses during the first six months of the year, there is no guarantee that these salaries will be met when the approved budget is notified to the hospital."

A deficit incurred in 1956 would not be audited by government auditors until 1957, he said. Any deficit approved would not be included until the health department's 1958 budget.

Mr. Inkster said there is no guarantee that any increase awarded during present negotiations with nurses and operating engineers will be met by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

He proposed a province-wide salary negotiating committee be set up to handle a standard contract.

'Wild Night' Preceded Slaying

CAMPBELL RIVER—A wild night at a St. Patrick's eve dance on Quadra Island, a few minutes by speedboat from this village, preceeded the slaying of William Wallace, 21, witnesses testified at a preliminary hearing Thursday.

Vernon Ernest Breckton, 34, of Vancouver is charged with murdering Wallace, a Cape Mudge Indian.

Dr. J. Depew testified that Wallace died instantly of internal bleeding caused by two deep knife wounds in the back.

Dr. Ross McNeely, a pathologist at Victoria's Royal Jubilee Hospital, said samples of blood from Wallace were of the same blood group as stains found on earth at Quathiaski Cove, on Quadra Island.

LICKED ONE

Benjamin Billie, one of the Cape Mudge band, said Wallace was with a group of Indians who got into a fight with two white men.

"We licked one guy and one got away," said Billie.

Max Loch, about 45, of Vancouver, said he went to Quadra Island with a white companion named Frenchie. When he was walking away from the dance hall, he was set upon by assailants and later had to have six stitches in his head.

Evidence of fights in the dance hall or outside it was given by Robert G. Grafton, of Heriot Bay, Quadra Island; Edward Cecil Mitchell, and Thomas Roland Grafton, loggers. Grafton said he saw Breckon with a man who had been beaten up.

Several young Indians testified that there were fights.

HALIFAX (CP) — Adverse shipping conditions off the Cape Breton coast eased somewhat on Thursday as four sealing vessels drifted slowly toward open water after being trapped in ice for two weeks. ADDITION OPENED OFFICIALLY

N. Saanich Pupils Get Half-Day Off

North Saanich High School, enlarged by a new gymnasium-auditorium, library, offices and four classrooms costing a total of $220,000, was officially opened Thursday night by Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

Mr. Peterson told the assembled students and parents that North Saanich school population has increased 112 per cent in the past 10 years.

700 NEW ROOMS

Over the whole of the province, 700 new classrooms are needed to accommodate an increase in the school population of 21,000 children.

The aim of education today, Mr. Peterson said, "is not merely to teach children to read, write and calculate, but to develop the child in all his aspects to enable him to be a person of good character.

"If we cannot teach our children to learn to live together and co-operate with their fellow men in this shrunken world, then there is not much point in educating them at all."

The minister made a hero of himself by granting the students a half-day off today.

NANAIMO—Sixteen-year-old Gerald Joseph Roy, a Brannan Lake Industrial School inmate, was sentenced to 14 months in the young offenders' unit at Oakalla prison Thursday on two charges of auto theft and one of breaking and entering.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts warned the youth in open court that "if you keep going as you are, you are likely to end up in the B.C. penitentiary."

STOLE CAR

Police said Roy "eloped" from the institution Dec. 2 with two other boys. They stole a car, and were picked up in Courtenay.

The youth was charged and returned to the school. Three months later he again left and stole another car. At this time he broke into a South Wellington cafe. He was picked up on the mainland.

The accused pleaded guilty to all charges.

CANADIAN DIPLOMAT ASSASSINATED

Knifed to Death In Indo-China

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

OTTAWA—Albert Edward Lucien Cannon, 39-year-old Canadian member of the International Truce Supervisory Commission in Indo-China, has been found dead of knife wounds in Saigon, South Viet Nam, the External Affairs Department reported today.

Although full circumstances surrounding Mr. Cannon's death were not released Reuters News Agency said in a dispatch from Paris that it learned Cannon was assassinated.

Saigon reports said he was found dead in his bed.

He had been struck several blows in the chest with a sharp weapon.

Reporting to the Commons, Health Minister Paul Martin said:

"Our information is that Mr. Cannon was stabbed by some unknown assailant during the night in his residence."

He said the Canadian government had been advised that the South Viet Nam police had started an investigation.

The Canadian government will be represented at the investigation by "one of the legal members" from the Canadian staff at Hanoi, Martin added.

Mr. Martin extended "the sincere sympathy of the government and I know of every member of this House" to Mr. Cannon's wife, his two children and his mother.

Villa Guarded Day and Night

The compound where Mr. Cannon died comprises seven villas surrounded by a wall and guarded night and day by Viet Nam police. It was built before the revolt by a wealthy Chinese for his daughters.

Special policemen were posted inside the compound after the body was discovered and denied newsmen entrance to Mr. Cannon's apartment.

Mr. Cannon's body was taken to the French hospital in Saigon where it was placed in the mortuary chapel.

Thomas Carter, Canadian commissioner with the Viet Nam control commission, is due to arrive in Saigon Saturday from Hanoi, North Viet Nam.

Mr. Cannon, a native of Quebec City and wartime squadron leader in the RCAF, was in charge of the Saigon office of the Viet Nam truce commission. Saigon is the capital of South Viet Nam.

Known by the nickname "Bruddy," Mr. Cannon was posted to Saigon from Ottawa last December. The truce commission comprises Canadian, Indian and Polish members.

Canada has helped supervise the armistice in the three associated states of Indo-China—Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia—since the summer of 1954 soon after the truce was achieved at Geneva between Communist and French forces.

Some 400 Canadians have served in Indo-China and there now are about 140 there. Most are soldiers forming mobile and field inspection teams.

Non-Communist South Viet Nam has never recognized terms of the armistice agreement on the grounds it did not sign it.

Canadian officials have reported that the truce commission in South Viet Nam has not received the full co-operation of the South Viet Nam government.

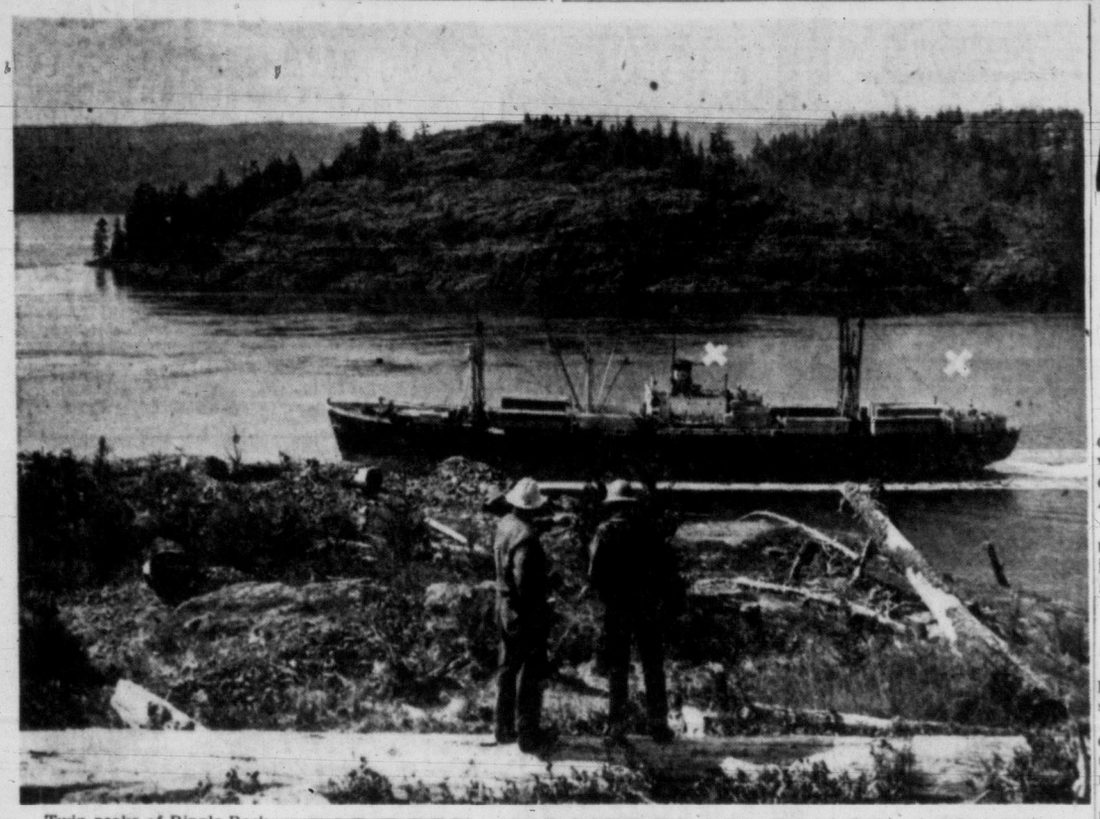
South Viet Nam's hostility to the armistice agreement, which divided the state into Communist north and non-Communist south, showed itself last year in at least three demonstrations against commission teams. The demonstrations took the form of mud-throwing and shouting but no commission member was severely injured.

Offices of the commission in Saigon also were damaged by a mob last year.

Mr. Cannon graduated from Laval University as a bachelor of arts in 1939 and shortly afterwards joined the RCAF as a pilot officer. He served in the United Kingdom and Newfoundland during the war and was discharged in 1945 with the rank of squadron leader.

After joining the external affairs department in 1946, his first posting was with the Canadian high commissioner's office at St. John's—before Newfoundland entered Confederation.

In 1948 he went to New York as vice-consul, returning to external affairs headquarters here in 1950. In 1953 he was appointed second secretary at the Embassy in Buenos Aires and became first secretary.



Twin peaks of Ripple Rock, set almost in middle of southern entrance of Seymour Narrows, are marked by crosses in photograph, which illustrates constriction caused by hidden menace. BIGGEST INDUSTRIAL BLAST NEARS

A SPECIAL TIMES SERIES

Miners Batter Last Round Of Ripple Rock Knockout

(One of the most intriguing "construction" jobs ever attempted in British Columbia is blowing the top off Ripple Rock in the vital waterway of Seymour Narrows. It is of special interest to Victorians historically because at one time it was thought Ripple Rock could form a natural pier for a bridge from Victoria to the mainland. Thirty years ago a strong political fight initiated in Victoria prevented marine interests from going ahead with destruction of the rock. But now the big project is well under way and the "blow" designed to shift 65,000 tons of rock in one blast will take place either in the fall or early next spring.

In effect the job can be described as blowing up an underwater mountain. It is the first time anything like it has been attempted on this continent and the Times sent Island Editor Don Ingham and Photographer Bill Halkett to report on how the work is progressing. In a three-part series, beginning below, they tell the story.)

By DON INGHAM, Times Island Editor

Hard-rock miners, charged with the heavy responsibility of getting rid of Ripple Rock once and for all, are on the last lap of their $2,500,000 effort.

They have driven tunnels under water to points directly below each of the two pinnacles of the sullen menace that squats under the surface of Seymour Narrows threatening every vessel using the narrow, dangerous, tide-torn waters.

Today they are "mucking out" a foundation under the north pinnacle which will carry the timbers and hoist gear required to drill upward 300 feet into the heart of the rock. Already one of the two raises to be drilled has been driven upward about 40 feet—as far as the miners could go without scaffolding.

(In miner's parlance, a "shaft" is created by starting at the top and working downward. A "raise" is made by starting at the bottom and working upward.)

Cram Tunnels With Explosives

When they reach a level in the rock that is 40 feet below low water mark, they will drill horizontal tunnels and branch tunnels, cram them with explosives, and pull the switch.

It is hoped the resulting blast will trim the tops off the two pinnacles and permit ships to use the full 2,500-foot width of the pass at its southern entrance, rather than just the eastern side.

Vancouver firms, Northern Construction Company and J. W. Stewart Ltd., the construction firm, and Boyles Bros. Drilling Co. Ltd., that does all exploratory diamond drilling on the project, have set up a camp on Quadra Island. It is nine miles north of Campbell River by boat, and photographer Bill Halkett and myself arrived there in time for a massive lunch in the camp cookhouse.

The shaft is on Maud Island, connected to Quadra Island by a causeway about 50 yards long, built of waste rock taken from the tunnel.

TRIES TO DELAY PROROGATION

Probe of Howe's Position Urged

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF whip Stanley Knowles said today dissolution of Parliament should be delayed pending a Commons inquiry into what he termed Trade Minister Howe's connections with three wealthy Canadian companies.

He also said in the Commons that Mr. Howe should either resign as an executor of the estate of the late Sir James Dunn, former head of Algoma Steel Corporation, or as a member of the cabinet.

The member for Winnipeg North Centre said Mr. Howe has connections with Algoma Steel, A. V. Roe (Canada) Ltd., and McIntyre Porcupine Gold Mines Ltd.

"The closing of Parliament should be delayed until a committee of the House of Commons can be set up to investigate all aspects of this matter," Mr. Knowles said.

Parliament was expected to prorogue later today with dissolution to follow immediately for a June 10 federal election.

OTHER POSTS

Mr. Knowles said the trade minister was consulted about the appointment of J. D. Barrington, president and managing director of Polymer Corporation Ltd., a Crown corporation, as a director of McIntyre Porcupine.

In addition, W. J. Bennett, head of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd. and Northern Transportation Company Ltd.—all Crown corporations under Mr. Howe—still was a director of Investors Mutual of Canada Ltd.

Mr. Knowles said Prime Minister St. Laurent had stated Mr. Bennett notified the investment company March 1 of his intention to resign from its board of directors. At the moment Mr. Bennett still was head of three Crown corporations and a director of an investment firm.

Although Mr. Bennett said he

U.S. WOULD LIMIT USES OF URANIUM

LONDON (AP)—The United States proposed today that all production of fissionable materials after April 1, 1958, be confined to non-weapons purposes.

Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, suggested to the United Nations disarmament subcommittee that technicians begin Sept. 1 to study how such an agreement could be enforced.

Sources inside the subcommittee room said Stassen recommended that an agreed inspection system begin to function March 1, 1958, or as soon as possible thereafter upon the ratification of necessary agreements.

PM Rejects Call for Big 3 Atom Talk

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime minister St. Laurent today rejected a CCF suggestion that he ask President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan and Russian Premier Bulganin to a conference in Canada on the hazards of atomic radiation.

A. M. Nicholson (CCF, Mackenzie), said he based his suggestion on the news Russia has tested another nuclear weapon. Mr. St. Laurent said he could not take the responsibility of issuing such an invitation at this time.

Norman's Red Links Known Pearson Says

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today that Herbert Norman during his university days associated openly with persons thought to be Communists.

Mr. Pearson added in the Commons that Mr. Norman, late Canadian ambassador to Egypt, made no secret of these associations and they were known to the Canadian government when he was employed by the external affairs department.

Mr. Norman's record was carefully checked and rechecked. Mr. Pearson said he examined personally all the security information himself and reached the conclusion Mr. Norman was a loyal Canadian whom the government could trust.

RECHECKED

After the U.S. Senate internal security subcommittee made its allegations against Mr. Norman in 1951, the Canadian government had rechecked his record and decided to retain his services.

Every allegation made against Mr. Norman had been examined in detail and the gov-

Mayor's Parley Stirs New Hope For Joint Centennial Project

The Greater Victoria Centennial spotlight today swung back to the Royal Jubilee Hospital wing.

There was new hope for agreement by Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt.

But it will be the hospital or four separate projects.

Mayor Percy Scurrah hinted he may swing from an auditorium to the hospital to establish Greater Victoria unity.

These were the indicated results of a meeting today in the mayor's office of senior municipal and provincial elected representatives on the Centennial problem.

Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt pointed out Victoria is the only stumbling block on the path to a united project.

The outside municipalities reaffirmed their determination that if a joint project is agreed upon it will be the $1,800,000 Jubilee wing.

They asked the mayor to go back to the Victoria council and ask a vote be taken.

RESERVES OPINION

Mayor Scurrah said after the meeting:

"I am reserving my opinion. I'm not in agreement with the hospital as a project, but I may go along with it if it will set an example of intermunicipal unity."

He would not guess what his council's reaction will be.

FBI's Hoover Denies Release Of Norman Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI said today it did not give any data concerning Canadian diplomat E. Herbert Norman to the Senate internal security sub-committee.

In response to inquiries, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover issued this statement:

"The FBI has not made available to the Senate internal security sub-committee any reports or files or information pertaining to the late Dr. Egerton Herbert Norman."

In Washington Thursday a staff member of the sub-committee released a statement by chairman James Eastland and Senator William E. Jenner saying the FBI had corroborated the sub-committee's information about Norman's alleged Communist ties in 1939 and 1940. Subsequently efforts were made to have the statement withdrawn.

Hoover's statement came amid controversy as to whether the state department had cleared for publication a sub-committee transcript of closed-door testimony linking Norman with Communists — allegations on which he had already been cleared by his own government.

A state department spokesman disputed statements from senators that the department had cleared the transcript for publication.

Robert Morris, sub-committee counsel, said the state department had not asked for an opportunity to check any future testimony about foreign officials before publication.

SUGGESTS CHECK

In the light of this controversy and confusion, Senator Jacob Javits (Rep.-N.Y.) proposed today that any testimony involving foreign diplomats received in Senate inquiries be withheld from publication until it is checked by the Senate foreign relations committee.

Javits introduced a resolution for this procedure, saying it would aid in preventing a recurrence of controversy such as developed over Norman.

The sub-committee's release of closed-door testimony linking Norman to communism after he already had been cleared by his own government aroused angry protests in Canada and elsewhere.

Norman, who was Canadian ambassador to Egypt, committed suicide in Cairo after publication of the sub-committee transcript.

The New York Times says the Norman case data has been traced to a U.S. army intelligence unit.

The newspaper, in a dispatch from Washington by E. W. Kenworthy, says "it was learned that an army G-2 report drawn up in 1950 had come into the sub-committee's hands.

RCMP MENTIONED

"This report contained security material provided by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Some of the material was attributed to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police."

The Times says the material in the army report came up in the sub-committee hearing March 12, but in the transcript of the hearing, published March 14, "the verbatim material in the army document, with the clues to its origin, was omitted."

Sub-committee members were not immediately available for comment.

Eastland and Jenner have said that "before the testimony which contained references to ambassador Norman was released, the transcript was cleared for publication by the state department."

Members and visiting brothers of the Henderson Lodge, No. 84, A.F. and A.M., G.R.B.C., are requested to attend the funeral of our late brother William Davenport, at St. Phillip's Church Hall, 2928 Eastdowne Road, on Saturday, April 13, 1957.

Saskatchewan Project Talks Progress—PM

OTTAWA (CP) —Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated today that federal-Saskatchewan negotiations on the proposed South Saskatchewan River power-irrigation project have reached the point of discussing power penstocks and how Saskatchewan contributions should be paid.

But he reiterated in the Commons the key point: that the federal government has not yet decided the project is a self-liquidating one.

In the prime minister's words, it would have to "return more to the economy than it takes out in interest and amortization costs."

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker had asked Mr. St. Laurent for a report on recent negotiations with Saskatchewan. The prime minister said he wrote recently to Premier Douglas referring to these two points which were "still undetermined as far as the government of Saskatchewan was concerned."

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

'Whan That Aprille . . .

A SOFT rain is falling outside the window, and inside my head a broken record keeps turning out: "Whan that Aprille with his shoures sote. The droghte of Marche hath perced to the rote . . . Than longen folk to goon on pilgrimages."

Stott

Nothing I'd like better than to "goon on pilgrimages" right now.

A few evenings ago I saw some more of Bill Straith's color shots of Scandinavian countries, the British Isles and Hawaii. Bill is modest about his camera ability, though he shouldn't be. His practice of bringing his tours back with him and sharing them with friends here is thoughtful and generous.

But it sets a man gazing out of his office window at the soft April rain and fumbling with the few familiar lines from Chaucer.

SONG OF THE ISLANDS

It's the same reaction he gets from riding the bus home with Mrs. Art Unwin, recently back from Honolulu and bubbling over with enthusiasm for the Islands. Or riding downtown with Eric Brinkworth, who spent a holiday in the sun by Diamond Head a few weeks ago and is quite ready to go back to the tourist equivalent of that "little grass shack."

A man digging in his waterfront garden, looks out to a freighter plowing down the Strait, outbound to ports he doesn't know but endows with mystery. He lifts his head to watch an airliner winging away from Victoria and pictures travelers aboard starting their journeys to foreign corners of the world.

It makes his feet heavier in the still wet ground, his dissatisfaction greater with the compost pile that didn't compost.

He goes indoors and hears the youngsters reviving a new oldie: "I wave my hand to all I pass and they wave back to me." Even the kids respond to the theme of the "Wanderer" at this season.

They don't respond with the same enthusiasm for the work that piles up in April—the grass that needs cutting, the soil that needs turning, the house that needs cleaning—and the old man who really should have a trip to freshen him for chores abounding.

Still, if he's philosophical enough, a man can draw a vicarious enjoyment from the tours his friends and acquaintances have made. He can share their anticipation over trips to come. He can even have his own little dream of journeys in wishful prospect for himself.

CHEAP TRIP

It costs him nothing to pore over a map of England and create his own fantasy of a canoe trip through the canals and waterways of that country. He can recall pictures of the heather of Scotland, its lochs and hills and imagine himself, with suitable companions walking through the more picturesque regions.

He can absorb the greens of Ireland, the down-to-earth living of its country people and the fay mysticism which he applies to them.

He can, if he's imaginative enough, lie backwards over the edge of his bed and kiss the plaster of the adjoining wall, pretending its the Blarney Stone—and possibly with as much effect.

He can look at some of his own crude carpentry and have his own opinions on what keeps the Leaning Tower of Pisa standing. He can look across the Strait at the Olympics and fancy he's gazing at the Alps.

Just let his fancy play, and he can nod with daffodils and wonder what Wordsworth's Lake District has that is lacking in Beacon Hill Park.

That may not satisfy his longing to "goon on pilgrimages," but it may make the garden digging a little lighter, if he can get his mind on the soil. And if he can't, why there's lots of fat fishing worms in it, even if there doesn't appear to be any fish in the water anxious to take them at his offering.

UN CORRESPONDENCE

By CHARLES LYNCH

Canada in Women's Group

NEW YORK—The 11th session of the Commission On the Status of Women, which wound up here last week was organized by women, and attended by women, and dealt with problems about women.

Into this somewhat formidable atmosphere there ventured a mere man, who not only had the temerity to attend, but also to make a speech during the closing session.

This latter-day Daniel was the official observer for Canada, Mr. Derek C. Arnould, a handsome young man who calls Ottawa his home and, despite his mere 27 years, not one to be daunted by a room filled with perhaps the most articulate and, for all we know, the most intelligent women to be found anywhere in the world.

Lynch

Canada is not a member of the Commission On the Status of Women, which is an offshoot of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations. She has never sought membership, not because she has nothing to contribute on the subject, for Canadian women are proud of their status. Her reason for not seeking membership is rather the difficulty of the Canadian Constitutional position. A great many of the things that come before the commission for discussion would be regarded as provincial matters in Canada, and this is particularly true where the status of women in the Province of Quebec is concerned, especially in legal matters. So Canada has always been content to remain aloof from the commission, although she has acceded to the two international conventions that the commission has produced — one on the Political Rights of Women, and one on the Nationality of married women.

Bur Mr. Arnould, in his speech to the commission's closing session, had news for the delegates—Canada, he said, was now ready to announce her candidacy for a seat on the commission, and earnestly hoped that she would be elected.

Actually, her election is almost a certainty, for Australia, having sat on the commission since its inception in 1946, has signified her willingness to step down in Canada's favor.

In outlining Canada's credentials as a prospective member of the commission, Mr. Arnould cited the progress that Canadian women have made in the five fields into which the commission divides its work—political, social, educational, economic and legal. She feels her women stack up favorably against those of any other nation in the world.

Mr. Arnould, though no doubt flattered that a mere third secretary and advisor to the Permanent Canadian Mission to the United Nations should occupy the position of honor behind the "Canada" plaque and even get to make a speech, would no doubt have been happier if his place could have been taken by a Canadian woman, since it has become the tradition that women comprise the membership of the commission. In fact, it was proposed to the cabinet in Ottawa, once the decision had been reached to seek membership in the commission, that a woman observer be sent, and that she be the person who would become Canada's delegate if the commission is elected.

But when this proposal was discussed in Ottawa, it was felt that with an election coming up it would not be proper to indicate the government's choice for the post delegate to the commission on the status of women, since if the government lost the election it would leave whoever had been delegated in an awkward position. So the word came to the permanent mission to assign somebody.

There are even fewer women in the permanent mission here than there are in the Canadian parliament—in fact, there are none. So Mr. Arnould was chosen to attend the sessions as observer, and very pleasant work he has found it, too. The ladies, he says, know their stuff.

The economic and social council meets April 16, and probably will vote on Canada's membership by the end of the month.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Sow Annual Herbs, Plant Out in May

Annual herbs, such as dill, anise, chervil, sweet basil, summer savory and sweet marjoram, sown now will be ready to set out in the herb garden during May.

Hilda

Many of these annual herbs may be added generously to spring and summer salads. Chopped finely with chives, the young tender tips of dill and anise add an indefinable flavor to egg salad. Your family and guests will really be kept guessing on this one.

Chervil is a deliciously flavored herb, somewhat resembling parsley, but much finer in every way. Sweet basil is little known here, but is a gem among herbs for those who enjoy a more robust flavoring in soups and sauces.

The seed needs to be sown in heat, and the seedlings kept protected until the end of May before transplanting to the open.

Another of the more robust herbs is summer savory, which is a grand addition to the humble casserole of pork and beans, as well as in any bean soup.

The freshly crushed leaves are an excellent antidote for insect stings, including those of bees! Rub the leaves over the affected area as soon as the sting is felt. A second application is seldom necessary.

Sweet marjoram is the herb which goes well with practically all dishes, meat, vegetable and fish. A fresh sprig in season, or a small pinch of the dried leaves during winter, will make any canned vegetable or soup taste more like a fresh product.

A cold frame will suffice for sowing all of these excepting sweet basil which is the most tender, and summer savory which is rather slow to germinate.

When transplanted to the herb garden they will all enjoy a sunny position, sufficient water until established, and clean cultivation. No fertilizer is ncessary in ordinary garden soil.

MILITARILY, POLITICALLY

U.K. Defence Plan Disturbs Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has serious reservations about the new British defence policy, both from a military and a political standpoint.

It is realized here, however, that the economic reasons for the new policy, announced a week ago, are sound. It would be foolish, one informant said, for the United Kingdom to go bankrupt trying to support a defence policy it couldn't afford.

But officials doubt that Britain is wise in shifting suddenly to a defence so heavily founded on nuclear weapons and guided missiles.

The feeling here is that a substantial portion of the defence effort should continue to be based on conventional arms and forces to cope with local conflicts. Once a nation has committed itself to atomic weapons, it may be forced to use them first even in a local outbreak because those will be the only arms available.

AUXILIARIES OUT

Briefly, the new British policy entails reduction of the armed forces to 375,000 men by the end of 1962 from the present 690,000; a halt to development work on new jet fighters and bombers; gradual reduction of the strength of the British Army of the Rhine and of the RAF's Second Tactical Air Force in Europe by half by 1958; heavy concentration on guided missiles and nuclear weapons; and elimination of the RAF's and Royal Navy's auxiliary squadrons.

A report on national defence, tabled in the Canadian Commons Wednesday by Defence Minister Campney, says: "To prevent ground forces of the aggressor from overrunning adjacent NATO areas, it is essential to have a firm but flexible shield of NATO ground forces, together with tactical air support."

"It is also felt here that missiles are still largely unproved and that Britain may be placing too much reliance on them too early. In the Canadian defence department there is no intention of abandoning jet fighters in the foreseeable future.

MILES HONORED

VANCOUVER—Still recovering from a bullet wound, Constable Kenneth C. Miles was awarded the police commission's first certificate of merit by Mayor Fred Hume Thursday. Police chief George Archer related the story of Miles' attempt to capture a bank robber March 15. "Although fully aware that the man was armed and had already shot a bank employee, he refrained from using his . . . pistol because of the grave possibility of injury to innocent bystanders."

U.K. Ban on Subversives Stirs Storm in Singapore

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Singapore's former chief minister, David Marshall, offered today to resign from the governing Labor Front in protest against the agreement granting full internal self-government to this Crown colony.

Political leaders attacked a last-minute British proviso in the agreement which will bar "subversives" from the island's first all-elected parliament.

The agreement was signed in London Thursday by Singapore's Chief Minister Lim Yew Hock and Britain's Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd.

Marshall said he will not attend the welcome to Lim's delegation on Sunday, and that if the legislative assembly approves the agreement he will consider resigning and running as an independent Socialist.

Marshall, who as chief minister led a delegation to the unsuccessful constitutional talks in London last year, said "I feel as if everything I have built has become a sand castle that has been washed away."

COLONIAL RULE

He said the agreement simply prolongs colonial rule and does not give the elected government control of internal security.

Lim, 43-year-old anti-Communist, called Britain's surprise condition for the agreement a "shock." Lennox-Boyd said he "found it necessary to insist" on the anti-subversive measure.

The chief minister said the Crown colony's legislature has the right to reject the agreement, but declined to speculate on the position his party and other parties will take in the matter.

"This condition is a departure from normal democratic practice and we reiterate our opposition to it," Lim said before he left London.

Britain will retain responsibility for external defence and foreign relations under the agreement.

AGREEMENT REACHED

Agreement had been reached on all items in the month-long negotiations here when Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd informed the five-man, all-party Singapore delegation Wednesday of the mandatory ban on "subversives."

At a 25-minute ceremony Thursday morning to sign the final report, Lennox-Boyd said he had "found it necessary to insist" on the anti-subversive condition despite "strong opposition" from the Singapore delegates.

The agreement provides the framework for a new constitution giving the crown colony's 1,200,000 inhabitants internal self-government and limited control of trade and cultural relations. Britain would retain responsibility for external defence and foreign relations.

START IN LONDON

Drafting of the constitution is expected to start in London shortly. It would go into effect some time after next Jan. 1.

Britain has made it clear that Singapore will be free after the first elections to chart its own internal policy toward subversives. Until then, Lennox-Boyd said, Britain must guard against the "danger both to Singapore and the free world of the enemy within."

SYNOPSIS—Most of the province was covered by an Arctic air mass this morning. Temperatures overnight in the cold air varied from zero in the far northeastern sector of the province to 25 above in the Cariboo and East Kootenay. Milder temperatures prevail over the western and southern sectors of B.C. where overnight lows in the forties were reported.

There should be relatively little change in the present position of the cold and warm air masses in the next few days so that a continuation of the cloudy, showery weather over the coast and of the cold, cloudy weather in the northern and eastern interior is to be expected.

Fast Kills Film Star's Daughter

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Television and film star Larry (Buster) Crabbe today blamed the mysterious death of his 20-year-old daughter on the "subconscious condition in her mind that just couldn't let her eat."

Crabbe, a husky former U.S. Olympic Games swimming champion, told authorities his daughter, Caren Lynn Crabbe, 20, apparently starved to death as a result of an emotional disturbance which made food distasteful to her.

An attending physician was quoted by police as saying the swimmer's daughter, a graduate of Marlborough School for Girls and recently a student at the University of Southern California, apparently died after a five-week fast that left her weighing only 60 pounds.

The coroner's office asked police to investigate the circumstances of the girl's death after Dr. Carl Strouse, who had been attending her since March 4, declined to sign a death certificate. However, police said no investigation was being made because there was no indication of a crime.

MURDER TRIAL TO WEDDING

Couple Remarried After Ex-Hubby Freed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—A former Dallas, Tex., oil promoter and his ex-wife were remarried Thursday night five hours after he was cleared of murdering the man with whom she had admitted having a love affair.

Robert Sutton, 29, was acquitted of first-degree murder in the fatal shooting of William Kenneth Boone, 28, a former disc jockey. He then remarried Mrs. Freddie Davis Sutton, who testified in his defence at the trial.

Arizona's three-day waiting period was waived by a superior court ruling in order for the couple to wed.

When arrested last Dec. 4 following the shooting, Sutton told police Boone had "broken up my home." Boone died 33 days after he was shot by Sutton.

The defence sought to establish that Sutton had feared for his life.

Mrs. Sutton said she had registered at motels with Boone while still married to the defendant. She and Sutton, the parents of three children, left the courtroom hand-in-hand after he was acquitted.

Three-Month Terms

PORT ALBERNI—Two Vancouver youths, Michael Wayne Adams and Douglas Nystrom, pleaded guilty in police court here today to being in possession of stolen property, and were sentenced to three months each in Oakalla. They were arrested Thursday at Union Bay.

had never been consulted by the company in connection with uranium purchases, it was a fact Investors Mutual has investments in Canadian uranium mining companies.

"GIGANTIC DEAL"

Mr. Knowles said reports now indicate there appears to be a "gigantic deal" involving the purchase of Algoma by Avro Aircraft interests and McIntyre Porcupine.

Mr. Howe interrupted to say that to Mr. Knowles it apparently doesn't matter that the press reports are inaccurate.

Mr. Knowles asked Mr. Howe to deny there are any negotiations between Algoma and the other companies.

"I deny the substance of the press reports," Mr. Howe said.

However, he had received this information confidentially and could not pass it on to members. Brokers would like to know whether the reports were correct.

PM ANGRY

Earlier, Mr. St. Laurent spoke heatedly about a "suspicion" insinuated in remarks by Mr. Knowles.

Mr. Knowles asked whether the prime minister had discussed with Mr. Howe the propriety of the minister continuing as an executor of the Dunn estate.

"The answer is no," Mr. St. Laurent replied firmly.

Mr. Knowles asked whether the prime minister will discuss the matter with Mr. Howe.

The prime minister replied angrily: "I will do whatever I feel it is required to do to avoid having anyone subject to the kind of suspicions that are insinuated in many of these questions."

. . . RIPPLE ROCK

Led by Jack Buchanan, superintendent on the job and veteran of 20 years of hard-rock work, we were lowered 490 feet down the shaft to the tunnel.

The tunnel, sloped slightly upward from the shaft bottom to permit drainage, measures 1,900 feet to a diversion, where one tunnel goes 250 feet to the bottom of the north raise, and the other 480 feet to the south raise.

Along the sides of the tunnel, six feet wide and seven feet high, are a large duct to carry ventilating air, a small pipe for high pressure air to operate the drills, electric conduits, and a water line.

The tunnel is well lit, and quiet except for the constant gurgle and drip of water from the roof. It gives a misleading impression of underground work that is shattered rudely at the end of the north tunnel, where an incessant din and ghostly shapes emanate from a cloud of eerie yellow fog.

The fog is caused by condensation of the water vapor in the air that drives the drills. The "shapes" are miners, wearing rubber suits and hard hats, and the lights on their hats give the fog its glow. The noise is caused by everything—the hammer of drills, the hiss of air, clang of shovels, and the voices of men trying to make themselves heard.

Water Everywhere, Down Necks

Water is everywhere. It falls like rain, trickles down the walls, squirts from drill holes, seeps through fissures, runs down necks, and eventually runs down the sloping tunnel to a sump pump at the bottom of the shaft, 90 feet lower than the tunnel and the lowest point of the underground workings.

It is certainly wet, but not unusually so, according to the superintendent.

"Through the centuries water seeps down to all the crevices in rock," he said, "and our tunnel opens them up. Eventually some of the trickles dry up, but others will run constantly. The water here is slightly salty—not much."

'Perfectly Straightforward' Job

With the exception of the fact that the object of this "mine" is its own destruction, this project is a simple tunnelling job, and has been "perfectly straightforward," according to Col. C. B. North, project manager and over-all boss of the job at the site.

Although Col. North makes the job seem easy—from the point of view of an expert, of course—he conveys the impression that everything possible has been done, is being done, and will be done to make sure that it is absolutely right.

"We only have one chance," he said. "When we touch off the blast late this fall or early in 1958, it has to be right. We'll get no second try."

(Saturday's instalment of the Ripple Rock saga to date will describe what will be the world's largest known peacetime industrial blast, and precautions being taken to ensure its success.)

Fort Rodd Hill Backer Hurls Debate Challenge

A challenge for public debate on proposed centennial-year projects was issued by Capt. G. C. D'Arcy Thursday.

Capt. D'Arcy, supporter of the restoration of old Fort Rodd Hill, said Greater Victoria Centennial Committee gave only hasty hearing to the scheme and did not consider a written submission sent in later.

If supporters of a youth centre, hospital wing, auditorium or Gorge development would test their arguments before the public "we'll see which projects hold water," he stated.

. . . CENTENNIAL

The meeting was attended by the mayor, Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich, Reeve F. E. Norris of Oak Bay, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt, and members of the legislature, Ald. J. Donald Smith and George Gregory, and provincial Centennial chairman L. J. Wallace. Other invited elected representatives Public Works Minister W. N. Chant and Oak Bay MLA P. A. Gibbs were unable to attend.

COMMON GROUND

The mayor told the meeting he hoped the members could find "some common ground . . . it's a pity if we all go our separate ways."

Each municipality will receive a 60-cent-per-capita grant from the province for a lasting Centennial memorial project. It is proposed the grant and matching municipal contributions, totalling about $150,000 be spent on a mutual project. So far there has been no agreement on what it should be.

RAY OF HOPE

Reeve Ash said his council was adamant in supporting a new Jubilee wing.

"But there may be a ray of hope. Several people have said the government may not approve a hospital wing. If we could get some indication of that we may find common ground."

Mr. Wallace said the provincial committee would not discuss any project until there is an application.

"It would be very unfortunate if Greater Victoria couldn't get together. Victoria will be a focal point for the province in 1958. I don't think we could put up four projects as well as we could one," he added.

"It is not likely the government would refuse a centennial wing if your councils approve of it," he said.

Reeve Norris said Oak Bay felt if there was any project vitally needed which would fall in the Centennial memorial category, that would be first choice. The Jubilee wing did.

"However, we don't seem to have completed unanimity. We would be willing to consider other projects," but only to the extent of the grant and matching funds.

He said his municipality would not consider another project which would require raising additional funds.

Reeve Wurtele favored further discussion by each council but he added:

"I would like to see the Jubilee wing chosen. I favor it and it is favored by my council, but we should examine the merits of other proposals."

Mr. Gregory said it was ". . . scarcely less important that a suitable centennial project be chosen than that the area should unite in one project. I would rather see a second class project supported by all.

"I am not sure Jubilee wing is the best project, but if it is the only one the outside municipalities will favor, then I say let's put a wing on the hospital."

DRAW FROM HAT

Ald. Smith suggested the main projects be put in a hat and the choice made by a draw. Reeve Wurtele said that was a "crazy" suggestion.

Mayor Scurrah said: "There seems to be a lot of support for an auditorium."

He circulated copies of a letter from civic affairs group, Chamber of Commerce, listing names of 11 service clubs which supported that idea.

Mr. Gregory made a hasty phone call, then threw doubts on the chamber letter by pointing out his club, Gyros, was listed.

"Our club did not support the resolution and the secretary was not even present at the meeting. We took the position we could only pledge moral support. This resolution offers full support."

Reeve Ash supported a meeting of all councils, but the other members shied from the proposal.

Ald. Smith pointed out the Victoria contribution to the joint centennial fund represents only 47 per cent.

"The majority of the money is now in favor of the Jubilee wing. We in Victoria are the people holding up the project. If that's the wish of the majority, we should submit and get on with the job."

"It's either Jubilee wing or we go it alone," he summed up.

Mr. Gregory added: "This is almost an unique morning, for I find myself in agreement with Don Smith.

"Is it agreed we go back to city council?" asked the mayor.

"They are the ones who are holding it up," said Ald. Smith.

The meeting also considered the Rodd Hill restoration, development of Craigdarroch Castle and establishment of more cottage style homes for elderly couples, but could reach no agreement.

Reeve Wurtele pointed out the four municipalities have already promised or indicated they would give $397,000 to the hospital.

The hospital requires $450,000 from the area. The Centennial gift, if made, would oversubscribe the fund.

But Saanich and Oak Bay representatives indicated they would reduce their donations by the amount of the Centennial grant.

EFFIGY OF DAVE BECK, international president of Teamsters' Union, was found outside public auditorium in Portland Thursday night. (AP Wirephoto.)

Teamsters Hit 'Misuse' of Funds

PORTLAND (AP) — Some 1,500 members of Teamsters' Union, Local 162, met at the Civic Auditorium here Thursday night, and members said they unanimously approved a resolution censuring national and western conference officials for "misuse and misappropriation of our funds."

Members said after the meeting that a seven-man committee was appointed to recommend changes in the teamsters' constitution. They said it was voted unanimously not to support with union funds any teamster official under fire for misuse of union funds.

Meanwhile, at Washington, the Teamsters' Union today officially opened its much-publicized $200,000 public relations program to promote the union and fight anti-labor legislation.

The publicity funds were approved after president Dave Beck and other union officials were called before the senate rackets committee to answer questions on union finances and alleged links with the underworld.

Beck originally had announced a $1,000,000 program to tell the teamsters' side of the story" on senate labor rackets committee charges that he had siphoned off more than $300,000 in union funds for personal use.

. . . NORMAN

ernment had no doubt of his integrity and loyalty.

Mr. Pearson said it has always been a principle of the government that it would not deal publicly with allegations such as had been made by the U.S. sub-committee. Such interference in private lives could do more harm than good.

But because of the wide variety of implications and deductions in this case—Mr. Norman committed suicide in Cairo last week—he would depart from this practice as a rare exception.

Mr. Pearson said there was never any doubt of the loyalty and integrity of Mr. Norman. His loyalty over the years had given the government no cause to regret the decision it made.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker asked whether the evidence put before the U.S. Senate sub-committee "was untrue, unjustified and had no basis in fact."

Mr. Pearson said he had made his statement on the case. He had told the House what he knew.

"I think I will stand on that statement," he said.

Mr. Pearson said he would not say whether every single statement made by the sub-committee was correct.

To the government's knowledge, Mr. Norman had "certain Communist associations" in his youth and the government was not going to allow that to "drive him out of the public service" after long years of loyal service.

Mr. Diefenbaker replied that Mr. Pearson's statement was "equivocal." The minister had read the full record of statements issued by the sub-committee.

Later Mr. Pearson, replying to further questions by Mr. Diefenbaker, said that to the best of his knowledge the U.S. Senate sub-committee had not got any of its information on Mr. Norman from security information sent to Washington by Canada.

7 Ships Trapped By Ice

Lake Superior Traffic Banned

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Lake Superior was closed to shipping today because of a tremendous ice field which locked Whitefish Bay just west of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Seven Great Lakes vessels are trapped in the ice.

Capt. E. S. Kerr Jr., commander of the U.S. Coast Guard ice breaker Mackinaw, ordered the traffic ban.

The Whitefish Bay ice jam was described as 45 miles long and 30 to 60 miles wide with ice windows of 14 to 25 feet high, piled up by strong northwest winds.

Kerr said two of nine ore carriers stuck in the ice were freed before the close order came. They were the Snyder Junior and the Thunder Bay.

Kerr ordered ships en route from Duluth and Superior, Wis., and other lakehead ports to anchor at the western edge of the ice field. The order prohibits any individual attempts to work through the ice eastward.

Eden is under treatment in Boston for a bile duct ailment.

The Sketch says the money collection is planned by members of the Conservative, Liberal and Labor parties.

DEATH WAS NEAR

Driver Rams Tombstone, Escapes Injury

His car missed a curve, plunged through a hedge and was heavily damaged when it smashed into a tree and a tombstone at Ross Bay Cemetery Thursday at about 3.30 p.m., but driver Edward H. King, 69, 637 Transit, was unhurt.

He told police he blacked out as he approached the end of May Street where it intersects at right angles with Memorial. The car, out of control, went its own way from there.

Police took King to Jubilee Hospital where he was examined and discharged.

He said it was his first accident in nearly half a century of driving.

Court Reserves Judgment in 'Iron Boot' Case

The B.C. Appeal Court reserved judgment Thursday in an appeal lodged by John Osborne Dow, 26, who is now serving 18 months' hard labor in Oakalla Prison for attempted house-breaking.

Dow was hit on the head with a weight-lifter's iron boot while alledgedly attempting to break into a basement suite in Saanich.

Brian Johnson, 3055 Millgrove, said he threw the boot when a strange face appeared at his window around midnight, Oct. 23.

It crashed through the window and struck Dow on the head. Dow was identified by police because of his head injuries, but he claims these were caused by falling in his bath tub.

Many 'Cures' Fail to End Girl's Hiccups

VANCOUVER (CP) — Scores of sympathizers have telephoned their favorite remedies to Joyce Brown, but she still has the hiccups.

Miss Brown, 16-year-old Vancouver High School student, has been hiccuping on and off for three years. Attacks sometimes last more than a week.

Doctors and chiropractors have been unsuccessful in finding a cure. But that didn't stop the Vancouver public from trying.

Many of the cures involved various ways of drinking water. Some samples:

Boil chicken gizzards in water and drink the mixture like tea.

Drink water through a linen handkerchief.

Drink water standing on your head.

Plug your ears and let someone feed you cold water.

One caller suggested sniffing pepper, then sneezing.

A woman visited Joyce to prescribe drinking carbolic acid mixed with glycerine in distilled water.

Joyce's father said doctors still hope to find a cure but in the meantime the suggestions are not going unheeded.

"We've already tried a lot of them and we'll try some of the others," he said.

Rocket Flies 126 Miles High

WHITE SANDS, N.M. (AP) —A rocket carried signal-sending instruments 126 miles into the sky Thursday in a preliminary test for the earth satellite project. John W. Townsend, Jr., chief scientist at the U.S. naval research laboratory, said he was extremely pleased with the behavior of what was termed a "satellite package." The instruments started sending back signals to ground observers 20 seconds after the rocket started its nine-minute flight.

Recent studies of Canadian Indians sponsored by the Canadian Cancer Society show that Indians have less skin cancer than do whites. One explanation of this may be that the pigment in the skin is a protection against the sun's rays. Past studies with American Negroes show that they, too, have much less skin cancer than do whites.

Overdraft Plight Harasses Hospital

'Two Years Behind' Financing By Government Hit at Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Board chairman R. H. Inkster of the Nanaimo General Hospital says the hospital is operating in a continual "state of overdraft" because of the present financing system.

Mr. Inkster told the board's inaugural meeting that hospitals are being financed by the government two years behind the year when expenses are incurred.

Also, financial years of the hospitals and the B.C. government did not coincide.

NO GUARANTEE

"If a hospital incurs any additional salary expenses during the first six months of the year, there is no guarantee that these salaries will be met when the approved budget is notified to the hospital."

A deficit incurred in 1956 would not be audited by government auditors until 1957, he said. Any deficit approved would not be included until the health department's 1958 budget.

Mr. Inkster said there is no guarantee that any increase awarded during present negotians with nurses and operating engineers will be met by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

He proposed a province-wide salary negotiating committee be set up to handle a standard contract.

'Wild Night' Preceded Slaying

CAMPBELL RIVER—A wild night at a St. Patrick's eve dance on Quadra Island, a few minutes by speedboat from this village, preceeded the slaying of William Wallace, 21, witnesses testified at a preliminary hearing Thursday.

Vernon Ernest Breckton, 34, of Vancouver is charged with murdering Wallace, a Cape Mudge Indian.

Dr. J. Depew testified that Wallace died instantly of internal bleeding caused by two deep knife wounds in the back.

Dr. Ross McNeely, a pathologist at Victoria's Royal Jubilee Hospital, said samples of blood from Wallace were of the same blood group as stains found on earth at Quathiaski Cove, on Quadra Island.

LICKED ONE

Benjamin Billie, one of the Cape Mudge band, said Wallace was with a group of Indians who got into a fight with two white men.

"We licked one guy and one got away," said Billie.

Max Loch, about 45, of Vancouver, said he went to Quadra Island with a white companion named Frenchie. When he was walking away from the dance hall, he was set upon by assailants and later had to have six stitches in his head.

Evidence of fights in the dance hall or outside it was given by Robert G. Grafton, of Heriot Bay, Quadra Island; Edward Cecil Mitchell, and Thomas Roland Grafton, loggers. Grafton said he saw Breckon with a man who had been beaten up.

Several young Indians testified that there were fights.

Ships Fight Free From Ice

HALIFAX (CP) — Adverse shipping conditions off the Cape Breton coast eased somewhat on Thursday as four sealing vessels drifted slowly toward open water after being trapped in ice for two weeks. ADDITION OPENED OFFICIALLY

N. Saanich Pupils Get Half-Day Off

North Saanich High School, enlarged by a new gymnasium-auditorium, library, offices and four classrooms costing a total of $220,000, was officially opened Thursday night by Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

Mr. Peterson told the assembled students and parents that North Saanich school population has increased 112 per cent in the past 10 years.

700 NEW ROOMS

Over the whole of the province, 700 new classrooms are needed to accommodate an increase in the school population of 21,000 children.

The aim of education today, Mr. Peterson said, "is not merely to teach children to read, write and calculate, but to develop the child in all his aspects to enable him to be a person of good character.

"If we cannot teach our children to learn to live together and co-operate with their fellow men in this shrunken world, then there is not much point in educating them at all."

The minister made a hero of himself by granting the students a half-day off today.

Escapee, 16, Gets 14 Months For Car Theft

NANAIMO—Sixteen-year-old Gerald Joseph Roy, a Brannan Lake Industrial School inmate, was sentenced to 14 months in the young offenders' unit at Oakalla prison Thursday on two charges of auto theft and one of breaking and entering.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts warned the youth in open court that "if you keep going as you are, you are likely to end up in the B.C. penitentiary."

STOLE CAR

Police said Roy "eloped" from the institution Dec. 2 with two other boys. They stole a car, and were picked up in Courtenay.

The youth was charged and returned to the school. Three months later he again left and stole another car. At this time he broke into a South Wellington cafe. He was picked up on the mainland.

The accused pleaded guilty to all charges.
